HERSHEY TRAILS AS DOWNSTATE GOES FOR G. O. P.

Other Illinois Offices Still Undecided.

BULLETIN.

Projection of the latest Illinois figures indicated that Wayland Brooks was elected United States senator by a plurality of 51,000.

Returns from 3,908 out of 4,389 precincts in Cook county showed that Dwight H. Green had taken the actual lead in Cook county from Harry B. Hershey. The score at that point: Green, 929,889; Hershey, 924,705.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—Harry B. Hershey today conceded victory in the governorship contest to Dwight H. Green and sent him a telegram congratulating him. The Democratic candidate said in a statement he prepared for a broadcast early this morning:

"I pledge my fullest co-operation for the continuing welfare of Illinois. I want to see every voter — Democratic, Republican and Independent—give him (Green) every assistance and co-operation for the state and national unity which is vital to our progress."

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dwight H. Green, Republican, was elected governor of Illinois yesterday by a plurality estimated as between 280,000 and 300,000. He defeated Harry B. Hershey, Democrat.

Wayland Brooks, altho the figures were not so decisive, apparently wrested the United States senatorship from James M. Slattery, the Democratic incumbent by appointment, by approximately 60,000.

On the face of returns still lacking from strong Republican territory, President Roosevelt won the state from Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee, by about 60,000.

Green Victory Outstanding.

The victory of Green, former United States district attorney at Chicago, was the outstanding feature of the hottest political contest Illinois has seen in many years. He carried downstate by an estimated 265,000, won the Chicago suburbs within Cook county by about 75,000 and lost to Hershey only on the home grounds

Governor Elect Thanks Voters for Their Trust

BY PERCY WOOD.

Governor Elect Dwight H. Green gravely thanked the voters of Illinois early today for their trust in him and pledged them to conduct the affairs of the state honestly, economically and conscientiously.

Finally convinced at 2 a. m. that his lead over his Democratic opponent, Harry B. Hershey, could not be matched, Green issued his victory statement in his La Salle hotel headquarters. He was surrounded by a group of friends and advisers who had sat scanning the returns with him since 7 p. m. last night.

Mayor Issues Statement.

By coincidence, Green's statement was made just as another from Mayor Edward J. Kelly, was released. The mayor, who with the late Gov. Henry Horner, selected Hershey to succeed Horner, conceded Hershey's defeat by 150,000 votes.

Altho the governor elect did not feel the returns conclusive enough to warrant a victory statement prior to 2 a. m., his fellow Republicans had been celebrating for hours around headquarters, deliriously happy over the prospect of a Republican governor occupying the executive mansion for the first time in eight years.

Green Issues Statement.

Green's complete statement follows:

"The returns at this hour indicate that I have been elected governor of Illinois. I could not if I would, seek to conceal my feeling of personal pride and gratification over this high honor. But let me say that transcending my sense of personal pleasure, is a deep, grave realization of the tremendous responsibility which I owe to all the citizens of Illinois, and which, God helping me, as chief executive of our great state, I will strive faithfully to fulfill.

"In this campaign I have discussed the issues which I believe were of deep concern to all our people. I have done so calmly and seriously and without personalities. I feel that you who voted for me today are loyal Republicans, Jeffersonian and constitutional Democrats, and Independents, but above all you are Americans who believe, as I believe, that the redemption of Illinois can be achieved only by facing facts as they are, and rigidly adhering to a program of economy in government, honesty in government, conscientious service to the people of Illinois.

Pledges Rights to All.

"I have pledged that I will be governor of all our people, regardless of race, color or creed, or political faith, and this pledge I consider my sacred obligation. With your aid, I will devote all my energies, and the influence and power of my office, to the single task of giving to Illinois the most efficient, honest and progressive administration in my power."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney won his fight for reëlection against Judge Oscar F. Nelson, his Republican opponent, by a sweeping majority in yesterday's election.

Returns from 3,000 of the 4,389 precincts in Cook county gave Courtney an actual lead of 318,333.

The rest of the Democratic county ticket followed Courtney to victory on the basis of incomplete returns.

Sweeps Ahead of Nelson.

In 2,750 Chicago precincts the vote was: Courtney, 788,846; Nelson, 484,811. In 250 country town precincts out of 741, the vote stood Courtney, 63,425, Nelson, 49,127. The total for Courtney was: 852,271, and Nelson, 533,938. Courtney had 62 per cent of the Chicago vote reported, and 56 per cent in the towns.

On the basis of this ratio, Courtney's indicated plurality was about 400,000. Eight years ago he won by 312,587; four years ago by 659,867.

In Chicago, Courtney in the incomplete ward tables swept all three sides of the city. He ran ahead in 45 of the 50 wards, Nelson in the other five.

Courtney, if this rate is maintained, has a projected vote in Cook county of 1,246,800.

Teammates Also in Lead.

In the returns from 1,060 precincts, Democratic candidates for other county offices ran closely together.

In 820 city precincts, the vote for recorder of deeds gave Edward J. Kaindl 216,512 votes against 121,472 for A. W. Komarek, Republican. Kaindl had an actual plurality here of 95,040. In the country towns, 240 precincts gave Kaindl, 39,932; Komarek, 51,193. The totals of these gave Kaindl a plurality of 83,779.

In the same precincts, Frank Lyman, for Probate court clerk, had a plurality of 83,669. John E. Conroy, for Circuit court clerk, had a 80,083 plurality. Victor Schlaeger, for Superior court clerk, had a higher plurality of 91,359. A. L. Brodie, for coroner, was lowest of the Democrats in these precincts with a plurality of 77,178.

Vote Passes All Records.

The vote surpassed all former records in the city. Based on a projection of 2,800 precincts it is estimated a total of 1,747,000 votes were cast. The previous high was in 1936 with 1,706,634 ballots.

Registration in Chicago this year is 1,324,355; country towns, 360,811. In all of Cook county it is 2,185,166.

Samplings in typical precincts of the size of the vote cast were taken from time to time by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the election machinery. At 7:30 a. m. it was estimated that 514,368 votes had been cast in Chicago in the first hour and a half after the polls opened. At 10 a. m. another set of precinct reports led to estimates that 853,632 ballots had then been cast. At noon, based on a report from one precinct in each ward, Judge Jarecki estimated that 1,141,824 votes had been cast in the city.

At 2 p. m., three hours before clos-

Willkie Won't Admit Defeat; Speaks Today

New York, Nov. 6, Wednesday.—Refusing to concede defeat, Wendell L. Willkie retired at 1:30 this morning with a promise to make a statement later in the day.

At 12:30 o'clock he had appeared before 5,000 of his fellow workers in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Commodore where he maintained headquarters, and urged them, "Don't be afraid and never quit."

"I want to tell you that I never felt better in my life," he said, as the crowd cheered him and chanted the old campaign cry of "We Want Willkie."

He Won't Give Up.

"You have taken a part in the greatest crusade of the century. Principles for which we have fought will prevail, just as the truth will always prevail. I hope that none of you will be disheartened or afraid. I am not, in the slightest. I want to thank you fellow fighters. I hear some people saying to me, 'don't give up.' I guess those people don't know me."

The crowd of campaign workers cheered him with all the old enthusiasm and Willkie smiled and waved his arms in the familiar manner of the campaign.

McNary Concedes Defeat.

In Salem, Ore., early today Republican Vice Presidential Nominee McNary conceded defeat, saying:

"I am congratulating Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace and wishing their administration prosperity. We are a united country. The two party system is secure. We shall try to afford Mr. Roosevelt and his associates a worthy and vigilant opposition."

Two hours earlier Willkie, from his sanctum on a high floor of the hotel, had said that he did not think the complete results would be known until the next day.

He was in conference for some time with Thomas E. Dewey. Mrs. Willkie and his brother, Ed, and son, Philip, were in the room.

In adjoining rooms statisticians were busy in rows taking the returns and projecting the totals for the candidate's benefit. There was much gloom apparent among his supporters and close associates.

Willkie looked worried, particularly when most of the larger newspapers which have been supporting him in the middle west conceded the election to Roosevelt. But he was not in a mood to give up and his manner was that of one still carrying on the campaign.

NEWS OF ELECTION IS TRANSMITTED IN EAST BY TELEVISION

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Election bulletins were broadcast by television tonight. It was the first time election returns had been televised. As the bulletins appeared on a news printer they were picked up by a national broadcasting company television camera and flashed to homes, taverns, hotels, and party headquarters in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

A Dead Man's Ballot Is Counted in Minnesota

Fairmont, Minn., Nov. 5 (AP).—A dead man's vote was counted by election officials in this county tonight. Hobart George Reynolds, 43 years old, Manyaska farm hand, voted on an absent voter's ballot before submitting to an operation in a hospital here. He died this forenoon.

300 VILLAGERS SERENADE HOME OF ROOSEVELT

Bugles, Drums Bring President to Door.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 6.—His face wreathed in smiles upon his election as the first man in the nation's history to be named for a third term, President Roosevelt tonight told an audience of neighbors that they and the nation will find him the same Franklin Roosevelt of old.

"Of course," he said, "we face difficult days. But I think they will find me the same Franklin Roosevelt you have known for many years."

The observation was made to a torchlight parade of fellow citizens from his boyhood home of Hyde Park. Serenaded with bugles and drums as he stepped onto the front porch of his mother's home, Mr. Roosevelt told the villagers that the celebration was a bit premature because all the returns were not in.

"It looks all right," a voice shouted out of the crowd.

Family At His Side.

The President beamed. At his side were two of his four sons, Franklin Jr., and John, and their wives. Also at his side were his 86-year old mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, and his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The red torchlight procession was held up for 40 minutes as Mr. Roosevelt awaited an admission of defeat from his Republican rival, Wendell Willkie. When this failed to materialize, he stepped forward to meet the insistent cries of his neighbors.

Flanking the family were members of the White House staff, who threw aside their worried frowns and exulted on the basis of early returns. To one and all they proclaimed they never had entertained a doubt of victory.

Banners Proclaim Victory.

Banners danced in the throng in front of the President. Two of these bore the legends: "Keep the fireside chats burning" and "Safe on third."

The President was introduced by Elmer Van Wagner, town supervisor of Hyde Park, who shouted:

"Lincoln, Jefferson, and Jackson wouldn't do it. If you don't believe me, ask John L. Lewis and Wendell Willkie."

Mr. Roosevelt replied: "This is a perfectly tremendous surprise. I learned about this party from the news ticker. Well, you could have knocked me down with a feather."

"O, yeah?" a voice joshed from the throng of almost 2,000 neighbors.

Corrects an Error in Ticker.

Mr. Roosevelt said the news ticker referred to the front porch greeting as a regular custom since he first ran for governor. This, he added, was an error. He remembered, he declared—altho his family insisted he did not—the delegation that called at the house upon the election of Grover Cleveland to the Presidency in 1884, altho he was but 1½ years old at the time.

As the neighbors laughed, Mr. Roosevelt said that he hoped that

New York, Nov. 6, Wednesday.—President Roosevelt captured the 47 electoral votes of his native state, New York, yesterday for the third time, but the balloting showed a substantial slump in his popularity as contrasted with the 1936 election.

Early today returns from all parts of the state indicated the President would wind up with a plurality of 200,000 over Republican Nominee Wendell L. Willkie. He carried New York City, 1,978,720 votes to Willkie's 1,251,466. Willkie's upstate lead was around 500,000.

With only 31 election districts missing, Roosevelt had 3,252,992 votes to Willkie's 3,019,342.

Total Shows Big Drop.

In 1936 the President enjoyed a plurality of 1,112,000 in New York state over Alfred M. Landon. Mr. Roosevelt carried New York City by 1,400,000 votes that year.

Representative Bruce Barton, Republican candidate for the senate, conceded his defeat at 1:15 a. m. today by the incumbent, Senator James M. Mead.

Mead had 2,357,035 and Barton 1,971,303 in 6,767 of 9,319 districts in the state.

Early returns gave Willkie a lead in each of the five assembly districts in the borough of Queens and indicated he was cutting substantially into the normal Democratic lead in several Brooklyn and Manhattan districts. On the other hand, Boss Ed Flynn's borough of the Bronx was returning a handsome Roosevelt plurality.

Inroads made by Republicans in New York City enabled William T. Pheiffer to unseat Representative James H. Fay, New Dealer, who was the victor in President Roosevelt's "purge" of former Congressman John J. O'Connor.

Tammany Leader Christopher Sullivan carried his own election district on the lower east side for the President by only 76 votes.

G. O. P. Holds Legislature.

In the district in which he voted himself, Willkie received 620 votes to 197 for the President. He also carried the polling place in which Gov. Herbert H. Lehman voted.

Because of the large G. O. P. turnout all indications pointed to continued Republican control of both houses of the state legislature.

The shaving of the President's lead in half here in New York City, as compared with the 1936 figures, was the biggest surprise.

The New York state vote, which was estimated to have run about the 6 million figure, showed the great interest in the election.

Pennsylvanian Shot in Leg in Argument Over Election

Indiana, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP).—An argument over the merits of Presidential candidates in today's election ended last night in the shooting of Pete Muzininsky, 25 years old, in the southwestern Pennsylvania community of Dilltown.

SWEEP TOTALS 433 ELECTORAL VOTES OR MORE

Popular Majority Is Near 7 Million.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

President Roosevelt was swept into a third term by a landslide in the national election yesterday.

He defeated his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie, by a majority of the electoral vote of at least 335 on the basis of the incomplete returns this morning. An even larger majority for the President may be disclosed by the complete figures.

Electoral College Standing.

The incomplete returns this morning indicate the following vote in the electoral college:

For Roosevelt	433
For Willkie	98
Total	531

With nearly half the country's voting units reported in the latest returns it was estimated that Mr. Roosevelt had polled a popular vote exceeding 29 million, Mr. Willkie more than 22 million. The total popular vote appeared to have been in the neighborhood of 52 million.

Democratic National Chairman Ed Flynn after scanning the early returns from the big pivotal states declared the battle over, and the President safely reëlected. Mr. Roosevelt checking the figures at his Hyde Park home pronounced Mr. Flynn's estimate correct.

Willkie Still Hopeful.

Mr. Willkie refused to concede defeat. He said it looked like a horse race to him and that the result would not be known until some time today. He then went to bed.

The first premonition of defeat for Willkie came from Ohio. Mr. Willkie started out with a large lead in the first Ohio returns but it soon melted away. The latest figures for 7,602 precincts out of 8,675 give Roosevelt 1,465,113, Willkie 1,369,751.

It was not long after the New York polls closed at 9 p. m. that Willkie received another and a staggering jolt. New York's 47 electoral votes were essential to a victory by Willkie. Without them he was sunk. In the New York returns, however, Willkie was outdistanced from the moment the first precincts reported. The Roosevelt plurality in New York City was greater than expected, while the Republican upstate region failed to deliver an offsetting plurality for Willkie.

Roosevelt N. Y. Lead Grows.

With less than 500 precincts unreported in New York Roosevelt had a lead of 265,000. His vote in 8,835 out of 9,319 precincts was 3,082,073 to Willkie's 2,817,025.

Hardly less staggering for Willkie was the loss of Pennsylvania, without which he could not have been elected. By the time 6,324 precincts out of 8,118 had reported their returns Roosevelt had a lead of 232,000. The Roosevelt vote was 1,713,957, the Willkie vote 1,481,845.

Connecticut went into the Roosevelt column early in the evening and stayed there. At the latest count in 149 out of 169 towns Roosevelt had 410,051, Willkie 350,271.

Bay State for Roosevelt.

With the loss of New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio the doom of the Willkie candidacy was sealed. Then his defeat became a rout. Massachusetts went to Roosevelt with a whoop. With half the state's precincts reported the President had a lead of 67,000 over Willkie, the Roosevelt vote being 504,137, the Willkie vote 431,691.

The only bright spot in the east for the G. O. P. nominee was New Jersey where Willkie maintained a lead thru the count of one third of the state's precincts. He had 406,886 votes to Roosevelt's 321,957. But these figures included only a trickle of returns from Boss Frank Hague's Hudson county which was reputed to be good for a 150,000 Roosevelt plurality.

The Roosevelt landslide tore into the middle west with devastating effect. Illinois after lingering in the doubtful category in the early returns appeared to be safely in the Roosevelt column by the time half the precincts had been reported. The President then had a lead of 150,000, his vote being 1,009,930 to Willkie's 857,751. It was estimated that the final figures would give Illinois to Roosevelt by about 70,000.

In the Indiana returns Willkie and Roosevelt ran a horse race thruout the night. First Willkie was ahead, then Roosevelt for several hours and finally early this morning Willkie nosed his rival out when 2,423 of the state's 3,898 precincts had been reported. The Willkie vote then stood 619,089, the Roosevelt vote 617,474.

Wisconsin after giving Willkie a whopping margin in the first returns veered around to Roosevelt by the time half the precincts were in. Roosevelt had 363,509 to Willkie's 323,202.

Iowa and Michigan for Willkie.

Iowa and Michigan were still holding fast with Willkie this morning. In Iowa with about half the precincts reported Willkie had a lead of 11,000 with a vote of 299,083 to Roosevelt's 288,083.

In Michigan on the basis of figures from slightly less than one-third the precincts Willkie led Roosevelt by 84,000. The Willkie vote was 313,588, the Roosevelt vote 229,999.

Minnesota on the basis of one-fourth the precincts reported appeared to be headed for the Roosevelt column. The Roosevelt lead was 42,000. The President had rolled up a vote of 258,715 to Willkie's 216,433.

Outpouring of Votes.

The outpouring of a record breaking flood of votes and the congestion of polling places testified to the depth to which the electorate had been stirred by the issues in this election arising from the war, the third term and our domestic economy. Not since the Hoover-Al Smith contest in 1928 in which the religious issue was an important factor had there been anything like it.

The balloting brought to a close one of the most extraordinary struggles for the Presidency in our history. Long before the candidates were nominated events at home and abroad were shaping a battle of novel aspect in our political history.

War Overshadowed Scene.

From the start the war overshadowed the political scene. Mr. Roosevelt denounced and threatened the dictators, aligned the United States with the allies and fomented popular fear of invasion of America by the totalitarians if Great Britain and France should be defeated. Not only by Republicans, but by Democrats he was accused of exploiting the war for the purpose of getting himself renominated for a third term as the nation's indispensable leader.

The fall of France removed what the President had exploited as our first line of defense against Hitler and Mr. Roosevelt improved the opportunity to fan the apprehensions of attack he already had inspired and to suggest the folly of intrusting the government in a crisis to inexperienced hands. From that moment opposition in his party flattened out and his renomination, in contravention of the 150 year old antithird term tradition, became a certainty.

Force of Popular Demand.

Hardly less extraordinary was the course of events in the Republican party leading up to the nomination of Mr. Willkie, a former Democrat, who two months before the Republican convention was almost unknown to the country and who went to Philadelphia as a candidate who had neither delegates nor organization. A popular demand for him swept the country and the convention and Mr. Willkie emerged as the Republican challenger of Mr. Roosevelt whose renomination was universally regarded as a foregone conclusion.

There followed the extraordinary Democratic national convention in Chicago which the President disavowed any ambition to succeed himself while expertly pulling the wires to get the third term nomination. At the close of a convention, which he had completely dominated and caused against its will to nominate Henry Wallace for his running mate, the President accepted the renomination because his conscience, he said, would not allow him to desert his post in time of national peril.

Passive Campaign at First.

Mr. Roosevelt set out to conduct a passive canvass for reëlection. He had said in his acceptance speech that only the people can draft a President. He would not bid for votes. He would devote himself to the job of rearming the country. He would inspect defense activities and such speeches as he made would be nonpolitical unless it should become necessary to answer misrepresentations of his record by the opposition.

But in no event would he go farther away from Washington than a 12 hours' train ride, that he might easily return to the capital in the event of another crisis. On this basis the people were to judge whether they wanted to draft him for another term.

The Willkie nomination in defiance of the old school Republican leaders and of the canons of practical politics, the attractive Willkie personality and the Willkie philosophy of prosperity thru expanding private enterprise caught the imagination of the country. Willkie stock went high right after the Republican convention and even higher after the Democratic convention when the antithird term Democrats were deserting the President and trooping to the standard of the Republican candidate.

Willkie retired to Colorado to rest, to confer with Republican leaders and to compose his acceptance speech set for delivery at his birthplace, Elwood, Ind., in August. With this acceptance speech the Willkie campaign got off to a bad start. The speech was a splendid exposition of his political philosophy and of his election pledges and a terrific indictment of the New Deal. It was delivered to a colossal mass meeting of Republicans drawn from all parts of the country.

But Mr. Willkie's delivery was poor, his words were heard by but a fraction of the vast crowd and his voice on the radio suffered by comparison with the dulcet tones of Mr. Roosevelt's .

Willkie stock now suffered a slump and it sank even lower when he started his campaign tour. He lost his voice temporarily. He made charges against the President he was compelled to retract. His speeches did not come up to the expectations of his admirers. It began to look as if Mr. Roosevelt would run away with the show.

Willkie Gets Into Stride.

By the last week of September, however, Willkie had got into his stride. He had mastered the technique of campaigning. He was going great guns, with set speeches and extemporaneous speeches tearing into the Roosevelt policies, foreign and domestic. His voice was worn ragged but he continued to hammer away, to bark his arraignment of the New Deal and the delineation of his own policies into the microphones before record breaking crowds from coast to coast.

Willkie stock now was rising again by leaps and bounds. Mr. Roosevelt's threatening attitude toward Japan aroused apprehensions that the President is edging the country into war. Willkie, tho advocating all aid possible to British short of war, asserted that Mr. Roosevelt would get us in, while he would keep us out, of war.

After the draft went into effect the middle of October the tide of pro-Willkie sentiment appeared to rise even higher. Many Democratic leaders thought it was because the draft was unpopular and was identified with the Roosevelt war policy.

Democratic Leaders Alarmed.

The Democratic leaders became greatly alarmed. They told the President that only he could save himself from defeat by taking the stump. Mr. Roosevelt promptly abandoned the pose of passively awaiting the draft. He set forth on a series of campaign tours, delivering frankly political speeches answering the Willkie charges and pledging that he would not get the country into war.

Thus at last, t o Mr. Roosevelt had declined Mr. Willkie's challenge to debate, the two rivals came to grips in a forensic wrestling match that ended only the night before election.

2 Women, Both Age 93, Cancel Each Other's Vote

Newark, N. J., Nov. 5 [Special]. —Two 93 year old women voted under difficulties in Newark today—but they might just as well have stayed at home. One picked Willkie, the other Roosevelt to cancel out any effect their ballots might have had on the final result. Mrs. Matilda Ramsley, the Willike supporter was carried to her polling place. A niece escorted Miss Mary Lynch, who voted the Democratic ticket, and brought along a chair for her to sit on while waiting her turn.

Socialist Norman Thomas Calls It 'Worst Campaign'

New York, Nov. 5 (AP). —Norman Thomas, Socialist Presidential candidate, cast his vote today with the observation that "this is the worst campaign in all my political memory and that goes for both old parties." America, he said, still has a "job ahead of her keeping out of war and also keeping fascism out of America."

A Bearded Man Makes Election Bet with Self

Mount Carmel, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP).—Eight years ago Jess Struble, who takes his politics seriously, vowed he would let his hair and beard grow as long as the Democrats remained in power. His raven locks and luxurious beard attract no little attention. Tonight he asserted that if the Republicans win Illinois but lose the nation he will be shorn on one side only.

G. O. P. IS HOLDING LEAD IN JERSEY; WATCHES HAGUE

Cromwell Concedes He is Defeated.

New York, Nov. 6, Wednesday [Special].—Wendell Willkie maintained a weakening lea dthis morning in New Jersey, battleground of one of the most heated campaign fights in the nation.

In 1,854 precincts of the state's 3,631 the count stood: Willkie, 522,634; Roosevelt, 475,674. For governor: 1,837 precincts. Robert C. Hendrickson [R.], 493,478; Charles Edison [D.], 473,026. For the senate: Senator W. Warren Barbour [R.], 555,475;; James H. R. Cromwell [D.], 388,199. Cromwell already had conceded defeated.

Hudson County Is Late.

These figures were piled up largely in sections where a strong Republican vote had been expected. The late returns from Hudson county, stronghold of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, were beginning to have an important bearing on the final tallies.

First county to complete returns was Bergen, a Republican stronghold, where the figures of 252 districts using voting machines were quickly tabulated.

In Essex county, where the Republican suburban communities had been counted on by the Republicans to overcome the Democratic vote in Newark, largest city in the state, 150 districts out of 576 gave the President a 41,597 to 40,350 lead. How many of the districts were in Newark was not reported.

Union County for G. O. P.

In Union county, another normal Republican section, 23 districts, not including the industrial city of Elizabeth, gave Willkie, 8,505; Roosevelt, 4,610.

Police, tabulating the vote in Jersey City, Hudson county, said Roosevelt was leading, 17,544 to 7,039, at one time, but there was no breakdown by districts.

Votes cast in Hudson county totaled 331,542, about 24,000 more than the previous record in 1936. Leaders of the Hague organization said this meant a big plurality in the county for President Roosevelt, who carried it by 168,280 in 1936 and by 117,739 in 1932.

Charges of fraud, illegality, and plots filled the voting hours.

The presence of investigators from the United States senate committee on campaign expenditures and 15 state troopers in uniform was credited with reducing disputes drastically.

Broken Hip Fails to Keep Willkie's Aunt from Polls

WILLKIE TAKES INDIANA LEAD IN CLOSE RACE

Comes from Behind in Late Returns.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—The contest for Indiana's 14 electoral votes tightened early today into a neck and neck affair, with Wendell Willkie, first native Hoosier to be nominated for the Presidency, nosing barely ahead.

Returns from 2,185 of the state's 3,898 precincts showed: For Willkie, 576,872; for President Roosevelt, 576,754.

This vote included nearly all of Marion county [Indianapolis], which gave Willkie a lead of about 2,000 votes. Industrial Lake county [Gary] gave Roosevelt almost a two-to-one advantage and accounted for much of the Democratic nominee's state-wide margin. The 10 precincts of Elwood, Willkie's home town, gave Willkie, 3,411; Roosevelt, 2,875.

In the gubernatorial race, Lieut. Gov. Henry F. Schricker was running ahead of his Republican opponent, Glenn Hillis. Senator Sherman Minton, New Dealer, led Raymond E. Willis in the senatorial contest.

Election Notes

County Clerk G. E. Wade of Oakland, Cal., was bothered by voters who complained that Al Smith's name was left off the Presidential ballot. The 1928 Democratic nominee had supported Willkie in the campaign.

The Blue and the Gray still were at odds. Gen. Julius F. Howell, 94 year old commander of the United Confederate Veterans, said he had voted a "straight Democratic ticket." Henry Lilly, 99 year old commander of the New York Grand Army of the Republic, said he had been Republican since the 1860's and didn't intend to change in the 1940's.

At Glens Falls, N. Y., William J. Scales cast his ballot, returned home and noted the event in his diary, then dropped dead.

Early voters in one Waterloo, Ia., precinct were confronted with a "Do Not Touch" sign hanging on the Republican county ticket lever on a voting machine. It was hung there the night before while the machine was being checked.

New York's famous Sing Sing prison radio station turned in election returns tonight as a "special privilege" to prisoners. Among inmates listening were former Tammany District Leader James J. Hines and Richard Whitney, former head of the New York Stock exchange.

A Negro voter at Louisville, Ky., appealing from a precinct officer's ruling that he couldn't cast a ballot, presented Circuit Judge Churchill Humphrey with his registration duplicate marked "moved and dead." The jurist lost no time in holding him "alive and moving" and entitled to vote.

Edward Devlin completed at Tuscaloosa, Ala., a marathon campaign speech for President Roosevelt—66 hours and 15 minutes.

DRIVE TO GET U.S. INTO FOREIGN WAR PICKS UP STEAM

New York Rally Tonight Starts Ball Rolling.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 5.—The drive to drag America into the war gained momentum on several fronts today with the end of the Presidential election campaign. Prowar groups, which have kept quiet during the political battle, suddenly sprang to life.

A big rally for "unity in the emergency" will be staged here tomorrow night under the sponsorship of the so-called Council for Democracy. The affair is backed by prominent pro-British figures. Observers of the propaganda trend declared these sponsors are attempting to force this country into a military adventure on the side of England, even to the extent of sending an expeditionary force overseas.

National Leaders Queried.

National leaders in various fields have been queried by telegram on their support for the "unity" movement. The message was signed by Raymond Gram Swing, the radio commentator and chairman of the council. It read:

"Will you please wire us collect 25 words or less on subject of American unity postelection to be read at America united rally Carnegie hall tomorrow night at which prominent leaders both political sides will urge all Americans get together under next President to build strong free nation."

It was announced that if President Roosevelt is reëlected the chief speaker will be Howard Conley, past president of the National Association of Manufacturers and a supporter of Wendell Willkie. If Mr. Willkie wins the chief speaker will be Dorothy Thompson, an interventionist coumnist and backer of Roosevelt.

Actor Massey to Take Part.

Newbold Morris, president of the city council, will act as master of ceremonies. Raymond Massey, Canadian born actor, will read a "unity" statement written by Stephen Vincent Benet and Irving Berlin will lead the audience in his song, "God Bless America." Among other speakers scheduled is Clarence A. Dystra, draft administrator.

It was also noted that the movement was spreading to the middle west, where at least one Roosevelt administration newspaper was editorializing on the unity for war theme.

Focal point of the drive continued to be the eastern seaboard and New York City in particular, however. The American Defenders of Freedom, Inc., another interventionist group, made public a "call for unity to Americans all," signed by 27 educators, editors, clergymen, and labor leaders.

White Lends Support.

This call, sent out by Carl Beck, paid director of the Defenders, urged the nation to remember that "bruises, disappointment, and bitterness" left over from the campaign "should not in good sense be allowed to remain to divide our strength."

William Allen White, national chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, warmly supported the idea of "unity mass meetings" in a message to the representatives of his organization's 717 local chapters in the 48 states. The White committee is the leading interventionist group in the country.

These meetings, according to White, should be utilized as a means of "healing partisan bitterness and for launching a nation-wide campaign to safeguard American democracy."

Belvidere, Ill., Nov. 5 [Special].—John N. Penwell, 96 years old, spurned offers of a ride today and walked 10 blocks from his home to the polling place and cast a straight Republican ticket. Penwell, who is the oldest resident of Boone county, cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln when Lincoln ran for his second term.

PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

300 NEIGHBORS SERENADE HOME OF ROOSEVELT

Bugles, Drums Bring President to Door.

Franklin D. Roosevelt III., sleeping in the room above the porch from which he spoke, might remember this night's torchlight parade.

After this audience left the Roosevelt home, other neighbors poured down the road and Mr. Roosevelt made another short speech.

"Grateful" for Outpouring.

"This is my second party tonight, and I am very grateful for it," he said. "There still is a crowd coming down the road. Things look perfectly fine.

"I have been on the telephone speaking to people all over the United States. I haven't heard finally from Oregon, California, and the state of Washington, but they seem to be coming thru in very great shape. And may I say I am awfully proud of this district of ours—of what Hardy Steeholm has done, because he almost performed a miracle in the way he has cut down the vote of our present congressman. [Hamilton Fish, Republican.] It is a very great moral victory for our district.

"I have to speak to a great many people on the telephone and I hope you will excuse me. Mrs. Roosevelt and my mother are very happy. God bless you."

After keeping an eye on election returns until they showed him leading in 40 states with 447 electoral votes President Roosevelt went to bed at 1:35 a. m. Chicago time.

ELEVATOR OPERATOR HANGED.

Charles Lanzuk, 50 years old, 5114 South Sawyer avenue, an elevator operator, was found hanged yesterday in an unused room of the building at 2611 Indiana avenue, where he was employed.

'PITCH IN AND HELP UNITE NATION IN CRISIS,' SAYS FARLEY

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley said early today in a nationwide radio broadcast that "now, perhaps more than ever before in history, the United States has need for national unity."

He expressed hope that the "victors will be moderate and considerate" and that the "losers will overcome their disappointment and pitch in like the loyal citizens that they are.

"The voice of America has spoken, the people of America have once again expressed their will. As patriotic citizens, I urge every single individual in the land to accept the majority.

"During the few months remaining in his present term President Roosevelt will face problems of magnitude. We have a common stake in America, and we must present a solid front before all the nations in the world."

Opposes Women's Suffrage but Votes Against 3d Term

Freeport, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Mrs. Sarah Louise Beebe, 96, cast her first vote today. She voted for Wendell Willkie for President. "I have never approved of women's suffrage," Mrs. Beebe said, "and I have never seen any reason for me to vote, but I do believe that no man should be permitted to serve three terms as President."

President Carries Home District by 117 Votes

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt carried his home district in Hyde Park in today's balloting, 426 to 309, but trailed Wendell Willkie in the other three districts composing the town. The vote for the complete township gave the President 1,363, Willkie 1,422.

GREEN ELECTED BY DOWNSTATE G.O.P. UPSURGE

Overcomes Slight Chicago Lead for Hershey.

of the Kelly-Nash machine and there Hershey ran ahead by little more than 50,000.

Green's actual lead downstate was 168,474 when 2,737 of the 3,990 precincts in that area had been heard from. In the Chicago suburbs 246 out of 741 precincts gave him a margin of 24,084. The Chicago vote from 3,250 out of 3,648 precincts was: Hershey, 798,555; Green, 751,889.

Brooks ran behind in the early returns because of Slattery's race in his home town, Chicago, but he ran almost as well as Green in the downstate area which it is believed he carried by approximately 265,000. Like Green he also won the Cook county towns but by a smaller figure, his margin there being about 35,000. Slattery carried Chicago by an estimated 225,000.

Rreturns from 3,400 out of 3,468 Chicago precincts gave: Roosevelt, 956,883; Willkie, 677,763. Out of 741 country town precincts, 508 gave: Roosevelt, 102,290; Willkie, 124,330. Out of 3,900 downstate precincts, 2,345 gave: Roosevelt, 498,138; Willkie, 621,106. On this basis the President won Chicago by about 300,000, but lost the country towns by at least 25,000 and was beaten downstate by more than 200,000.

In 1936 President Roosevelt carried Illinois by 712,606. His lead in Chicago that year was 555,386. He lost the Chicago suburbs in Cook county by 3,428 to Alf Landon. That gave him the county by a net of 551,958. He carried downstate by 160,648.

Results in Congress Race.

William G. Stratton, Republican candidate for congressman at large, and T. F. Smith, Democrat seeking reëlection, were leading in a close contest for the two available positions in the basis of incomplete returns. With returns in from 1,047 of the 3,990 downstate precincts, 670 from Chicago, and 217 from the Cook county country towns, the vote was:

Stratton [R.], 414,251; Smith [D.], 411,445; Stephen A. Day [R.], 407,895; and Walter J. Orlikoski [D.], 404,149.

The outcome of the contests for the secondary state offices was almost as much a mystery as it was before the voting. Only a few precincts had been heard from on any of these offices. This was chiefly because in Chicago the police returns on President, United States senator, and governor were telephoned to the City News bureau while the figures on the other races waited until messengers carried them to the County building for tabulation.

Many Democratic "Straights."

The Democrats were extremely hopeful that their greater share in the number of straight ballots in Chicago had once more saved many of the incumbents belonging to their party. The Republicans did cast an unusually large number of straights but the machine still ran far ahead of them in this respect. Of all the votes cast, it was estimated 43.20 per cent were marked with the cross in the Democratic circle, the Republican straights came to 29.38 per cent, and the rest of the ballots or 27.42 per cent were splits.

HERSHEY DEFEAT DIMS DEMOCRAT SONG OF VICTORY

Chicago Democrats received with restrained jubilation last night the election returns indicating the reëlection of President Roosevelt and the apparent victory of many of their state and county candidates. Their enthusiasm was dimmed by the expected defeat of their state standard bearer, Harry B. Hershey, nominee for governor, at the hands of Dwight H. Green.

Officially, up till a late hour, neither Mayor Kelly nor other party spokesmen would concede victory to Green. It was announced shortly before midnight that no formal statement would be issued until most of the returns were in.

The Democratic celebration was held in party headquarters on the 4th floor of the Morrison hotel. It was in no way reminiscent of the giddy festivities of 1932 and 1936. There were as many ward and precinct workers, City Hall and County building pay rollers, judges, Department bosses, and others as in those previous election night gatherings, but the atmosphere was almost solemn until the returns indicated another victory.

Sing Sing Convicts Follow Vote Count with Interest

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 5 [Special].—Widespread interest in the election has been shown by prisoners in Sing Sing prison here, officials said. As a special concession the main receiving station in the prison remained in operation until 10:30 p. m. tonight, a half hour later than usual, to enable the men to hear early election returns.

Willkie Airplane Shuttle Is Kept Busy by Voters

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP).—Air taxis shuttling Republican voters between Philadelphia and their home voting places within a 200-mile radius failed to keep up with demands for the free service.

H. J. Noble, vice president of the Central-West Philadelphia Willkie-for-President club said, "We were able to take care of only about half the applicants."

Pilots donated their services and planes, Noble said.

WILLKIE IN FRONT IN IOWA VOTING; WILSON IS AHEAD

Wallace Trails in His Home State.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—Iowa, the stamping ground of Henry A. Wallace, provided the nation with one of its hottest political battles as Wendell Willkie added to his slight lead over President Roosevelt in mounting unofficial returns early today.

In 1,575 of the state's 2,453 precincts Willkie had 396,898 votes and Roosevelt 374,418. The situation of Gov. George A. Wilson, Republican incumbent, also improved slightly as returns poured in. He polled 389,757 votes in 1,575 precincts, compared with 350,951 for John K. Valentine, his Democratic opponent.

Wallace, father of the AAA farm program, twice toured his home state of Iowa in recent weeks in an effort to keep it in the Democratic column in Presidential politics. Willkie, however, carried Wallace's home precinct, 897 to 394.

Roosevelt Boosts Missouri Lead.

St. Louis, Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—President Roosevelt rode a mounting crest of Missouri votes early today and took the top of the Democratic ticket along with him.

In 3,306 of the states 4,479 precincts, Roosevelt had 637,735 and Willkie 560,808.

Riding a lead with the President were Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic incumbent whose bid for reelection was opposed by Manvel H. Davis of Kansas City, and Lawrence McDaniel of St. Louis, who was ahead of Forrest C. Donnell in their gubernatorial race.

For senator, in 3,267 precincts, Davis had 558,108 and Truman 621,659. For Governor in 3,275 precincts, Donnell had 571,376 and McDaniel, 611,794.

Willkie Far Ahead in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 5 (AP).—Kansas, which has ridden every Presidential winner since 1896, gave Wendell Willkie a big lead over President Roosevelt as returns from today's election mounted to sizable totals.

Returns from 1,673 of the state's 2,734 precincts showed Willkie leading 264,289 to 178,251

A much closer race, however, developed between Gov. Payne Ratner, 44 years old, Republican, and his Democratic opponent, W. H. Burke, 61, Little River banker and stockman. On returns from 1,689 precincts Ratner had 227,983 to 219,450 for Burke.

Willkie Safe in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6 [Wednesday] (AP).—Nebraska's seven electoral votes seemed safely in the hands of Wendell Willkie today as his mounting lead apparently carried Republican state candidates into office. In 1,227 of 2,043 precincts Willkie had 189,083 votes to 124,825 for President Roosevelt.

MICHIGAN GIVES LEAD TO WILLKIE AND DICKINSON

Vandenberg Also Has Advantage.

Detroit, Mich, Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—With the heavy vote in Democratic Detroit still untabulated, Wendell L. Willkie's margin over President Roosevelt in Michigan increased to 100,000 votes early today. In 1,349 of the state's 3,632 precincts, the vote was: Willkie, 387,758; Roosevelt, 287,245.

Michigan's octogenarian governor, Luren D. Dickinson, maintained a lead over Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democrat, but the scarcity of returns from Democratic Detroit left the outcome in doubt. In 1,315 of 3,632 precincts the vote was: Dickinson, 349,180; Van Wagoner, 295,193.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, a Republican seeking reëlection, piled up a lead over his Democratic opponent, Frank Fitzgerald. The vote in 1,240 of 3,632 precincts was: Vandenberg, 345,647; Fitzgerald, 238,611.

In the state, despite intermittent rain, the vote was expected to total close to two million.

German Consul Reported in Bad Graces of Uruguay

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 5.—Hans Barandon, former German consul at Valparaiso, who had been assigned to Montevideo by the embassy here following suggestions made by the Chilean authorities, had now been declared persona non grata in Uruguay, well informed circles reported this evening. His withdrawal from that country is expected shortly. Barandon was held responsible a few weeks ago for granting passports under assumed names to four German fugitives from Argentine prison camps, former crew members of the scuttled German cruiser Graf Spee. The sailors were attempting to sail for Japan from a Chilean port.

PARKING STATION BANDIT ROUTED IN GUN BATTLE

Henry Hartman, 45 years old, 1758 Monroe street, attendant in the Stadium Parking station, 1802 Warren boulevard, engaged in a revolver battle with a colored robber last night after the latter robbed him of $10 and slugged him with a tire tool.

Hartman told Warren avenue police he was struck on the head by the gunman while struggling with him in the station. After he had pushed the robber out of the station and locked the door, the latter fired three shots thru the door, none taking effect. Hartman then got his revolver, chased the robber thru an alley, and fired two shots at him, but he escaped.

Hartman was treated for scalp wounds at county hospital, and then returned to work.

MARTIN WINNER; BARTON BEATEN; FISH RE-ELECTED

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—The fate of the triumvirate singled out for criticism by President Roosevelt in two of his campaign speeches—Martin, Barton, and Fish—was split two to one today.

That of Martin [Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Republican national chairman] appeared to be successful, for he piled up a heavy lead in first returns of his race for reëlection.

That of Barton [Representative Bruce Barton of New York, candidate for United States senator from New York] was certain—he conceded defeat.

That of Fish [Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York] was certain—he was reëlected.

Chairman Flynn's Home District Goes to Willkie

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—The home district in the Bronx of Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn went to Wendell Willkie, who polled 565 to President Roosevelt's 316.

BANKING LAW CHANGES CARRY IN COOK COUNTY

Changes in the state banking laws affecting about 80 downstate communities appeared to have been adopted by a 2 to 1 vote on the basis of early returns in Cook county. Only about 20 per cent of the voters acted on the proposition but this will not affect the results since no constitutional amendment is involved.

Many small downstate cities are without a bank. One change will permit the organization of banks in communicities of less than 2,500 persons, if no bank now exists, and allow the minimum capital stock to be $25,000 instead of the present $50,000. Another revision will change the words "capital stocks" to the word "shares" in the state banking act section providing that stockholders may meet to determine the par value of stock.

The third and last change permits a state bank to move its location to a different town with the authority of the state auditor. National banks always have had that right.

In 1938 a banking proposition lost because most voters failed to vote upon it, altho those who did approved it 3 to 1. That proposal, asking the release of the double-liability clause for state bank stockholders, involved a constitutional amendment.

WISCONSIN GIVES PRESIDENT LEAD, BUT NOT BY FAR

Clausen Running Behind La Follette.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6, Wednesday—President Roosevelt had an insecure and diminishing lead of 31,000 votes over Wendell Willkie for Wisconsin's 12 electoral votes early today when 1,782 of the state's 3,038 precincts were tabulated. The vote was Roosevelt, 408,666; Willkie, 377,717.

The vote cast was the largest in any Presidential election in the history of the state and the result promised to be the closest. Willkie started with a growing lead from the rural and suburban centers that Roosevelt overcame with a two to one vote in the first Milwaukee precincts and the votes from Madison, Racine, and Kenosha.

Gains, Then Drops.

The Roosevelt advantage grew to 49,463 when the first 1,019 precincts were tabulated; dropped to 46,422 when the next hundred precincts were recorded, another 1,200 in the next 250, and 5,000 more in the next 160. With half of the state still to be tabulated, Republicans still were hopeful. Roosevelt defeated Landon in 1936 by 802,984 to 380,828.

Fred H. Clausen, Republican candidate for the United States senate, started with a lead over Senator Robert M. La Follette that persisted until the count from the industrial precincts in Milwaukee put La Follette into the lead.

Senatorial Figures.

With 1,536 precincts tabulated, a fraction over half the state, La Follette had 236,580 votes. Clausen in the same precincts had 228,631. James E. Finnegan, the candidate of the Democratic primary, who was repudiated by the New Deal in favor of La Follette, polled 68,095.

Gov. Julius P. Heil, Republican, who defeated Philip La Follette, Progressive, two years ago, maintained a consistent lead over Orland S. Loomis, Progressive, and Francis D. McGovern, a former Republican governor who this year the Democratic primary chose as its candidate.

Heil polled 238,066 votes in 1,573 precincts. Loomis in the same precincts received 216,490 and McGovern 103,890.

Democrats Generally Behind.

The Democrats were everywhere in the third position in the three party race for state and congressional offices. The Roosevelt lead was attributed to the Roosevelt-La Follette combination in which the New Deal approved the Progressive senator and La Follette gave public indorsement to the President in spite of his previous position in opposition to a third term and the Roosevelt foreign policy.

The returns indicated clearly that if Roosevelt carried Wisconsin it would be Progressive party votes rather than by votes of his own party. It was a repetition of the election of 1936, when the President gave his approval to Senator La Follette and the Progressives, with no national ticket of their own, voted in a body for the New Deal candidate.

Similar strategy was anticipated this year when leading Democrats declined the party indorsement at their state convention in fear that Roosevelt would deal with the Progressives.

Fears Justified.

The apprehension they said, was justified when former Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace came to Madison and gave the New Deal blessing to La Follette.

In Racine, where 12,000 members of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers had given Mr. Roosevelt their indorsement, 18 of the 49 precincts gave Roosevelt 9,216 votes to 5,244 for Willkie. The farm sections and the smaller towns and cities were upholding the Willkie strength.

In Milwaukee, where the Automobile Workers' union also is strongly organized, its support went to Mr. Roosevelt in spite of John L. Lewis' indorsement of Willkie. The strong Wisconsin Federation of Labor, which is one of the component parts of the political Progressive Party federation, also piled up its vote for Roosevelt.

Results in 1936.

The Democratic-Progressive combination gave Roosevelt 802,984 votes in 1936 to 380,828 for Landon. Roosevelt's subsequent favors to the Progressive organization have been blamed for the breakdown of the Democratic party in the state. In the election of 1938 for state offices it polled only 80,000 votes.

A victory for President Roosevelt in Wisconsin and the election of any Progressive state officials, or even the establishment of the Progressives as second beyond dispute to the Republicans, is likely to mean a reorganization of party politics in Wisconsin with the New Deal Democrats aligned with the Progressives and the Jeffersonian Democrats consolidated into the Republican party.

Such a realignment was hinted the day before election when Edward P. Curry, chief of the Milwaukee county Democrats, who, altho a professed New Dealer, urged Democrats to vote for Clausen for the senate.

He had discussed the subject with many Democrats, he said, and they agreed that further existence of their party as a political influence hinged on the defeat of the Progressives.

If Senator La Follette is defeated it will be the first time in 40 years, the life time of a majority of the voters, that there has been no La Follette either in the senate or governor of Wisconsin. His father, the first Robert M. La Follette, was elected governor in 1901 and served until 1907 when he was elected to the United States senate. His son succeeded to the office when the elder La Follette died in 1925 and has been reelected ever since.

Warm Springs, Ga., Votes for Roosevelt, 226 to 10

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 5 (AP).—This mid-Georgia town which President Roosevelt has designated as his "second home" today voted 226 for Roosevelt, 10 for Wendell Willkie. Mayor W. G. Harry, friend of the President, reported the vote, and said it compared with the 1936 total of 180 for Roosevelt, 10 for Landon.

DEWEY UNSEATS M'ANDREWS IN CONGRESS RACE

Control of Delegation Is Still in Doubt.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Charles S. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury under President Coolidge, recaptured the 9th congressional district for the Republicans in yesterday's balloting by defeating Congressman James McAndrews, incumbent since 1934.

With only 14 of the district's 230 precincts still unreported, Dewey was leading by a margin of 5,988 votes. The unofficial vote stood at 53,175 to 47,187 in Dewey's favor.

It was the brightest spot for the G. O. P. in the nine Cook county districts at present in the possession of the Democrats. Expected Republican triumphs in the 1st, 2d, 3d, and 7th districts failed to materialize, according to incomplete returns.

May Gain Downstate Seats.

Republican hopes of capturing a majority o fthe state's 25 district congressional seats switched to downstate districts after the disappointmen of the Chicago results. Provided the G. O. P. retains its present holdings—the 10th to 19th districts, as it is expected to do—it can still take control of the district delegation by carrying two other districts. The early count showed possibilities of Republican triumphs in the 21st, 22d, 24th, and 25th districts.

Dewey, the victorious 9th district candidate, issued this statement:

"I am grateful to the voters of my district for the confidence they have reposed in me. When I take my seat next January I will justify that faith.

"During the campaign I pledged that I would work to preserve peace, work for preparedness, and work to obtain jobs for the citizens of the 9th district. That pledge will be fulfilled.

"I want to be a representative of all the people in the 9th district. I hope they will consider me their voice in national affairs."

Hears of Defeat in Hospital.

McAndrews heard of his defeat in the Alexian Brothers hospital, where he spent most of the closing weeks of the campaign undergoing treatment for a minor ailment, according to his friends.

Perennial Republican candidates were downed in the 2d and 7th districts, according to the indicated results. In the 2d, Former Congressman Patrick H. Moynihan had previously tried comebacks in 1934 and 1936, and apparently was bested again yesterday by Congressman Raymond S McKeough, who unseated him in 1932.

Moreland Surrenders Lead.

In the 7th Former Ald. James C. Moreland of the 41st ward, who had tried to wrest away the seat of Congressman Leonard W. Schuetz in 1930, 1936, and 1938, led for a time in the early count of yesterday's voting, but surrendered his lead to the congressman later.

In the 10th district the early returns gave the advantage to the Democratic nominee, John Haderlein, but it was regarded as a certainty that the Republican, George A. Paddock, would be swept into office by the heavy G. O. P. margin along the north shore and in Lake county. The 10th district seat was vacated voluntarily by Congressman Ralph E. Church, who tried unsuccessfully for the nomination for United States senator.

RESIDENTS OF HAWAII VOTE ON STATEHOOD

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Residents of the Hawaiian Islands voted today on the question of statehood.

Aides of Samuel King, delegates of Hawaii, said the plebiscite was only one step of many necessary before the territory can be brought into the Union as the 49th state.

The islanders were asked to answer the question: Do you favor statehood for Hawaii? If the majority voted "yes," the next step will be for the Hawaii legislature to adopt a resolution petitioning congress for statehood. An act of congress and Presidential approval then would be necessary before full statehood could be achieved.

Suggests Public Bonfires to Burn Campaign Material

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Public bonfires to destroy all campaign literature and buttons were suggested by William Allen White today as a means of "healing partisan bitterness." The Emporia, Kas., editor also urged "unity massmeetings" in a statement issued as national chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. It was sent to the group's 717 chapters.

TRUST MY LIFE TO ONE OF THOSE FLYING MACHINES? NEVER!

If "sports" wanted to risk their necks in such daredevil pursuits as the Wright Brothers had initiated in 1903, that was their privilege. But most people couldn't see any use for flying machines. (The same people who figured that automobiles would never be a serious threat to Old Bess and the buggy—even though over 4,000 had already been sold.) If you had to have thrills, the sage ones said, go down to the Nickelodeon to see "The Great Train Robbery." Don't go around talking about people traveling by air. If man had been intended to fly, he'd have had wings.

However, some people believed that there might be a use for flying machines. And because of those few, countless people today travel in the smooth comfort of one of the safest and fastest transportation systems in the world. Those who have faith in the future, build the future. In 1904, the founders of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. had been building their future for half a century—and now came the most significant move of their history. They occupied the building formerly owned by Schlesinger & Mayer—at State and Madison Streets, the intersection since known as "Carson's Corner—the busiest corner in the world."

G. O. P. EXPECTED TO GAIN 4 TO 6 SEATS IN SENATE

Suffers Loss in Number of House Members.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's national congressional elections indicate that the Republicans gained from four to siv seats in the United States senate but sustained a net loss of seats in the house of representatives, which the Democrats have controled since January, 1931.

President Roosevelt's commanding leads in states where the Republicans expected to make congressional gains dashed their hopes of winning the 48 additional seats needed to give them control of the house. The indications are that the present Republican house strength of 170 seats will be reduced by perhaps as many as 15 to 20. The Democrats have 261 seats in the present house, 48 more than a majority of 218 of the 435 members.

10 G. O. P. Members Lose.

With slightly more than half of the congressional contests reported, 10 Republican members were defeated by Democrats and 3 Democratic members were defeated by Republicans. The trend of the returns indicated that the net Republican loss of 7 seats might be increased

O nthe other hand, probable Republican gains were indicated by the returns from Illinois congressional contests. The Republicans appeared to have a good chance of winning the seats of the two congressmen at large, no wheld by Democrats. William G. Stratton and Stephen A. Day, Republicans, had indicated leads in the projected totals over Representative Thomas V. Smith and Walter Orlikoski, the Democratic candidates. The Republicans also appeared to have a good chance of winning the 9th Illinois district, where Representative James McAndrews was opposed by Charles S. Dewey, and of wrestling two or three seats from Democrats in downstate Illinois.

Senate Contests Close.

Republican senate gains apparently were assured in Nebraska, Illinois, Ohio, and Minnesota. One of the nine Republican senators seeking reelection this year—John G. Townsend Jr. of Delaware—was running behind his Democratic opponent in incomplete and inconclusive returns. James M. Tunnell is Townsend's Democratic opponent.

However, the possible loss of Senator Townsend's seat may be offset by possible Republican gains in other close contests. In the early returns from Wyoming, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat, was running behind Milward L. Simpson, Republican.

Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], a New Deal yesman, and Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.], a New Deal radical, hold slight leads over their Republican opponents, but these may be overcome by complete returns from the rural regions of their states. Minton was opposed by Raymond E. Willis, Republican newspaper editor of Angola, Ind., and La Follette by Fred H. Clausen, Republican, and James E. Finnegan, Democrat.

Brooks Appears Victor.

In Illinois, C. Wayland Brooks, Republican, apparently was assured of victory over Senator James M. Slattery, Democrat.

In Nebraska, Hugh A. Butler, Republican, was running well ahead of Gov. Roy L. Cochran, Democrat, for the senate seat now held by Senator Edward R. Burke, who was defeated by Cochran for the Democratic nomination.

Two New England anti-New Deal senators—David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] and Peter G. Gerry [D., R. I.]—were reëlected in close contests.

Republican Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland had a comfortable lead over John McSweeney, Democrat, in the contest for the Ohio senate seat now held by Vic Donahey, Democrat. Donahey did not seek reëlection.

Shipstead Well Ahead.

In Minnesota, Senator Henrik Shipstead, a veteran Farmer-Laborite, who ran this year as a Republican, was running well ahead of Elmer A. Benson and John E. Regan, respectively his Farmer-Laborite and Democratic opponents.

In North Dakota, Representative William Lemke, Republican, running as an independent, was leading William Langer, the Republican nominee, for the senate seat of Republican Senator Lynn J. Frazier. Langer defeated Frazier for the Republican nomination.

In New York Representative Bruce Barton, Republican, ran an exceedingly close race against Senator James M. Mead, a New Deal Democrat, but Mead apparently was reëlected. Also apparently assured of reëlection were Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], and Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], all New Deal yes men.

36 Senate Contests.

In all there were 36 senate contests, including the Maine election on Sept. 9 in which Representative Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, was elevated to the senate.

The early returns were not too comforting for Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, but in later returns he obtained an apparently safe lead over Frank Fitzgerald, his Democratic opponent.

The indicated Republican senate gains are not enough to assure effective opposition to New Deal measures in coöperation with the 15 or more conservative Democrats who usually vote with the Republicans. The Republicans have 24 senate seats at present, including that of Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota, who recently was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Ernest Lundeen, Farmer-Laborite. The indicated maximum gain of six seats would give the Republicans a total of only 30, less than one-third of the senate membership of 96.

Under the leadership of Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts the Republicans in the house have formed an effective opposition to the New Deal in coöperation with the conservative Democrats during the last two years. On several occasions they have obtained an actual working control of the house, as represented by the scrapping of President Roosevelt's five billion dollar lending spending program last year and the passing of the Smith bill to overhaul the national labor relations act this year.

GREEN'S VICTORY HAILED AS DOOM OF MACHINE YOKE

John T. Dempsey, Cook county Republican chairman and campaign manager for Dwight H. Green, hailed the governor-elect's victory as meaning that "a real start toward striking off the yoke of machine politics" has been made. "Dwight Green's election spells the doom of political dictatorship in the state and in Chicage and Cook county," Dempsey declared. "I can pledge you that the Republican party which has been rebuilt by your votes will continue the fight it has begun for good government."

OUTCOME 'MORE THAN A POLITICAL VICTORY,' ED FLYNN DECLARES

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, asserted shortly after 11 o'clock tonight he "assumed" President Roosevelt had been reëlected and added: "What was won was more than a political victory.

"Nor can I ever claim it was a victory for the party," he continued. "It was the decision by the vast majority of our citizens, with no distinction of groups or elements or individuals, to continue in the course pursued for seven years under the leadership of our chief executive who has so far steered the ship of state thru the storms and reefs that beset the whole world at this time.

"With the election passes whatever bitterness there has been in this campaign. Franklin Roosevelt will be the President of the whole country and I am sure that those who supported Wendell Willkie will now join the President in efforts to keep our nation out of war and to carry on the program of economic progress that has brought us so far on the road to recovery."

ALMAZAN CLAIMS HE WILL TAKE RULE IN MEXICO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5.—Developments during the past few days in Mexico's political whirlpool have revived hopes among followers of Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, candidate in the July elections for the presidency of Mexico. Almazan from his self-imposed exile in the United States, has started a new campaign of defiance against Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, accepted president-elect of Mexico for the 1940-46 presidential term.

Still considering Camacho the "impositionist" candidate, put in by the Mexican administration despite Almazan's claim that he and his party achieved an overwhelming victory in the elections, Almazan has issued a manifesto declaring that he will occupy the presidential chair Dec. 1.

Secret orders have been sent to the Almazanist "senate" and "congress," installed in secret on Sept. 1. These legislators, who are concentrating in Almazan's home state of Guerrero, are reported to be making the preparations necessary to receive Almazan as president of the republic on or before Dec. 1.

ROOSEVELT SURE OF 36 VOTES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Senator Guffey Also Is Returned to Office.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6 [Wednesday.] (AP).—President Roosevelt, piling up a steadily growing margin, led Wendell L. Willkie by nearly a quarter of a million votes in Pennsylvania early today with returns complete from eight-ninths of the state.

The count in 6,707 of the 8,118 precincts in Pennsylvania gave Roosevelt, 2,017,469 to 1,771,016.

Willkie led the President in 40 of 67 counties.

Republican State Chairman James F. Torrance conceded the Keystone state's 36 electoral votes to the chief executive and Senator Joseph F. Guffey, running somewhat behind Roosevelt, was conceded reëlection by Jay Cooke, his opponent and Republican city chairman of Philadelphia. The vote in 7,466 precincts gave Guffey 1,906,109; Cooke, 1,764,246.

90 Per Cent of Vote Cast.

Reports of a record breaking vote came not only from Philadelphia but with equal emphasis from the four commuter counties of southeastern Pennsylvania, the hard and soft coal regions and the state's broad stretches of farming land.

Fair weather prevailed yesterday in most of the state and brought out a vote estimated at close to 4,500,000, or about 90 per cent of the total registration.

Elect State Officers.

Besides electing a President and senator, Pennsylvanians chose between State Senator Fred T. Gelder, Republican, and State Treasurer F. Clair Ross. Democrat, for state auditor general, and between James F. Malone Jr., Republican, and G. Harold Wagner, Democrat, for state treasurer.

District contests involved the selection of 34 members of the national house of representatives, 25 state senators, and 208 state representatives.

WILLKIE TRAILS BY 104,000 IN MARYLAND VOTE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5 (AP). — Returns from 1,076 of Maryland's 1,331 polling places gave President Roosevelt a margin of 104,000 votes over Wendell L. Willkie. The vote was: Roosevelt, 322,579; Willkie, 218,422.

Democratic Senator George L. Radcliffe led by 129,000 in returns from 720 polling places, which showed: Radcliffe, 242,472; Gov. Harry W. Nice, Republican 113,396 in the senatorial race.

Baltimore, particularly the industrial sections, filide up a margin of more than 87,000 for Roosevelt before any sizable county returns had even been tabulated. County returns showed Roosevelt ahead, 20,47 6to 19,056.

President Leads in Delaware.

Dover, Del., Nov. 6 [Wednesday].—With 148 precincts out of this state's 249 tabulated today, President Roosevelt led with 33,902 votes to Willkie's 25,027. In the senate race, Townsend [R.] had 26,673, Tunnell [D.], 31,576.

OHIO SWITCHES TO ROOSEVELT ON LATE VOTES

President Overcomes Early Willkie Lead.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP). — Ohio voted to give President Roosevelt a third term, it was apparent early today, but every Republican candidate for state office was running ahead.

Heavy majorities from the industrial-metropolitan areas tended to clinch the state's 26 electoral votes for the Democratic candidate after wiping out an early lead which Wendell L. Willkie won in rural counties.

Tabulation of 7,722 of the state's 8,675 precincts gave: Roosevelt, 1,485,514; Willkie, 1,385,759.

Bricker 125,000 Ahead.

Gov. John W. Bricker, seeking a second two year term for his Repuolican administration, edged beyond a 125,000 majority over former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democrat.

Returns from 3,690 precincts gave: Bricker [R.], 663,625; Davey [D.], 537,250.

Harold H. Burton, Republican mayor of Cleveland, ran far ahead of John McSweeney of Wooster, former Democratic congressman, in the contest for the United States senate seat held by Vic Donahey, who is retiring.

The count from 3,828 precincts was: Burton [R.], 603,466; McSweeney [D.], 532,640.

Robert A. Taft, Republican, is the other Ohio senator.

Congressional Races.

Twelve Republicans and seven Democrats were leading in races for Ohio's 24 places in the national house of representatives.

As other Republican state candidates followed Gov. Bricker into the winning column, and while newspapers predicted that President Roosevelt would carry Ohio by 150,000, the legislature's recent separation of the Presidential and state ballots assumes prominence.

FOURCHICAGOANS DIE IN ELECTION DAY EXCITEMENT

A policeman and three voters died of heart attacks yesterday in the stress of election day.

COURTNEY FAR AHEAD IN TALLY FOR PROSECUTOR

Other Democrats Lead in Cook County.

ing, the estimate was 1,455,552 votes. This was an average of 399 votes to a precinct and almost as many votes as were cast in the Green-Kelly contest for mayor last year.

At 4 o'clock, an hour before closing, Jarecki estimated 1,689,000 ballots had been cast.

Estimates from the north shore suburbs indicated that by noon more than 50 per cent of the registered voters in those suburbs had cast their ballots.

Early reports from the precincts long before the polls closed indicated the expectation of a heavy vote would be borne out. Reports from typical precincts in early afternoon showed that in some precincts, especially on the west side, from 90 to 95 per cent of the registered vote had been cast by 1 o'clock. In some other sections the vote in the final two hours appeared to be rolling up the score.

At headquarters politicians scratched their heads as usual over the question of scratched ballots and the old question of how large was the "straight" vote on both sides.

RACINE COUNTY WILL HOLD BABY BEEF BANQUET

Racine, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Four hundred Racine county residents will sit down around tables in Memorial hall tomorrow night to eat 349 pounds of the choicest Racine county beef, prepared and served by Racine women, at the annual baby beef banquet of the Racine County Fair association.

Pièce de résistance will be the choicest cuts from the two prize winning baby beef cattle raised by Racine county 4-H youths. The two boys whose steers are to be eaten will be guests of honor. They are Vernon Schattner and Forrest Wenger.

The beef, prime rolled ribs, sirloin butts, and center round and rump cuts, will be cooked for six hours under direction of Mrs. C. T. Harnett. Al Strauss, president of the Racine butchers, will carve the 29 roasts. The women of the White Shrine patrol are cooking 80 cherry pies for dessert.

The baby beef banquet is a tradition of long standing in Racine county and is one of a series of events designed to produce closer unity between rural and urban residents.

Policemen Get the Bird from a Battling Hawk

Policemen Robert Arneson and Sydney Levinson of the Albany Park station had a heated battle with a chicken hawk last night in front of 4158 Bell Plaine avenue. Before it was over Arneson had been bitten on his left hand. The hawk, which was captured after a neighbor had supplied a blanket to toss over it, will be examined by the board of health to determine if it is diseased.

"Cotton Ed" Smith Refuses to Cast Vote for Roosevelt

Lynchburg, S. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith, dean of the United States senate, stayed home from the polls today rather than vote for President Roosevelt, who sought unsuccessfully to defeat him in his 1938 race for the senate. "I don't approve of him and I couldn't vote for him," said the 76 year old senator at his ancestral plantation. "It is impossible for me to consider voting anything but the Democratic ticket."

COURTNEY VOWS HE'LL CONTINUE FIGHT ON CRIME

Says Vote of Confidence Will Spur Him On.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney promised to continue his war against criminals, labor racketeers, and hoodlums last night as he got the news that he had been reëlected for a third term. He is the first prosecutor in the history of the county to be elected three times.

Courtney listened to returns in his county building office, not surrounded by political leaders but by friends and employés. When he was assured of reëlection over his Republican opponent, Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Courtney said:

"The war against crime will continue in the future as it has in the past. I desire to thank the Democrats and Republicans who voted for me and worked for my reëlection. I also want to thank my staff for its loyalty to my cause.

Vote Spurs Him On.

"The fight against labor racketeers will continue until every last one of them has been driven from the ranks of the labor movement. The vote of confidence, which I feel I received today from the electorate, will spur my office on to renewed vigor in its fight against all types of criminals, racketeers, and hoodlums."

Among the first to congratulate Courtney were his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Courtney. The prosecutor's father is a retired policeman. Courtney's wife, Kathryn, and his daughter Rita, a college student, spent the night at home getting bulletins over the telephone.

"Voters Appreciate Honesty."

"The returns show that voters appreciate honesty, integrity and industry in office," remarked First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. "On behalf of myself and the entire staff I want to pledge to Mr. Courtney our continued wholehearted coöperation for the next four years. We will give the county the same service in the future as we have in the past."

Courtney beamed his thanks as members of his staff and outside friends filed by to shake his hand.

Altho a Democrat, Courtney has been known as an independent in politics. When elected first he was the youngest man to ever hold the office. He is now 46 years old and his once black hair is now plentifully sprinkled with gray.

ELECTION FRAUD FIGHTERS CLAIM VICTORY IN CITY

Few Wholesale Ballot Thefts Reported.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Efforts of Chicago's volunteer citizen army of 10,000 polls watchers apparently bore fruit yesterday as reports from virtually all city precincts indicated there were few instances of wholesale vote thievery. Members of the civic organizations that worked for an honest election here declared themselves satisfied with results.

The city's river wards—where the Kelly-Nash political machine has virtually controled voting in other years—were quiet yesterday. Most of them for the first time in nearly 10 years showed a reasonable balance of ballots credited to the two major political parties. Here in the past the Democrats have claimed from 90 to 98 per cent of the returns.

Willkie Scores in First Ward.

In the 1st ward, long a machine stronghold and still dominated by Michael [Hinky-Dink] Kenna, many precincts showed totals against machine candidates for the first time in more than a score of years. In the 25th precinct of this ward, for example, Wendell Willkie got 208 votes to 190 for Roosevelt. It was the first licking that the machine has taken there since 1916.

"We're proud of our boys," declared Henry Pope Jr., co-chairman of the Business Men's 1940 Election committee which had 3,000 watchers in the river wards yesterday. "In the 7th precinct of the 1st ward Willkie got 237 to 171 for Roosevelt.

"Out in the 20th ward a count of 12 precincts showed 2,200 straight Republican ballots and 2,560 straight Democratic. In 1936 this ward was overwhelmingly Democratic. It just shows what can be done by an attempt to keep the voting honest, and the voters freed from fears of retaliation."

Civic Committee Pleased.

Pierce Ward and Glen Lloyd, members of the executive board of the Joint Civic committee, declared that their 5,500 watchers carried out their duties of preventing trickery at the polls in an impressive way.

"On the whole I think things went well with us," said Lloyd. "We won't know with any certainty until we have had a chance to examine all our reports. But in the main it was a good job."

Lloyd said that his watchers reported the worst conditions in the 27th ward where in the 49th, 55th, 56th, 57th, and 59th precincts there were especially bad conditions. Full accounts of actions in these polling places will be turned over to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and there may be recommendations of prosecution of these election boards, it was indicated.

The 49th precinct allowed many floaters and stingers [one who votes under a name other than his own] to vote without ever requiring them to sign applications for ballots or comply with other features of the election laws, it was charged. Squads from the election commissioners' office visited the polling place at 1000 Monroe street four times during the day. Eventually a squad remained at the place to see that the law was obeyed.

80 Voters Challenged.

Members of this board were: Emma McCarin, Bertha Noel, Clarice Dolan, Mae Neal, and Frank Bieler. Two policemen assigned to the place were Joseph Feldman, star No. 1269, and Frank O'Brien, star No. 5181. More than 80 voters were challenged but were permitted to vote by the board which kept no records of any kind, it was charged.

There were several sluggings reported during the day, but no one was seriously hurt. Three civic committee watchers were beaten in the 42d ward and Paul Fisher, 1400 East 53d street, a watcher for the business men's committee, was slugged by Edward Wheeler, 2300 Michigan avenue, a Democratic worker, in the 25th precinct of the 1st ward.

A photograph of this incident was snapped by Volunteer Cameraman W. H. Hoeschen, and will be presented as evidence if Wheeler is prosecuted.

Warn Congressman Sabath.

Congressman A. J. Sabath and State Senator Peter Kielminski, both Democrats, were warned to cease threatening watchers or face arrest after they created a commotion in the 23d precinct of the 21st ward. There they told Kenneth Benson, a business man committee watcher, that he would be "carried out of the place" if he didn't leave. Benson had challenged Sabath's right to vote from a house at 1902 South Ashland avenue, in which, it was contended, he has not lived for 10 years.

During the day thousands of Chicagoans stormed the offices of the election commissioners demanding the right to vote after they discovered that their registration cards were not in precinct binders. Most of these indignant men and women—it was estimated that there were between 4,000 and 6,000 of them in the city hall offices of the commission during the voting hours—were not allowed to vote.

"The great majority of complainants," Judge Jarecki declared, "were persons who did not attempt to find out why their names were not on the polls lists when these were issued, or were persons who did not answer suspect notices.

"I had a force of less than 30 clerks to take care of the entire lot and many were forced to wait for hours before their particular cases were heard. Of the lot only 259 were given credentials that allowed them to vote.

"Supposing that 5,000 persons were disfranchised by our ruling that the master registration lists were to remained locked thruout the day; that is only one-quarter of 1 per cent of Cook county's two million registered voters—and that's not a bad record for mistakes in any large scale operation."

CHILE, UNITED STATES EXPECTED TO JOIN IN BUILDING BIG DRYDOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 5.—Chilean-American coöperative construction of a dry dock capable of accommodating 45,000 ton battleships in the port of Valparaiso is believed to have the approval of the ministry of national defense. Cost is calculated at $5,000,000, with work to commence in April and be ready by 1945.

The Chilean controled Alessandri company first planned the dock on commercial lines. The scheme developed politically as the new world was threatened and more recently, when the Rome-Berlin-Tokio pact was signed, it became definitely associated with interhemisphere defense.

Equipment will be supplied from the United States from whom a credit is envisaged. The dock location is at Membrillo, a southern nook in Valparaiso bay. Breakwaters and shipyards on a small scale are to be built. The dock will rank second in the southern hemisphere, preceded by that approved for Sydney, Australia.

Gandhi to make antiwar speeches as part of a Nationalist plan of "limited civil disobedience," today was sentenced to "four years of rigorous imprisonment." First to defy the law with antiwar speeches was Vinoba Bhave, sentenced Oct. 21 to three months' imprisonment. Nehru refused to testify at his trial on charges brought under the defense of India act.

Radio Station Asks Probe in Alleged Strike Sabotage

Kearny, N. J., Nov. 5 [Special].—Forced off the air Sunday after alleged sabotage by striking announcers and technicians, officials of radion station WOV today asked police and the federal communications commission to investigate tampering with the broadcasting equipment. Miss Hyla Kiczales, station manager, said crystals in the transmitter in Kearny had been damaged before the management had been approached for settlement of the strike.

Voters Complain; Can't Find Smith on Ballot

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP).—Several voters telephoned County Clerk G. E. Wade today to complain that Al Smith's name was left off the Presidential ballot. Wade surmised that the citizens had heard the former Democratic Presidential candidate's radio address for Wendell L. Willkie and had gained the impression he again was running for President.

MINNESOTA VOTE SPLIT; STASSEN, ROOSEVELT LEAD

Republican Sen. Shipstead Far in Front.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5 (AP).—Minnesota voters split their ballots right down the middle today, according to returns which showed President Roosevelt and Republican Governor Harold Stassen both leading.

On returns from 1,127 of the state's 3,696 precincts Roosevelt had 298,956 votes to 254,577 for Wendell Willkie. Stassen, who managed Willkie's campaign for the nomination and later worked vigorously for his election, had a lead of 193,494 votes to 163,201 for Hjarmar Petersen, Farmer-Laborite, who supported the New Deal, and 40,772 for Ed Murphy, Democrat.

Henrik Shipstead, erstwhile Farmer-Laborite seeking reëlection to the senate as a Republican, was showing increasing strength. Returns from 888 precincts out of 3,696 gave him 203,162 votes to 122,991 for former Gov. Elmer Benson, Farmer-Laborite and one time colleague of Shipstead in the senate, and 80,192 for John Regan, Democrat.

Early returns from rural areas gave Willkie the lead at the start of the counting, but as the bulk of the city vote began to roll in, Roosevelt climbed out in front.

These city votes also gave Petersen a margin over Stassen, but it was wiped out as the agricultural section began to be heard from.

Country, Right or Wrong, Theory Fails in This Case

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Rene Aslin's intentions were patriotic, but the 16 year old homeless farm worker's method was distinctly illegal, Magistrate William M. Hoppin decided today. He held Aslin in $2,500 bail after police testified the youth had stolen two automobiles and a revolver en route from New England to New York to enlist in the army. He confessed the thefts, police said. An auto dealer's suspicions were aroused when Aslin offered to sell a 1940 model car for $250.

Albert Einstein Casts First Vote as Citizen

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP).—Albert Einstein, renowned German born scientist, cast his first vote in an American election today. Accompanied by his daughter, Margaret, and his secretary, Miss Helene Durkas, Einstein voted at the polling place of the 1st district of Princeton borough. All three were admitted to citizenship in Trenton two months ago.

34,041 PERSONS GIVE TO WILLKIE DRIVE IN STATE

Small Donations Pay for Campaign.

Wendell Willkie's campaign in Illinois was financed by 34,041 individual contributions, 80 per cent of them ranging from 25 cents to $1.50. Nearly five times as many Republican contributions were received this year as in 1936.

In making this report last night Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Republican Finance Committee of Illinois, stressed that $10,000 was raised on the committee's Dollar Day alone. Seven thousand persons in more than a hundred enterprises and professions contributed in this separate drive.

Officers of Committee.

The Republican Finance Committee of Illinois was formed July 15 with Lester Armour assisting Gen. Hammond as vice chairman, George Rossetter as treasurer, Mrs. Walter Wolf heading the women's division, and B. C. Heacock leading the downstate forces.

An organization was created similar to that set up for the annual Chicago Community Fund drive. Women were chosen as key workers in all parts of the state, and they in turn formed local committees. Key men were named in every industry and profession. In all, 800 volunteers aided in the work. A mail division sent hundreds of letters to persons of moderate incomes.

Cities Provide Most.

Gen. Hammond said that because of the concentration of industries and business offices in metropolitan areas, contributions from these centers provided 75 per cent of the total amount received. In many offices every employé contributed, he said. The record number of employé contributions in a single office was 155.

Laundry Trucks Barred by New York Fair Pickets

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Pickets tightened up at the closed New York world fair today, halting all except park department trucks that attempted to enter the grounds. Laundry and cleaners' trucks had not been affected previously. Accepting their inclusion in the picketing, drivers turned back from the gates. A general strike of all American Federation of Labor men on the demolition job except carpenters will take effect at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow.

GAINS FOR G. O. P. SHOWN IN STATE ASSEMBLY RACES

Recapture of Upper House Appears Assured.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Republicans appeared to have won control of the Illinois senate, which they lost in 1932, and to have retained their slight majority in the house of representatives, on the basis of returns early today.

Votes for these offices are among the last to be tabulated. In the case of state representatives the task was made more difficult by the fact that each voter casts three votes, which may be given to a single candidate or divided among two or three.

Senators have four year terms and yesterday were elected in the 25 even numbered districts and in one where a death vacancy existed. An entirely new house was elected, three members from each of the 51 districts. However, in 26 districts the major parties put up only three nominees between them, thus making nomination equivalent to election.

3 Nominated by Committees.

Action limiting the number of nominees was taken by the party senatorial committees in each district. In three districts these, little known committees also named candidates in place of nominees who died.

All three nominated by the committees were Republicans. They are Dudley S. Martin, in place of Ernest Torrence, 3d district, Chicago; Joseph Zientek, in place of the late John A. Pelka, 15th district, Chicago; and Victor McBroom, in place of the late George B. Allen, 20th [Kankakee] district.

The G. O. P. needed six seats to gain a majority in the senate and apparently had accomplished this in the following districts: 6th [Rogers Park-Evanston]; 18th [Peoria county]; 22d [Vermilion and Edgar counties]; 24th [Champaign, Piatt, and Moultrie counties]; 26th [Ford and McLean counties]; and 28th [DeWitt, Logan, and Macon counties].

Others Indicated for G. O. P.

Other districts where it appeared that the Republicans may have picked up additional senate seats are the 34th [Clark, Coles, and Douglas counties], and the 50th [Alexander, Franklin, Pulaski, Union, and Williamson counties].

Because of ground gained downstate by Republicans in the 1938 house race, indications were that additional house seats were most likely to result from vote tallies in Chicago, where the greatest room for improvement of the G. O. P. score existed. Thus early returns favored house gains in the 6th [Rogers Park-Evanston] district and the 31st [Edgewater-Uptown-Belmont Harbor] district.

It seemed certain that the Republicans could not lose their present house strength—79 members to 74 Democrats.

Roosevelt,170; Willkie,170; That's Vote in Maine Town

Harmony, Me., Nov. 5 (AP).—There was harmony in Harmony tonight. The Presidential vote: Roosevelt, 170; Willkie, 170. This Somerset county went 3 to 1 for Republican Alf Landon in the 1936 election.

Complicating the contests for house seats is the fact that party votes alone do not decide the outcome. Each voter casts three votes for the office, which he may "plump" for a single candidate or divide between two or three.

Only Voter in Precinct Goes to Nearby District

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—The city saved almost $600 this year in handling the vote of Rabbi Nathan Wolf of the Times Square temple, who for eight years had been the lone voter in the 46th election district of the 10th assembly district. This year, while Rabbi Wolf had a voting machine for his own use, a change in the election law obviated the necessity for a separate election board for him and he appeared before the election board used in the 47th district.

MARK 50TH ANNIVERSARY.

Elkhorn, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wiswell, residents here for the past 32 years, today celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. For 16 years Mr. Wis-

G. O. P. VICTORIES INDICATED IN SIX NEARBY COUNTIES

Clean Sweep of Offices Is Apparent.

Incomplete returns from the balloting yesterday in Chicago's suburban counties in Illinois tended to bear out forecasts that Republican county tickets would be elected in all of them.

By midnight, observers were sure that the G. O. P. victories in at least four of the counties—Lake, Du Page, McHenry, and Kane—were overwhelming. In two others, Will and Kankakee, the races were closer, but Republican leaders professed no fear of the final results.

Lake County Lead Substantial.

Forty-two of 95 precincts reporting in Lake county gave Harry A. Hall, Republican nominee for state's attorney, 15,125 to 8,523 for his Democratic opponent, Charles Noll. Other Republican nominees regarded as certain winners were: Robert J. Pearsall, auditor; Howard Scott, recorder; L. J. Wilmot, Circuit court clerk, and Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner.

Each of the Republicans had a lead of more than 6,000 over his Democratic opponent and it was estimated that the final majorities of all would be between 12,000 and 15,000.

In Du Page county 32 out of 95 precincts gave Russell W. Keeney, Republican, a lead of 12,337 to 4,429 over Anton Ziegweid for county judge.

Other Republican winners in Du Page county, each with leads of about 7,000 votes, were Lee Daniels, state's attorney, who led Edgar Elliott, 11,721 to 4,725; Paul Isherwood, coroner; Lawrence Hattendorf, recorder; Robert M. Haenisch, Circuit court clerk, and Robert E. Bradlee, auditor.

Take Early Kane County Leads.

In Kane county the Republicans took long leads early. With 69 out of 125 precincts in, Charles G. Seidel for state's attorney had 27,995 votes and John T. Vincent, Democrat, 8,903. Other Republican winners, with margins only slightly less, were: Charles F. Farmiloe, Circuit court clerk; M. H. Agnew, recorder; George A. Chapman, auditor, and L. Victor Peterson, coroner.

McHenry county had only one contest, in which William T. Conn won for Circuit court clerk over Albert Billepp by a margin of about three to one. Other Republican nominees, William M. Carroll for state's attorney and Harry L. Ehorn for coroner, were unopposed.

In Will county 46 out of 98 precincts gave the entire ticket of the Republicans majorities averaging about 3,500 votes, and it was believed later returns would increase this lead. James E. Burke, Republican incumbent state's attorney, was leading Francis J. Loughran, 14,353 to 10,759. The other Republicans apparently elected were: Robert L. Spreitzer, recorder; Paul V. Wunder Jr., Circuit court clerk; Herman C. Grassle, auditor, and Dr. Elwood A. Kingston, coroner.

Elect 2 in Kankakee County.

Kankakee county apparently had elected two Republicans—Albert Tetrault for Circuit court clerk and Edward Madison for coroner. They had leads of approximately 3,000 over the Democratic nominees, George Odette and Clarence Lock, with 31 of 41 precincts counted. The race for state's attorney was close. Joe Tolson, Republican, had 14,544 in all 41 precincts and Samuel H. Shapiro, Democrat, had 14,251.

In Lake county, Ind., the entire Democratic county slate was elected by substantial majorities. In La Porte county, with 24 out of 51 precincts reported, all the county races still were in doubt at midnight.

NEVADA.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 5 [Special].—Stuart Williams, Republican state chairman for Nevada, conceded at 10 o'clock tonight that President Roosevelt had carried Nevada by about 55 per cent vote and that Senator Key Pittman had been reëlected, but by a smaller percentage. McNary Casts Vote

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Charles L. McNary, Republican Vice Presidential candidate, casting his vote at Salem, Ore., yesterday. He said he voted for the Republican ticket.

Salem, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP).—Senator and Mrs. Charles L. McNary voted at 9:15 a. m. today at the Chemawa Grange hall. The Republican Vice Presidential candidate had no comment. After voting he returned to his farm for the first full day of rest since his campaign started several weeks ago.

CANDIDATE AND 2 OTHERS SHOT AT KENTUCKY POLLS

Solid South Is Still Solid —for Democrats.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5 (AP).—The shooting in "Bloody Breathitt" county of a candidate for the county school board today marred election day in Kentucky, where President Roosevelt piled up a majority over Republican Nominee Wendell Willkie.

On the basis of unofficial returns from 2,240 of the state's 4,343 precincts, the vote was: Roosevelt, 297,323; Willkie, 193,622.

Circuit Judge Chester A. Bach at Jackson said Bruce Cundiff, 55 years old, a candidate for the Breathitt county school board, and two others were shot and wounded at a polling booth. Bach added he had heard a precinct ballot box was "taken" but he knew no details.

In the November, 1921, election four men were killed and 17 wounded in a Breathitt county election feud.

In the senatorial race United States Senator A. B. Chandler in 2,240 precincts had 297,497 votes to 186,179 for his Republican opponent, Walter B. Smith.

Majorities Drop in South.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5 (AP).—Republican hopes that the third term issue would drive a wedge into the solid south went glimmering swiftly tonight as mounting returns once more shoved this sector's 124 electoral votes to President Roosevelt.

Unofficial returns placed all 11 of the "solid" states firmly in the Roosevelt list, but it appeared from late night tabulations that his majorities might be somewhat smaller than in 1936.

South Carolina in particular returned less than 20 to 1 for the President, as contrasted with some 70 to 1 four years ago. This shift put that state into a neck-and-neck race with Mississippi to see which would be the "most Democratic" state of the union.

The returns, giving the state, its electoral vote, and the count [the voting units being precincts except where otherwise indicated], are as follows:

Alabama—9; 1,107 boxes out of 2,300, Roosevelt, 140,984, Willkie, 21,224.

Arkansas—9; 642 out of 2,169, Roosevelt, 37,258; Willkie, 8,586.

Florida—7; 895 out of 1,428, Roosevelt, 246,183; Willkie, 97,560.

Louisiana—10; 481 out of 1,712, Roosevelt, 137,518; Willkie, 22,987.

Georgia—12; 1,410 out of 1,720, Roosevelt, 196,657; Willkie, 29,046.

Mississippi—9; 635 out of 1,668, Roosevelt, 87,190, Willkie 4,179.

North Carolina—13; 1,445 out of 1,916, Roosevelt, 477,988; Willkie, 131,373.

South Carolina—8; 953 out of 1,277, Roosevelt, 81,867; Willkie, 4,144.

Tennessee—11; 1,601 out of 2,300, Roosevelt, 181,960; Willkie, 57,891.

Texas—23; 224 of 254 counties, Roosevelt, 504,433; Willkie, 118,198.

Democrats Win West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—West Virginia apparently gave its eight electoral votes to President Roosevelt and elected Senator Matthew M. Neely as its 21st governor, incomplete returns from yesterday's election showed today. In 1,235 of 2,389 precincts the vote was: Roosevelt, 273,005; Willkie, 195,309.

Elect G. O. P. Congressman.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 6 Wednesday (AP).—Oklahoma, while giving its 11 electoral votes to President Roosevelt, elected its first Republican congressman in eight years, nearly complete returns showed. In 2,715 of 3,613 precincts the count was: Roosevelt, 338,045; Willkie, 229,748. In the 8th district congressional race, Ross Rizley, Republican, was leading 36,291 to 29,074.

ROOSEVELT WINS MASSACHUSETTS BY CLOSE MARGIN

Surge Carries Sen. Walsh to Re-election.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5 [Special].—President Roosevelt today carried Massachusetts, but by a margin probably less than the 174,000 by which he took its 17 electoral votes four years ago.

Returns from 1,285 precincts out of 1,810 gave: Roosevelt, 714,029; Willkie, 640,992.

The Democratic surge was large enough to reëlect Senator David I. Walsh over Henry Parkman Jr. and to endanger Gov. Everett Saltonstall's reëlection in his contest against Attorney General Paul A. Dever. Republicans appeared to have carried other state offices.

Gov. Saltonstall disclosed special strength in Boston, and if this were duplicated in industrial cities, his chances were considered bright. At midnight the contest for governor appeared extremely close.

Democrats Sweep Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6. [Wednesday] (AP).—President Roosevelt captured Connecticut's eight electoral votes on the basis of returns from Tuesday's election, leading Democrats to a victory that restored them to complete control of the state administration, including the governorship, and gave them the seven congressional seats at stake in the election.

The count of a record-breaking vote in the state's 169 towns gave Roosevelt, 417,858; Willkie, 3661,869.

United States Senator Francis T. Maloney, Democrat, exceeded even the President's victory margin in his fight for reëlection against his Republican rival, Paul L. Cornell, carrying the state by more than 65,000 votes.

Close in New Hampshire.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 5 (AP).—A spirited battle for New Hampshire's four electoral votes developed tonight as early returns trickled in from scattered communities in the Granite state, which four years ago staged the tightest finish in the nation in that Presidential race.

Returns from 282 of the state's 294 precincts gave President Roosevelt 110,933 votes to 99,891 for Wendell L. kie. In 1936 Mr. Roosevelt captured the state by 3,800 votes.

Sharing interest with the Presidential contest was another apparently close fight between State Senate President Robert O. Blood [R.], and former New Hampshire House Minority Leader F. Clyde Keefe [D], for the governorship. Gov. Francis Murphy, a Republican, did not seek reëlection. Neither of the state's United States Senate seats was at stake.

Willkie Takes Maine.

Portland, Me., Nov. 5 (AP).—Wendell Willkie captured Maine's five electoral votes tonight despite a push by President Roosevelt that carved the Republican plurality in the "down east" state to a fraction of that garnered by Alf M. Landon in 1936.

With 623 out of 629 precincts tabulated unofficially, Willkie had 163,732 votes to 154,782 for Mr. Roosevelt. The remaining votes were in small communities which generally vote strongly Republican.

Four years ago Landon won four of his eight electoral votes in Maine by 42,000 votes. Today's vote also contrasted sharply with the balloting in the state elections early in October, when the Republicans scored a sweep and elected Sumner Sewall [R.] as governor by a 70,000 margin.

Vermont for Willkie.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 5 (AP).—Wendell Willkie piled up a mounting lead over President Roosevelt tonight as the ballots were counted in traditionally Republican Vermont.

With 183 cities and towns reported out of 246 in the state, the Republican Presidential nominee had 42,876 votes to 28,574 for the President.

Partial returns showed Roosevelt was leading in only one of the first 11 of the state's 14 counties to report. A similar trend was recorded in favor of the Republican candidates for governor, two United States senate seats, and the state's single seat in the house of representatives.

Rhode Island to Roosevelt.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—By a greater margin than in 1936, President Roosevelt captured Rhode Island's four electoral votes today while Republican Gov. William H. Vanderbilt, seeking reëlection, went down to defeat at the hands of J. Howard McGrath.

Senator Peter G. Gerry [D.] was reëlected, and Democrats displaced Republicans in both of the state's seats in the national house of representatives.

The complete tally gave Mr. Roosevelt 181,881 votes to 138,432 for Wendell Willkie, giving the President a margin of 43,449, compared with a 40,221 edge over Alf Landon four years ago.

McGrath, a former United States attorney, amassed 177,161 votes to Vanderbilt's 139,820. In the senatorial battle, Gerry defeated Lieut. Gov. James O. McManus, 173,480 to 140,960.

JOHN N. GARNER 'TAKES A WALK,' FAILS TO VOTE

Uvalde, Tex., Nov. 5 (AP).—Vice President John N. Garner took a walk today. Unlike his wife, secretary, and hundreds of Uvalde citizens, he did not vote in the general election.

When his precinct box closed at 7 p. m. he had cast no ballot there, and county officials said he had not voted absentee. Secluded in his big brick residence, he gave no reason for breaking his voting habits of many years.

Election attachés said they could not recall when the Vice President had failed to vote heretofore. At many elections Garner has voted ballot No. 1 and Mrs. Garner, No. 2. This year Mrs. Garner voted at 8:15 a. m., 15 minutes after the polls opened, but Mr. Garner was not with her.

Mrs. Garner was accompanied to the voting place by Mrs. Louis Friday, the wife of Garner's secretary, who also voted at that time. Friday voted about three hours later.

500,000 LISTEN TO VOTE RETURNS IN TIMES SQUARE

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Half a million happy-go-lucky New Yorkers jammed Times Square tonight to watch election returns.

The crowd, strongly pro-Roosevelt, booed when Wendell Willkie's picture was flashed on a huge screen and cheered the portrait of President Roosevelt.

Traffic was halted in the neighborhood. Police estimated the crowd at 500,000. All the city's 19,000 policemen were on duty.

Manhattan firemen began to catch it soon after dusk, too. More than 100 alarms were turned in from 5 p. m. to 10 p. m. About half of them were the result of street bonfires set by election celebrators.

Bars, closed until 9 p. m., when the polls shut down, were swamped by customers when they opened.

REPUBLICANS CUT EARLY DEMOCRAT LEAD FOR JUDGES

Some G. O. P. Candidates May Win Bench Seats.

While the full Democratic slate of twelve candidates for Municipal court judgeships was in the lead early this morning, several of the Republican candidates were gaining as more precincts reported and there was a possibility that a few of the G. O. P. leaders might catch and pass the low men on the Democratic list.

Early returns had given the Democratic candidates a lead of nearly two to one. This margin was diminished sharply later and results from 2,100 precincts—about seven-twelfths of the 3,648 in Chicago—showed the low man among the Democrats, Judge LeRoy Hackett, with 497,029 votes, holding an edge of about only 7 to 6 over former Judge Edward B. Casey, high Republican, who had 418,738 votes.

The judgeships are each for six year terms. Eleven of the Democrats are judges seeking reëlection. In the following tabulation of the votes from 2,100 precincts, they are denoted by the letter S.

MISTAKES EMPLOYE FOR PROWLER; SHOOTS HIM IN HALL OF FLAT

Charles Dickman, a parking lot manager, was shot in the left thigh and slightly wounded last night in the hallway of the apartment building in which he lives at 1754 Madison street. Police said his employer, Mrs. Ollie Riley, who lives in the same building, explained that she shot him in the mistaken belief that he was a prowler trying to get into the Riley apartment.

Dickman is 36 years old. He operates a parking lot for Mrs. Rilye, who is 38, and her husband, Robert.

CANDIDATES GET VOTE (THEIR OWN) OUT EARLY IN DAY

Accompanied to Polls by Wives and Families.

Numerous candidates for public office voted early yesterday at their neighborhood polling places. Many were accompanied by their wives and members of their families, dressed in winter coats and suits against the chill which descended upon the city.

Promptly at 7:45 a. m., Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator, and his wife, cast their ballots at 7618 North East Lake terrace in the 6th precinct of the 49th ward. Mrs. James M. Slattery and her husband, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, voted at 10 a. m. at 1504 Farwell avenue in the 35th precinct of the 49th ward.

The Greens Voted Early.

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, and Mrs. Green attracted the attention of early voters at 8 a. m. at 532 Roscoe street, 32d precinct of the 45th ward.

States Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Democratic candidate for reelection, was accompanied to the polls at 846 West 79th street in the 50th precinct of the 18th ward at 10 a. m. by his wife and daughter, Rita. Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Courtney's opponent, voted at 8:30 a. m. at 511 Brompton place, polls for the 31st precinct of the 46th ward.

Frank Lyman, Democratic candidate for clerk of the probate court, voted at 10 a. m. at 757 Montrose avenue. His Republican rival, William John Granata, cast his ballot at 6:45 a. m. at 1637 Adams street. Coroner A. L. Brodie, Democratic candidate for reëlection, was at the polls at 3410 West 16th street at 9 a. m. Another Democratic candidate who voted before noon was Harold G. Ward for attorney general at Broadway and Catalpa avenue.

Present as Polls Open.

One of the earliest candidates to vote was Judge Edward B. Casey, running on the Republican ticket for judge of the Municipal court, who appeared at the polling place at Birchwood and Hoyne avenues promptly at 6 a. m. Harry N. Pritzker, another Republican candidate for the same office, cast his ballot at 8 a. m. at polls near 3800 Lake Shore drive. Republican candidate for auditor of public accounts, Arthur C. Lueder, voted at 9:30 a. m. at Broadway, just north of Waveland avenue.

Mayor Kelly and Mrs. Kelly were at the polling place for the 25th precinct of the 42d ward, 202 East Walton place, at 10:30 o'clock. A half hour later P. A. Nash, Cook county Democratic committeeman and former national committeeman, voted at the polls on Maypole avenue between Kedzie and Homan avenues.

DEMOCRATS WIN 8 GOVERNORSHIP RACES; LEAD IN 10

Republicans Are Ahead in 14 Contests.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 [Wednesday] (AP).—Tabulations early today show that Democrats had captured eight and Republicans one of the 33 governorship races in yesterday's elections.

In the undecided contests, Democrats led in 10 and Republicans in 14 on the basis of returns available at 3 a. m. [E. S. T.].

Democratic gains in New England swept one Republican governor—Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut—from office and placed Robert A. Hurley in it.

Other Democratic governors elected included: Homer W. Adkins, Arkansas; Spessard L. Holland, Florida; Eugene Talmadge, former governor, Georgia; Joseph M. Broughton, North Carolina; Prentice Cooper, Tennessee; W. Lee O'Daniel, incumbent, Texas, and former Senator Matthew M. Neeley, West Virginia.

Willis Wins Vermont.

The lone Republican elected was William H. Willis, Vermont.

Many sharply contested races developed in which, generally speaking, the Republican candidates were running ahead of Presidential Nominee Wendell L. Willkie.

Republicans held hopes of offsetting the loss of the Connecticut governorship by capturing the Nebraska race, in which Dwight Griswold held a wide margin over his Democratic opponent, Terry Carpenter. A Democrat now holds the office.

Ahead of Ticket.

Republican governors running ahead of their national tickets included Bricker of Ohio, Stassen of Minnesota, and Heil of Wisconsin.

In New Jersey, Charles Edison, former secretary of the navy, was trailing his Republican opponent, Robert C. Hendrickson by a wide margin, with half of the precincts reporting.

3 C. I. O. LEADERS AND 4 WOMEN GUILTY IN PLOT

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Three leaders of a C. I. O. union and four women charged with being involved in a plot to set fire to the factory and stores of the Kent Stores, Inc., a Long Island cleaning and dyeing establishment, were found guilty tonight by a jury in Queens county court of unlawful entry, attempted arson, attempted malicious mischief, and conspiracy. The jury deliberated for 25 hours.

Those convicted were Alexander Hoffman, 38 years old, general manager of local No. 239 of the Cleaners and Dyers union, a C. I. O. affiliate; Frank Palermo, 27, business agent of the union; Solomon Pelish, 30, assistant organizer; Pearl Spivack, 23, a stenographer in Hoffman's office; Norma Rimland, 20, a sister-in-law of Palermo, and Rita Dembitz, 20, and May Malachowski, 22, both former employés of the Kent stores.

They were specifically charged with placing phosphorous pellets in garments in an attempt to set the fire.

Browder, Communist Party Candidate, Passes Up Vote

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Earl Browder, communist candidate for President, did not attempt to vote today. He was registered over the protest of Ernest Riegelman, chairman of his district election board. Riegelman, a Republican, challenged Browder on the ground the latter had been convicted of a felony—fraudulent use of a passport. Browder contended the conviction did not bar him from voting under state laws. He has appealed the conviction.

PRESIDENTIAL TREND SURPRISE TO G. O. P. WORKERS IN CHICAGO

Activities at Chicago headquarters of the Republican national committee at 120 South La Salle street began to cease around 11 o'clock last night as the trend of the national election became apparent.

John D. M. Hamilton, executive director of the committee, spent the early part of the evening listening to returns in his suite in the Ambassador hotel. Later he went to the national offices, heard returns, and conferred with workers and officials of the committee for an hour and a half. He left the offices at 11 p. m., declining to comment.

An atmosphere of surprise at the national trend was apparent among party workers.

W-G-N AND MBS GIVE NEW TYPE VOTE COVERAGE

Radio Telephone Calls Liven Broadcast.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system gave radio listeners from coast to coast a new and exclusive kind of election coverage last night.

There were two novel features in Mutual's elaborate coverage. The first was a round robin—with five minute pickups from a score of cities from coast to coast, giving up-to-the-minute pictures of state and regional contests.

But the dramatic innovation in the election night show, introduced by Fulton Lewis Jr., Mutual's Washington commentator, was a series of informal telephone interviews with political leaders and key figures in the campaign from coast to coast.

Phone Calls Broadcast.

Early in the evening Lewis had a telephone moved to the table at which he gave the returns. Then he placed calls to a dozen party leaders. As they responded thruout the nation, Fulton interrupted his bulletin reading to interview them by telephone. Listeners could not hear the voices of the men called, but Lewis repeated their words and at the close of the call summarized what had been said.

Lewis twice talked to James A. Farley who gave his impressions of the possible results as they were shaping at the moment.

Hear Taft and Clark.

Among those whose analyses were brought to Mutual were Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, Senator Robert A. Taft and Gov. John Bricker of Ohio, Frank Murphy, publisher of the Hartford Times; Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, and Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana.

After Ed Flynn, Democratic national chairman, had claimed a Roosevelt victory, Lewis received responses in quick succession from Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin; Herbert Hoover, speaking from Palo Alto, and Mr. Farley a second time.

Hear Willkie and McNary.

Others who answered calls were Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Claude Wickard, secretary of agriculture.

Wendell Willkie's brief words at 11:20 were broadcast and a few minutes later came Senator McNary's concession of victory to the Democrats.

Arthur Sears Henning, head of the Tribune's Washington bureau, and Arthur Evans, politics writer, gave their interpretations early in the evening.

Just before midnight W-G-N moved its microphones to local Republican headquarters, where Chairman John T. Dempsey analyed Illinois returns.

In the round robin Mutual affiliated stations relayed local election accounts from New York, Boston, Detroit, Baltimore, Columbus, Lexington, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Lincoln, Denver, and finally the Brown Derby in Hollywood.

SEN. LUCAS CLAIMS 7 MIDWEST STATES FOR THE PRESIDENT

At midnight last night Senator Scott Lucas, chairman of the midwestern regional headquarters of the Democratic national committee, predicted that the seven states of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Ohio would join the "Roosevelt victory parade."

In a formal statement given out at his headquarters in the Stevens hotel, Senator Lucas claimed that Illinois would "go for Roosevelt by 225,000, Ohio by 125,000, Indiana by 40,000, and Missouri and Kentucky by large majorities and Wisconsin by 25,000." He also said Roosevelt had an "excellent chance" of carrying Michigan and predicted that heavy Democratic precincts yet to be heard from in Iowa would place that state in the Roosevelt column.

"I am sure," he concluded, "the people of the midlands, like those from the rest of the nation, will now forget all bitterness of the recent campaign and will stand shoulder to shoulder in presenting a united front in the international crisis."

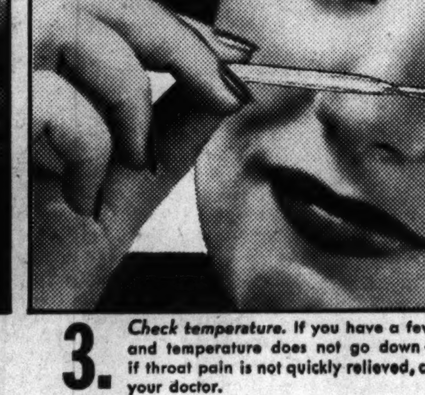
FAMOUS DIRECTIONS
TO RELIEVE PAINFUL SYMPTOMS OF COLDS FAST

Note Easy Steps in Pictures ...Be Sure to get quick-acting BAYER Aspirin

1. To relieve headache, body discomfort and aches, take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. For sore throat from cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in ⅓ glass of water and gargle. Pain, rawness are eased in a short time.



3. Check temperature. If you have a fever and temperature does not go down—if throat pain is not quickly relieved, call your doctor.

Sore throat from colds also eased in a hurry! No strong medicines to upset system.

Don't wait if you even suspect you are catching a cold. At the first sign, faithfully follow the directions in the pictures above—the simplest and among the most effective methods known to modern science.

See Your Doctor. Even though he may wholeheartedly approve using Bayer Aspirin to relieve painful symptoms, you should not fail to see your family physician, because many colds may lead to serious consequences. Largely with medical approval, this simple scientific method of relief has taken the place of old-fashioned "shot-gun" medicine for colds, which may upset the system, or have little or no effect. Literally millions have adopted it.

Try this way. You will say it is unequalled, we are sure. When you buy, however, be sure you are not given a substitute for the fast-acting Bayer product you want. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name, not for just "aspirin". And see that you get it.

Why Bayer Aspirin Starts to Work So Fast
Drop a genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablet in water. Almost instantly it starts to disintegrate—is ready to go to work. Make this test, and see for yourself why Bayer Aspirin acts so quickly!

CONVOY SHELLED BY NAZI RAIDER; HEAR 3 SOS CALLS

Foe Believed Warship of Graf Spee Class.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—A running fight in mid-Atlantic, half way between Ireland and Newfoundland, between a German raider of the Graf Spee pocket battleship class and a British convoy was told in three terse radio distress messages today, but silence shrouded the fate of the vessels attacked. The messages were picked up by Mackay radio.

"Being shelled by enemy ship of the Graf Spee class," the 16,698 ton passenger liner Rangitiki wirelessed at 11:24 a. m. [Chicago time].

An hour and 39 minutes later the 4,952 ton freighter Cornish City sent a message that it was being shelled in almost the same vicinity [52.50 north latitude, 32.15 west longitude], but gave no hint of the character or tonnage of the attacking vessel.

An hour and 31 minutes later Mackay intercepted a warning message from the Portishead station in England saying the convoy was still being "leisurely attacked."

First Attack on Convoy.

The messages, shipping circles said, were the first of the war indicating an attack on a British convoy by a German raider.

The position of the reported attack is 600 miles west of the declared German blockade zone around the British Isles. Maritime circles here expressed belief it was outside the point where British warship escorts pick up convoys bound for England.

The 531-foot Rangitiki usually trades between England and New Zealand. It was last reported in August passing thru the Panama canal with 170 refugee children for New Zealand. The Cornish City trades between America and England.

At an east coast Canadian port it was learned tonight that the Rangitiki and Cornish City left there recently. The passenger liner was believed to have been carrying civilians.

Germany is known to have only two warships of the Graf Spee class left, the Admiral Scheer and the Luetzow. The latter formerly was the Deutschland. The Graf Spee itself met an ignominious end by scuttling outside Montevideo harbor last December after it was driven to cover by three British cruisers.

Swedish Freighter Sunk.

LISBON, Nov. 5 (AP).—Sinking of the 1,583 ton Swedish freighter Meggie in the Atlantic on Oct. 29 by a submarine which crew members identified as Italian was disclosed last night when a lifeboat bearing 10 survivors landed at Saint Michel Island in the Azores. The survivors expressed belief that the 10 other members of the crew were lost.

Windsor Castle Safe.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—The authoritative British Press association today reported the 19,141 ton steamer Windsor Castle had docked unscathed at a British port, contradicting German claims that it had been damaged by air bombs. The captain said the Germans dropped four bombs, but all missed.

The admiralty announced the sinking of two German submarines, one of which it stated had sunk the Canadian liner Empress of Britain.

ELECTION STIRS BRITAIN AND GETS RADIO UP EARLY

Flash Results in Special 4:30 A. M. Broadcast.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—The British public has followed the United States Presidential campaign so closely the British Broadcasting corporation has arranged special broadcasts of election returns.

First returns will be broadcast at 4:30 a. m. Wednesday [9:30 p. m., Chicago time, Tuesday], an hour when the radio usually is silent.

The election crowded the war out of the headlines of most morning papers today.

Americans in Mexico for Willkie.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Nov. 5.—A number of American residents and tourists cast absentee ballots in the United States election at the American consulate here today, and others were disappointed at being unable to vote because they had not applied previously for ballots. A straw vote at the American Club showed Mexico City's 7,500 Americans were 73 per cent in favor of Wendell L. Willkie. It was considered the election result will have an important bearing on the political situation here.

Sees Little Change in U. S. Policy.

ROME, Nov. 5.—In discussing the American Presidential campaign, the newspaper La Stampa today expressed its preference for Wendell L. Willkie as the candidate less heavily committed to an antiaxis policy. However, the newspaper stressed that no "rapid" changes in the United States' foreign policy should be expected regardless of who wins.

If President Roosevelt is reëlected, La Stampa said, the United States political system will assume a "dictatorial aspect."

Election Hits Greek Front Pages.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 5 (AP).—Altho Greece has a nine day old war on her hands, news of the United States election campaign has been displayed on newspaper front pages along with dispatches from the Albanian front.

Spanish Call Programs Similar.

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 5 (AP).—Editorial comment in the Spanish press on the United States election today was headed by an article in the newspaper ABC, which asserted the Axis countries had lost interest because of similarity of the programs of President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie.

Arriba, the Falange's organ, merely said victory indications were slightly favorable to President Roosevelt.

In general, little space was devoted to the election.

Gunman Shoots Japanese Lieutenant in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5 (AP).—A new outbreak of terrorism occurred today in Hongkew, Japanese occupied portion of Shanghai's international settlement, when an unidentified gunman shot and seriously wounded a Japanese lieutenant, Hisao Makamura. The gunman escaped in a crowded street.

ITALIANS SHELLED BY GREEKS NEAR BASE IN ALBANIA

Athens Air Force Attacks Troop Columns.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 5.—Greek soldiers, fighting fiercely along the entire Greek-Albanian frontier, have scored new successes and are pouring shells into the territory around the important Italian base city of Koritza, it was reliably reported tonight.

The situation as summed up in reports here was:

1. Greek troops occupying hills in Albanian territory south of Koritza are shelling the roads and the vicinity of the city, an Italian concentration point.

[Border dispatches reaching Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, said the Greeks had cut communications between the main Italian army and 30,000 Italians in the Koritza area.]

2. The Macedonian front is "quite satisfactory."

3. In the central sector the Greek air force heavily attacked Italian troop columns while ground forces captured a number of prisoners and a quantity of war equipment.

4. Greek forces are holding their positions on the southern sector, just north of the Kalamas river, near the Ionian coast.

British Down Bomber.

Meanwhile there was increasing evidence that the British are giving active aid. It was stated that British fighter planes shot down an Italian bomber over central Greece.

In addition, seven other Italian planes caught on the ground at the Koritza airdrome were destroyed by Greek planes and two others of the Italian squadrons which raided Piraeus, the port of Athens, were reported shot down.

Athens itself had its longest air raid alarm of the war—1 hour and 15 minutes.

The Italians dropped a number of bombs in an unsuccessful attack on Piraeus and the towns of Phaleron and Ellinoco in the Athens area.

[Reuters, British news agency, reported from Athens that two civilians were killed and six injured when six heavy Italian bombers raided Piraeus, Bomb Jugo-Slav Town.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 5 (AP).—Three times today warplanes bombed the Jugo-Slav frontier city of Bitolj, on the edge of the Italian-Greek war zone, killing nine persons, injuring 21, and causing heavy property damage.

Authorities said they had not been able to identify the planes, and Italian, British, and Greek diplomats immediately disclaimed responsibility. The Italians blamed the Greeks. Raoul Rosetti, the Greek minister, scoffed at the idea.

An official Jugo-Slav announcement said any further attacks would be met "with all the means of our armed forces."

Raid Alarms in Switzerland.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 5 (AP).—Switzerland had one of the longest air raid alarms tonight since the war began. Planes were heard over Basel. Both Berne and Zurich had one and one-half hour alarms. Alarms in Switzerland usually indicate British bombers are en route to or from attacks on Italy.

English Express Wrecked; Second Train in Two Days

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The crack Euston-Perth express, speeding north thru the blackout collided with a freight train near Gretna tonight, killing the engineer and seriously injuring many people. It was the second express train blackout accident in 48 hours. The London-Lands End train was wrecked early yesterday. The Perth bound train had just crossed the Scottish border when it ran headlong into the freight train's locomotive.

Churches in Rome Safe, British Reassure Pope

ROME, Nov. 5.—Great Britain has renewed to Pope Pius XII. its assurance that Rome churches and buildings belonging to the Holy See would not be bombed. The British ambassador to the Holy See received instructions from London soon after the beginning of the Italo-Greek war, it was explained today, to give these assurances.

Son of Candidate Slain, Ballots Burn in Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 5 (AP).—The son of a candidate for mayor was shot dead today in the town of Lajas and a ballot box was burned at Gurabo as Puerto Rico voted under the eyes of 80 personal representatives of Gov. William D. Leahy.

5 Natives Reported Dead on Typhoon Swept Guam

GUAM, Nov. 5 (AP).—Five natives were reported today to have lost their lives in the typhoon that swept this tiny island. All Americans were safe.

TWO MORE SHIPS SAIL FOR PATROL DUTY ON COAST

Two more ships of the ninth district naval reserve, following four that left Chicago Monday, sailed yesterday from the Naval Armory dock at the foot of Randolph street, bound for the Brooklyn navy yards and Atlantic patrol duty. They were the U. S. YP-68 [yacht patrol], manned entirely by a Chicago crew, with Lieut. Robert H. Wanless in command, and the SC-330 [submarine chaser], from St. Louis.

Two more vessels will sail within the week.

The ninth district has a fleet of 18 training ships. All have been ordered to Brooklyn, where they are to be equipped for winter patrol duty. With the fleet go 600 men, 200 of whom are from Chicago. Capt. E. A. Evers is squadron commander of the ninth district reserves.

U. S. Survey Party Begins Work on Bermuda Bases

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 5.—The nucleus of the survey party which will prepare for construction of United States defense bases here has arrived and begun work. The party, which will be increased soon, includes Maj. Donald G. White of the United States army engineering corps, Edward L. Sinslow Jr., Bernard R. Huetter, and George F. Madden, civil employés of the engineering department. Also in the party are Lieut. Col. L. A. Fox of the medical corps and Capt. Baker of the sanitation corps, who are gathering data on health and general living conditions. There is no indication yet as to the size and location of the bases.

REPORT HAMBURG BEING REBUILT BY IMPORTED DUTCH

New York, N. Y., Nov. 5 [Special].—Nazis have taken 4,000 Dutchmen from Holland to Hamburg "to build up what has been destroyed" by the British air force, a free Dutch publisher reported here today.

Arriving on the Eastern Prince, the publisher, William L. Boas, said the information had come to him in London from Dutch Labor party sources in the occupied Netherlands.

Boas said Queen Wilhelmina was conducting the free Dutch government from a London hotel. He estimated the Dutch army in England at 10,000 men, including aviators. "The whole Dutch fishing fleet is now being managed from Scotland," Boas added, "and there must be 7,000 Dutch sailors in England.

VOTE COSTS MORE IN PUERTO RICO —WAGE-HOUR LAW

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 5.—How much vote buying there was in today's election remained obscure but that the unit cost per vote was higher than in previous elections appeared certain. One of the chief reasons advanced was the application of the wage and hour law to the island.

The standard price for a vote ordinarily has been a day's wage plus food for a man. The women were getting more and more particular about the kind of dresses they would accept for performing their election duties.

The wage and hour laws have boosted the island's wage rate and the price of a vote has increased according to persons who should know.

ARMY MAY ABANDON CAMP SITE IN IOWA; HINTS LACK OF WATER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Surveys have been started to determine whether a sufficient water supply is available to allow the 7th corps area training center to be built on a site selected in Wayne and Decatur counties in Iowa, war department officials said today.

A contract had been signed for construction of the camp and work had been started when the department late last week halted operations. Informed persons said work was stopped because of indications that there was not enough water to supply the large camp planned.

If investigations now under way show this to be the case, one official said today, the site probably would be abandoned. However, if sufficient water were found to be available, work would be resumed.

ITALIANS CLAMP BAN ON PRESS OF SWITZERLAND

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 5.—The Swiss press, with the exception of the Neue Zuercher Zeitung and the Basler Nachrichten, has been banned from Italy on grounds that it "presented unilateral reports of the progress of the Italian campaign in Greece."

Italian sources explained that Rome objected to the "prominence given to news from anti-Italian sources, notably British." They pointed to dispatches describing "without any foundation whatsoever" a naval battle off Corfu in which some Italian ships were sunk and other seriously damaged, as well as reports of the "pretended capture of thousands of Italian soldiers when the Greek soldiers advanced into Albania."

It is understood here that official newspaper circles have been informed that this measure is temporary. It will become positive for those papers which "do not immediately give proof of adopting a more objective attitude in their reports."

WAR WILL REACH PEAK IN '43 OR '44, SAYS CHURCHILL

Reports 14,000 Civilians Killed by Nazis.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons today that 1943 and 1944 probably will be the crucial years of the war "if the enemy does not surrender or collapse in the meantime."

He warned against undue optimism or depression and assured the country he was doing his best to aid Greece, build up Britain's home defenses, recruit and train a big army to fight on the European continent, maintain war production, offset shipping losses, and keep the public services operating.

Fourteen thousand civilians have been killed and 20,000 seriously wounded, he revealed, since the German blitzkrieg started. Eighty per cent of the casualties occurred in London. Only 300 soldiers have been killed in the air attacks on Britain.

Ireland's Stand a Burden.

Churchill said the rise in the number of sinkings by U-boats was "more serious than air raids," and caused an uproar with these words concerning neutral Ireland:

"The fact we cannot use the south and west coasts of Ireland to refuel our flotillas and aircraft and thus protect the trade whereby Ireland as well as Britain lives—that fact is a most heavy and grievous burden."

After the prime minister had concluded, members of all parties voiced demands for use of the Irish ports.

Ex-U. S. Destroyers Aid.

"The 50 American destroyers are rapidly coming into service just when they are most needed," Churchill told the house, "and the main flow of the new construction started at the outbreak of the war is now coming along."

"In spite of serious losses, we have still very nearly as much shipping tonnage as we had at the outbreak of war and a great deal of neutral shipping which used to trade freely with us is now under our control. Moreover, our U-boat hunting is still having its success. Two more German U-boats have been sunk in the last two or three days on the western approaches, one of them the U-boat which sank the Empress of Britain.

"Intense efforts are being made by the admiralty and also by the ministry of shipping to cope with these difficulties and . . . I personally can not doubt that they will be able to cope with them and be able to bring in all vital supplies.

"We must expect that next year still heavier U-boat attacks will be made upon us, and we are making immense preparations of all kinds to meet them.

Lashes Duce for War on Greece.

"A new call has suddenly been made upon us. The Italian dictator, perhaps embarrassed by the somewhat florid flirtations of Monsieur Laval [Vice Premier Pierre Laval of France] with the German conqueror—or it may be part of some new predatory design—has, in his customary cold-blooded fashion, fallen upon the small but famous and immortal Greek nation.

"France and Britain had agreed to go to the aid of Greece if she is a victim of 'unprovoked aggression.' It was a joint agreement, but unhappily the Vichy government is engaged at this moment in sincere and loyal collaboration with Herr Hitler in his scheme for establishing a so-called new order in Europe. "We are, therefore, left alone.

One Thing to Do: 'Our Best.'

"In the circumstances, there is only one thing we can do. We will do our best. We have already established a naval and air base in Crete.

"We have begun bombing attacks upon military objectives in cities and bases in the south of Italy. That will continue on an ever growing scale. I would also say that other forces are in movement with the desire and design to help the Greeks to the utmost of our capacity."

IRISH CONFIDENT PORTS ARE SAFE FROM ENGLAND

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 5.—While no statement was available tonight on the attitude of the Irish government toward Prime Minister Winston Churchill's speech to the British parliament, no apprehension was felt here regarding the safety of Irish ports.

[Churchill said Britain shouldered a heavy burden in the fact that it could not use the south and west coasts of Ireland for air and naval bases to protect trade.]

An agreement of April, 1938, handed the ports absolutely to Ireland, and any attempt to seize them would be resisted, according to the De Valera government. It is believed here that Britain will respect the agreement.

HATCHES ALL ARE BATTENED DOWN AT ABBOTT HALL

400 Midshipmen Train on Land School Near Lake.

Abbott Hall, Northwestern university's new $1,700,000 dormitory, at 435 East Superior street, has to all intents and purposes become a ship for midshipmen quartered there.

The floors have become "decks," the stairs "ladders," the walls "bulkheads," meals are "mess" and the monitor jobs on each floor—or deck—have become "standing a watch," according to the midshipmen who, 400 strong, are students in the United States Naval Reserve training school.

War Just Question of When.

War is not a question of "maybe" but of "when" to many of the midshipmen, one of them said.

The midshipmen, bronzed by the tropical sun after a month cruise to Panama, look trim and fit in white duck uniforms.

Midshipmen who described their activities included Third Company Commander Robert M. Hunter of Fresno, Cal., Fred W. Baxter of San Bernardino, Cal., and J. D. Shea, of Hancock, Mich. They, as have the other midshipmen, have had at least two years of college, are physically fit, and unmarried.

A Typical Day.

"Our day gets under way at 6:20 a. m.," Midshipman Hunter said. "From 8 o'clock to 4:30 we have classes, from 4:30 to 8 o'clock in the evening we are free, and from 8 to 9:30 we study. Taps is blown at 10:30."

This program is in force five full days a week and until noon on Saturday. From then until 8 p. m. Sunday they get "shore leave" and may leave the Abbott Hall "boat."

"One of the disadvantages of this routine," said Midshipman Hunter rather wistfully, "is we don't get any practical experience. Once in a while, tho, we get to inspect the real guns and equipment at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Get Training Aboard Ship.

"I understand that after we finish our schooling here we'll get a little practical polishing up by shipping aboard some of the navy's craft," he continued. "And, brother, do we want it!"

The three midshipmen agreed that their classes in navigation, seamanship, ordnance and drilling are far harder than their college courses. They said they'd "never learned so much before in such a short time."

The trainees will become ensigns in the naval reserve when they complete the course.

BRITISH FLY INTO GALE; BOMB NAZI 'INVASION PORTS'

Londoners Dive to Safety Under New Attacks.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP). — British bombing squadrons flying in the teeth of a southerly gale attacked German targets on the French "invasion coast" tonight.

Observers along the English channel said they could see flashes of exploding bombs on the French coast, the sweep of searchlights and bursting antiaircraft shells.

The attacks seemed aimed at Boulogne harbor—which the British air ministry said was raided Monday night also — and the German long-range guns at Cape Gris Nez.

Simultaneously guns defending the empire capital roared into action against the regular German night air attack.

The German air force made four attempts to raid London during the day but each time the British said the bombers were beaten off by British fighters. The air ministry reported seven German planes shot down and six British fighters lost.

Millions Scurry to Shelter.

As the usual evening alarm sent London's millions scurrying to shelters, bombs were heard exploding in the metropolitan area above the noise of the antiaircraft barrage.

London had two brief alarms before noon, but no bombs fell in the city. Bombs were dropped on coastal areas as dogfights raged overhead, and several houses were destroyed.

A government communique described Monday night's German raids, which followed 24 hours of comparative inactivity, as "widespread and on a fairly heavy scale," but said casualties and damage were not heavy.

London was the main objective of the night raids. Bombs also fell, however, the government said, on Merseyside, the Liverpool dock area, on two towns in the industrial Midlands, and numerous unidentified places in Scotland and southeast and east England.

1,500 Bombs on London.

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP) A nightlong hail of more than 1,500 bombs of "all calibers" on London and hits on important targets from southern England to Scotland were reported by the German high command today.

London again was the main objective Monday night, the communique said, but day and night attacks also were made thruout the British Isles "despite continued unfavorable weather."

"Between 7 p. m. Monday and 6:30 a. m. Tuesday," it declared, "fighting planes flying in continuous waves over the British capital dropped a total of more than 1,500 bombs of all calibers."

DNB, the official German news agency, added that German planes attacking the railroad line between London and Southend, at the mouth of the Thames, hit the tracks, a station, a factory, and a train, causing damage which will require extensive reconstruction.

Hit Airdromes and Barracks.

Airdromes, barracks, munition depots, and industrial and traffic facilities were hit, the high command said. It reported "a large number" of planes destroyed on the ground in new attacks on Wattisham and Ford air bases, "big" explosions and fires following night raids on Liverpool and Coventry and violent blasts in industrial areas at Hillington, Leith, and other Scottish centers.

8 SAIL 21 DAYS IN OPEN BOAT TO REACH BAHAMAS

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 5 (AP).—Eight men in a small open boat have landed in the Bahamas with a story that they sailed 800 miles from Trinidad, just off the northern coast of South America, to this British colony in 21 days.

They landed Sunday at Eleuthera, east of here. Officials asked the Trinidad government for information about them.

COLD WEATHER HITS FRANCE IN COAL SHORTAGE

Few Buildings Heated; Fuel Rations Delayed.

PARIS, via Berlin [Delayed], Oct. 30 (AP).—Cold weather struck unheated France this week. With coal supplies almost exhausted and most office buildings and public establishments without heat, Parisians shivered and donned more clothing.

Electric radiators, virtually the only heating facilities available, were at a premium.

Ration Tickets Not Available.

Parisans with friends at the few hotels and buildings which are heated huddled in groups around radiators.

French authorities announced plans have been completed for rationing coal—scarce because of transport difficulties resulting from the war—but tickets will not be available for several weeks.

Coal for November will be parceled out in pound lots, instead of tons. The amount allowed will depend upon the number of persons in a family or office.

Rations Set for Families.

These rations have been established for November:

Families of one to three persons, 110 pounds; families of four to five persons, 165 pounds; families of six to seven persons, 265 pounds; families of eight to nine persons, 320 pounds; families above nine persons, 430 pounds.

Possession of coal tickets is no guarantee that coal will be delivered, however, because deliveries are contingent upon a dealer's supplies and transport facilities.

The government has urged families to conserve fuel by closing off most of their houses and gathering in one or two rooms.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Stebbins Collapses While Voting

Ionia, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special]. — Allen E. Stebbins, 68 years old, lieutenant governor in the Comstock administration, collapsed from a heart attack today when he insisted on voting, contrary to doctors' orders. He was carried from the polling place, but not until he had deposited his straight Democratic ballot in the ballot box. His condition was reported as serious, but it is believed he will recover.

NAZIS, RUSSIANS IN NEGOTIATIONS, BUCHAREST TOLD

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 5 (AP). —The official Iron Guard newspaper today said negotiations between Germany and Russi awere under way and predicted Russian Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Morotov might go to Vienna to confer with the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano. Recently German sources here reported German-Russian negotiations under way, seeking agreement concerning the Balkans and the near east, especially regions where their interests might overlap, such as the Dardanelles or the oil fields of Iran [Persia].

Sir Arthur was credited with having saved more lives than any other living ship commander. After the Titanic rescue he received a gold medal from the United States congress. He retired in 1931 after 36 years with the Cunard Line.

REPORT SECOND ITALIAN U-BOAT HIDES IN TANGIER

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Tangier today said a second Italian submarine, pursued by British destroyers, sought refuge in the harbor of Tangier last night. The first to anchor at Tangier, the former international port of Morocco now taken over by Spain, also had been chased by the British.

Reuters quoted "a reliable source" as reporting that three submarines had been sunk in the Strait of Gibraltar.

The Italians admitted Sunday two of their submarines had not "returned to their base."

NAZIS REGIMENT JEWISH FIRMS IN OCCUPIED FRANCE

New Military Ordinance Made Public.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Oct. 24 [by Courier to Berlin] [Delayed]. — The second ordinance of the German military authorities regarding Jews appeared today. It goes into effect immediately in the occupied area of France, where the legislation of the Vichy government regarding Jews also is supposedly in force.

The present ordinance is intended to supplement and harmonize with French legislation and its application, and assumes coöperation between the German and French authorities.

Banks Covered in Law.

The ordinance starts with a definition of what constitutes an "economic enterprise," extending it to cover banks, insurance companies, notaries, and lawyers, brokers' firms, and real estate companies. These are considered Jewish if the owners are Jews or a partner is Jewish. Companies are regarded as Jewish if more than a third of the stockholders are Jews, if Jews hold more than a third of the stock, if the manager is a Jew, or if more than a third of the board of directors is Jewish.

In other cases the prefect of the department in which a company has its office may serve notice on it when it is under predominant Jewish influence.

All such "Jewish enterprises" must be registered before Nov. 1 as well as the branches of firms whose main office is in unoccupied territory. The declaration must contain full details of the business, its assets and liabilities.

Must Declare Holdings.

The third section of the ordinance requires Jews and private Jewish companies to declare their holdings, investments, and real estate.

The fourth section, intended to cover attempts to evade the law by transfer of property, specifies that all such transactions which took place after May 23 may be declared null and void by the chief of the German military administration.

The fifth section states that a manager may be appointed to administer the business of any Jewish enterprise.

Finally, infractions of the ordinance may be punished by unspecified fines or prison terms or both and the property in question may be confiscated. [Here five lines were censored.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 5.—Three hundred operators of a policy game were taken last night by the steamer Cubatao to Grande Island, where they will be confined for three months. About 100 more were sent away today. Among those sent to the island were the Lopes Fernandes brothers, wealthy policy bankers. Police began a campaign against policy operators, bankers, and players a week ago and have arrested 800. Many were freed because it was their first offense. Police of all states are coöperating in the drive.

WINDSORS PLAN INSPECTION OF BAHAMAS ISLES

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 5.—The duke and duchess of Windsor plan to leave Saturday for a six day visit to Harbour island, Eleuthera island, and Great Exuma island. The duke is interested in seeing whether the principles of the United States Civilian Conservation Corps may be applied to the problems of the backward islands. The duchess is interested in the medical and nursing facilities on the islands. Unlike Nassau, most of the other Bahamas islands are backward and primitive.

"Good thing elections don't come every week"

HOLD ON, THERE—How do you know there isn't an election every week?

How would you like to run for re-election in every town in the U. S. A. once a week?

And get millions of Americans to step up voluntarily and say, "I like you even more than I did last week"... and pay money to prove it?

In wooing the American public successfully every week, The Saturday Evening Post has just naturally discovered a few things:

—that most Americans hate to be kept in the dark. They want to know the whole story, complete, wide-angle. No pre-digested summaries. (See Demaree Bess' report on the Nazis in this week's Post.)

—that most Americans prefer to listen to people who know what they're talking about. They will thank you to let experts do the writing. (Read Jules Romains, Europe's first man of letters, in this week's Post.)

—that most Americans like success. They want to read lives of great Americans and see just how they achieved fame. (Turn to Will Rogers' life, in this week's Post.)

It must be so.

Otherwise, wouldn't some weekly magazine by now have topped the Post's all-time high of three-and-a-quarter million copies? None ever has.

Wouldn't some other magazine by now have built as much confidence in its advertising pages as the Post? None ever has.

Wouldn't some other magazine by now be earning an advertising revenue comparable to The Saturday Evening Post's? None ever has.

IN THE POST ★ OUT TODAY

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN VICTORY AND DEFEAT.

At this writing it appears that Dwight Green, the Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and Wayland Brooks, the Republican candidate for the senate, have been elected. Wendell Willkie is running well behind these two. If he has any chance to carry Illinois it is a slim one.

The Republican state convention took place before the Republican national convention in Philadelphia. In Illinois the Republican party took a strong line on foreign affairs. The candidates from this state ran on a noninterventionist platform. The party in Illinois declared that it stood "for Americanism and peace; the Democratic party stands for internationalism and war."

The platform voiced a demand for a strong national defense to guard the country against invasion and went on to "insist that not one drop of the blood of American youth shall be spilled on a foreign shore for the purpose of interfering in any European or Asiatic conflict."

That was the platform upon which Green and Brooks ran and the platform on which they were victorious. The Illinois delegation to the Philadelphia convention tried to write into the national platform an equally strong and unequivocal declaration against participation in foreign wars. Mr. Brooks made a valiant fight in the resolutions committee, but in the end his ideas were watered down.

Ten days before the Philadelphia convention, THE TRIBUNE had said in its leading editorial:

"It would be absurd to pretend that in the Republican party there are no men who, like Mr. Roosevelt, wish this country to declare war. If their intrigue succeeds, and the Republicans come out for war or evade the issue with ambiguous phrases, the party might almost as well adjourn the convention without bothering to choose a candidate. The Republicans cannot expect to beat Mr. Roosevelt at his own game."

That conclusion was accepted by the Republican party in Illinois, but at Philadelphia the intrigue succeeded in some part. The platform as adopted did not include the strong language which we in Illinois had employed. The references to "not one drop of the blood of American youth" were included in the early drafts, only to be omitted. The candidate thru most of the campaign carefully avoided giving offense to the interventionists, with the result that was forecast in these columns in mid-June.

A strong noninterventionist platform carried the party to victory in Illinois. If the national platform and the national candidate had taken the same line it seems reasonable to believe they would have enjoyed an equal measure of success.

THE TALK OF PEACE FOR CHRISTMAS.

The persistent rumors of peace before Christmas may have nothing more substantial back of them than the thought of what a Christmas it could be if there were peace. Berlin says the talk originates in London. London says the suggestions start in Berlin. It is, however, about time for Herr Hitler to decorate the European scene with some oratory, and he may soon do so. He might be willing to cash in his present gains and rest a bit.

The interesting question is whether the British empire, intact, and a Nazi controlled Europe could get along together in the world for a period which would permit natural changes to evolve. There will be some natural changes. Where there is such centralized personal government there are changes when the persons change. There might be something different after Hitler, after Mussolini, and after Stalin. Each may have his successor, but that successor will not be himself.

The successor may not have the energy, the talent, the showmanship, or the same power to dominate. We may be certain that everywhere there are a great many people who are tired of being dominated, tired of being strenuous and on short commons. In the long run a good time is preferred to an heroic one. A peace which would allow mortality to take its toll in high places might give Europe a chance to shake itself down and take the form which is to prevail for a generation or so.

TIN AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

With the rapid rise in this country of the synthetic rubber industry tin has become the raw material of which the United States would stand in greatest need if war cut our normal lines of supply. The bulk of the world's supply of ore comes from two places, Bolivia and the Straits Settlement. There is virtually none within the United States.

This, however, is only half of the deficiency. It is not only the ore supplies that are threatened, but the refining centers as well. Great Britain monopolizes the smelting of tin. Bolivian ore is taken to England to be smelted before we get the metal. While our navy can protect the routes to Bolivia, the mines there would be useless if the British smelters were destroyed or captured by the Nazis.

The danger of this situation has long been recognized. THE TRIBUNE has commented on it a number of times in recent years. Yet only now is provision being made, by the RFC, for construction of a tin smelter in the United States. It will have a capacity of 18,000 tons a year, less than a quarter of our annual needs.

The smelter project has been discussed for several years, but various influences blocked its adoption. That the level headed British, who are never too busy with a war to lose sight of the peace that will follow, should discourage establishment of a rival to their present profitable smelting monopoly is natural and understandable.

But the forefront of the opposition, it has been reported, has been in our own state department. The diplomats have been placing obstacles in the way of the industrialists who saw the need for insurance against interruption of a vital defense supply. In their admiration for the admirable British foreign service our diplomats have been so carried away as to lose sight of the trait that makes it great—the fact that it is devoted solely and exclusively to the interests of the nation it represents.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN.

Some features of the campaign and the election can be considered before the vote is known and regardless of what it may show. Undoubtedly, what we may have to call the middle class felt itself endangered. It was conscious of an attack upon it by radicals of various sorts in the government, supported by what is described as the intelligentsia.

Americans have long disliked to apply European class distinctions to their own society. They have thought that the people of the United States were not controled by status. It was a fluid population and the constant movement could not be checked or limited within any confines which would permit class distinctions. A man might start at the bottom and come out at the top and be the same fellow, regardless of how he and opportunity had traveled together.

By middle class, if we have to use the term for definition, probably is meant the man who has succeeded in getting a sufficient income for the support of a family, for the ownership or rental of a suitable home, for the education of his children, and for the protection of his family by insurance, savings, and investments. He pays taxes and gives money, according to his means, to causes which he thinks deserving. It has been thought that having a stake in the country he was one of the pillars of its support.

He has taken his part in politics, but with some distrust of political methods. He hasn't been a great student of social theory. His political doctrines have been as much instinctive as reasoned. He hasn't had time to do much with the philosophy of epochal movements. Whatever he knows of collectivist theories does not include much knowledge of the Marxian dialectic, and he isn't very familiar with much of Hegel, Engels, Lenin, Spengler, Pareto, or Lassalle. He has been engaged in making himself a competent and solvent member of the community.

In the philosophy of Marx and Lenin this fellow has been marked for obliteration. His entire class is to be liquidated, but he has never before felt that any American political doctrine could regard him as of a bad element of society. He has never apprehended that powerful elements in his own political structure would make an attack upon him. His own intellectuals heretofore have explained backward societies, badly governed societies, and impoverished societies by pointing to the fact that they had no middle class. They didn't have stability, progressiveness, and energy because they lacked the mass of citizenship or population competent to make its own way and to give strength and body and dependability to the country.

Where people have had a low standard of living, a precarious subsistence, a hard and brutal life, it has been explained this way. Where they have had arbitrary, despotic governments they have been found to be without the controling influence of a sufficiently large number of people who could not be so imposed upon. Yet the very intellectuals who have made these observations regarding countries where life is hardly desirable have of late come to a very poor opinion of the American middle class. They hold it rather more than less in contempt.

The radicals have set the pace in this, and in recent years the government has followed that line. The middle class American gradually came to realize that dominant policies in Washington ran against him. Altho he didn't ask for any special privileges, he found that his stake in the country was being threatened, that his future and that of his children was being made uncertain, and that his right to have what his services could earn him was being questioned. It probably astonished him at first that he should be crossed off the list of desirable citizens.

The intensity with which this citizen threw himself into the campaign is explained by his new realization of what was going on. Finding himself threatened, he acted to defend himself, and regardless of the election's outcome it is probable, and it is desirable, that this political activity continue. These people may have taken their part in the government of the United States too lightly. They may have assumed too much that was favorable to them and overlooked too much that was unfavorable.

They preferred to keep their private affairs paramount in their lives. They have known heretofore that the genius of the American democracy was expressed more in a private enterprise than in political undertakings. They thought the nation was great not because government officials made it so but because citizens on their own did so. They didn't expect government to give them their opportunities in life, and they didn't blame it for their failures very often. They didn't think of it as a possible enemy. They may be wise to continue to be more politically minded.

FIRST BILLION YEARS NOT HARDEST.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

According to H. Spencer Jones, astronomer royal of Great Britain, the planet Venus may now be in the state of evolution thru which the Earth passed a billion or more years ago, with the first signs of life, perhaps, beginning to appear.

But the Venutians, when and if there ever are any, are advised, on the strength of Earth's experience, to take no stock in the slogan that the first billion years are the hardest.

Earth had survived some pretty tough times thru a couple of billion strenuous years before it acquired a Hitler and his brands of war and savagery. If Venus is now starting toward something like our modern era it hardly seems worth the trouble.

WRITTEN BEFORE THE RETURNS.

Election night in a newspaper office is not the madhouse of popular fancy and the movies. It is tense and quiet. You can't add up long columns of precinct returns while having a brainstorm.

"This country," said a young person who was casting her first Presidential ballot, "will go mad if Willkie is elected." No, Toots, it will go sane.

* * *

We voted against Roosevelt the first time; we voted against him the second time; we voted against him the third time. It's just an old American custom.

* * *

This reminds us of the climaxes in the old melodrama, "The Count of Monte Cristo," which came on counts of vanquished villains—"One!," "Two!," and "Three!" And at the third count, how the gallery gods would cheer!

* * *

In 1932 we felt lonely as we cast our ballot; in 1936 we tasted the bitter dregs of solitude; but in 1940 we went to the polls with the faith that we were in excellent and numerous company.

* * *

We never thought we'd like to kiss Clare Boothe, the pretty lady who writes such sarcastic plays as "The Women," until we heard her by radio at the Willkie zero hour symposium. . . . We recovered from a prejudice against Hollywood when we heard Bing Crosby read the "no third term" roster out there.

IN DICKENS' LONDON.

How many times have I passed Temple Bar
And called at Kenge and Carboy's, Lincoln's Inn!
How often watched with Pip the morning star
Fade out above the Thames, seen day begin
At Smithfield with Bill Sykes; or dined in state
At George and Vulture Tavern, Lombard Street,
With guileless Pickwick; sometimes strolling late
With David near St. Martin's or the Fleet.
These are but places of the printed page:
I have not touched their pavements or their brick;
And here they stand unharmed, immune to age,
Tho flaws of steel and storms of death come thick.
But now my heart goes out from books at home
To that great city spread beneath Paul's Dome.

Election Nights Before 1920.

There was a time, long ago, when the voter put in a long, hard night waiting for election returns. People living in the country near Chicago eagerly watched the sky for the sign, one flash for one candidate, two flashes for the other. City folk gathered in the street before the newspaper buildings and stood on aching feet, watching the shifting tallies flashed on the wall, for hour after irksome hour.

All that was before radio; all that was 20 years ago and more. For in 1920, on Nov. 2, the day of the Harding-Cox election, the first broadcast was sent out on the air. Station KDKA in Pittsburgh was the pioneer.

Now we get our momentous news by ear. As soon as the polls are closed the radio brings us the earliest returns; we begin to take the fateful tidings with our dinners and continue listening to the trend comfortably in our slippers and cushioned chairs. It is all very easy. No shifting from tired foot to tired foot. [We pace uneasily, up and down, up and down. No third term!] No standing in the chill November wind for hours. [Our hands and hearts, our feet are like ice. O, no third term!]

When nightfall comes out at the zoo
And visitors are quite taboo,
The noise and turmoil quickly cease
And birds and beasts relax in peace.
The stars smile on the placid scene
For here at least life seems serene;
And often in the grateful dark
Some creature makes a soft remark:
"You'd think that after all these years
"In what he calls 'this vale of tears'
"Our odd, two-legged relative
"Would from our ways learn how to live."

Sales Lesson for Realtors.

The green and white sign read, "Lot for Sale." But I wondered, as I paused there, whether that unknown owner realized what he offered. Did he know that a gallant young moon rode across the garden, trailing black shadows on the frost silvered grass? Had he heard the row of poplars sing their silken lullaby as the night wind gently touched their fading leaves? Had he seen the great maple on the corner, with its largesse of garnered sunshine, held lightly on sturdy branches? Could he guess that one silly little cricket still chirped his merry song, with a gay indifference to approaching winter? Surely he didn't know—or the sign would have read, "Lot for sale, completely equipped with moon, black lace shadows, a lullaby, leftover sunshine, and cricket!" Helene.

VINCENT'S ANGINA, A PREVALENT MOUTH INFECTION.

WE HAVE a right to expect that good food will enter the stomach reasonably clean and uncontaminated. But all too frequently quite the opposite happens. With poor teeth, with pus pockets about the gums [pyorrhea], with infection within the mouth from plant parasites—we masticate our edibles within a polluted region and then swallow them. We are scarcely playing fair when we ask the gastric secretions to exhibit disinfecting properties beyond their normal powers.

One of the commonest disorders found within the oral cavity is Vincent's angina. The cause is a spiral-like organism [a spirochete] which can adapt itself to the environment in which it grows. While it may feed on dead organic matter [food débris] it can and will invade the mucous membranes on the slightest provocation.

How do we take on these unwelcome germs? Apparently, the disease is mildly contagious and may be transmitted from one person to another by direct contact—for example, kissing. In addition, unclean drinking cups, glasses, or tableware are possible sources. This means that scrupulous care must be exercised in dishwashing.

Once acquired, the infection is difficult to dislodge. The organisms may congregate in crevices around bridgework, or beneath cells that have been destroyed. Furthermore, an injury from a jagged tooth—or any factor that lowers resistance—leads to their spread. All ages are susceptible.

The first symptom is usually pain with tenderness and puffing of the gums. Then follows the characteristic fetid odor of the breath. Not infrequently, shallow, punched out ulcers appear which are coated with a grayish to yellowish film. When removed a bleeding area may remain.

Depending upon the state of the health, the malady may be mild or severe. We may regard it as relatively simple when the inflammation is limited to redness and swelling. But the condition may be acute, with the patient seriously ill. If the temperature rises to 103 degrees Fahrenheit and there is considerable congestion in the throat, the lymph glands will become hard and firm. Sometimes the tonsils show ulcerations covered by a grayish membrane which may resemble diphtheria.

Fortunately, we have many remedies immediately at hand. Solutions of hydrogen peroxide or sodium perborate serve as excellent germicides since these microbes cannot survive in the presence of oxygen. In other instances, there is no drug quite equal to arsphenamine. This may be employed as a spray, the lesions may be swabbed with a solution, or the chemical may be injected into a vein. As we would expect, a general clean-up of the mouth is in order. This includes the teeth and the soft parts, but this scavenger hunt must await the arrest of the blazing irritation.

In children, especially, a dietary deficiency—such as a lack of vitamin C—will hamper recovery. In other words, the initial ailment and the beginning scurvy must be treated at the same time. Large quantities of orange juice, tomato juice, or other potent sources of C—when administered along with medical care—will greatly accelerate convalescence.

Should a case appear in the home, extra precautions must be taken not to allow it to be transferred to other members of the household. Proper quarantine measures will accomplish this end.

We must not forget the importance of a highly nutritious diet. Every effort can be made to raise reserve with generous menus. Severe attacks may demand hospitalization.

WEAR A GIRDLE?

Mrs. M. S. writes: Do you think the average woman with a good posture and a flat abdomen should wear a girdle?

REPLY.

Not necessarily. The muscles are apparently doing their job well. A sagging abdomen, however, requires support and a stout binder [girdle] will aid both circulation and respiration. Breathing exercises may be practiced each evening to strengthen the abdominal wall.

Test Your Horse Sense

1. Which type of log will burn the longest, assuming they are all of equal size and seasoning Pine Oak Willow Cottonwood.
2. From your general fund of practical knowledge, or horse sense, how would you estimate the United States air line traffic during the first eight months of 1940 in contrast to the same period of 1939? A negative figure below indicates a loss, while a plus denotes a gain. +12% —32% +62% —82%.

5. The sound which would be most typical of a Pomeranian would be Meowing Bleating Mooing Barking.
6. This problem today is dedicated to Richard Clarke, managing editor of the New York News, who enjoys engineering and mathematical puzzlers. A "board foot" is the unit of lumber measurement and equals a plank one foot long by one foot wide by one inch thick, or its equivalent. You deserve one point for each correct solution of the following lumber problems. You may use pencil and paper.

[a] How many board feet in a beam 10' x 2' x 3" ———?
[b] How many board feet in a fence post 7' x 8" x 8" ———?
[c] How many board feet in a floor 15' x 12' x ½" ———?
[d] How many board feet in a redwood log 10 feet each way ———?
[e] How many board feet of ¾ inch siding would be required for a garage 15' x 18' x 8' ———?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

REGARDING FOOD FOR EUROPE.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Recent pressure from a number of groups in the church and nation to send food to the war ravaged countries of Europe is the occasion of this statement.

The tragic plight of the civilian populations under Nazi domination, who are left with winter approaching, facing the added ordeal of slow starvation, sorely troubles all sensitive people. Every natural impulse together with every prompting of human sympathy strongly urges us to send them food. It seems to many that in this great hour of human need this is our religious duty.

But the situation confronting us cannot be so readily simplified, nor its obligations so easily met. Its challenge calls for a deeper searching of our hearts and minds. We must confess that no alternative is open to us that is free of evil.

As a people we have been slow to realize the nature of the totalitarian war that has been enslaving neutral states and threatens to destroy the entire European system. We are, at last, seeing what it means and what it intends. It brings things near to us that are worse than war or death: the rule by terror that means spiritual degradation, wholesale perversion of truth, the surrender of the precious things of the spirit, cherished alike by our democratic faith as by our religious teaching. It is the choice between the way of life and the way of death; the way of liberty and the way of bondage, the bondage of man's spirit. Nothing less terrible is being offered us by "totalitarian war."

A second fact to be considered is that Britain stands practically alone in Europe in fighting to save the system of representative government and personal liberties as we have known it and for the way of life as we have always prized is. What will it mean for us if England goes down? This is our major consideration. The moral and spiritual fabric of life in England is of the same pattern as of life here. If that fabric be rent in Britain it will hardly escape rending in our own nation. With the unconquerable morale belonging to a people born and bred in the faith of free men, Britain is saying in matchless terms of courage and sacrifice "that fabric must not be rent."

And the united prayer of our people is that it shall not be and must not be. Never can we lend our strength in any way to give support to the enemies of a free faith and a democratic fellowship. It is this principle of full commitment to the things of the free spirit of man that must guide us now. What then will be the effect upon our major purpose as a people of any movement undertaken by private individuals to get food to these peoples?

The first practical consideration is that there cannot be any guarantee that food sent will reach the people for whom it is designed and not go to strengthen the Nazi military machine, as in the last world war. It is obvious that any plan proposed must be agreed upon both by Britain and Germany. We have abundant evidence leading us to believe that the pledges of Nazi Germany would prove wholly worthless. This, if a fact, is of the utmost importance.

Further, such a plan in and of itself would inevitably lend encouragement to the policy of appeasement, the terrible consequences of which policy have been made startlingly real to us in the fall of France. Such a movement could not fail to arouse feeling against England while she is fighting for her very existence and for a security which will be for us as well as for herself. Blinded for the moment by generous feeling we might thoughtlessly strengthen the hands of her enemy and our own.

Another urgent consideration is the fact that to weaken the blockade in any least measure is likely to prolong the war, multiplying the miseries of these very peoples and leading to a slavery of the spirit more awful to contemplate than starvation and death. Above all we must guard ourselves lest in relieving a lesser hunger of a few we plunge them all into permanent servitude.

Neither the national leader of the martyred Poles, nor President Benes for the Czecho-Slovakian people, nor the queen of Holland, nor the Social-Democratic prime minister of Norway has urged the relaxation of the blockade. On the contrary, Jan Masaryk, foreign minister of the Czecho-Slovaks, has said, "despite the sufferings of my own people, the blockade must be maintained."

In the last place, this particular matter is so vitally related to our whole national purpose it cannot be considered independently of our government and its carefully determined national policy, which is definitely and utterly against the policy and purposes of the totalitarian powers, anywhere in the world.

In the light of the above considerations, we feel, with deep anguish of spirit, impelled to warn our brethren, in church and nation, against yielding to a humanitarian impulse that we all feel, or advocating a policy that may turn out to be, in the final issue, against the interests of humanity itself, and against the highest interests of the peoples that policy proposes to help.

THRILLING MUSIC.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—I want to comment upon the magnificent music and play you so truthfully portrayed in your hour on the radio last evening.

I want especially to praise your music director upon his presentation of the "Rhapsody of America." It thrilled me to the bone.

I believe a record should be made of it as it was played and this record should be placed in every school in the city so that the children will be instilled with patriotism and the love of their country.

NAVY COULD USE NEW BASES NOW IN AN EMERGENCY

Newfoundland Plans Most Advanced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5—Navy officials claimed today that the new naval and air bases in the Caribbean and Atlantic could be used now in case of emergency, altho actual work on them has not begun.

The Caribbean is considered the danger spot of the American defense program because it controls and must protect the vitally important Panama canal. Some alarm has been expressed that Germany might gain control of French possessions, such as Martinique, in this hemisphere, and thus gain a jumping off spot.

It is believed, however, that such fears will be allayed by a message received yesterday from Marshal Petain, head of the French government at Vichy, to President Roosevelt. While the contents of the French note have been kept secret, it is believed that it contains assurances that the French possessions will not pass into German hands.

Ring of Steel at Canal Entrance.

The United States now has four defense bases in the Caribbean. These are at Guantanamo, Cuba; San Juan, Puerto Rico; St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands, and at the Atlantic entrance to the Panama canal. A ring of steel around the canal entrance will be provided by the new bases obtained from the British in exchange for 50 destroyers. These new bases, under 99 year leases, will be located in the Bahamas, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Lucia, Trinidad, British Guiana, and to the north at Bermuda and Newfoundland.

Officials said today that studies still are being made on the specific location of the new bases in the respective areas. The Newfoundland base is farther along than any, with drawings and plans fairly well advanced. This base will be located on Placentia bay. As far as the other new bases are concerned, officials asserted tha. test holes and soundings are being made and that some progress can be reported. No construction has got under way, altho bids on materials have been requested.

The present naval maneuvers in the Caribbean, while unprecedented, are not for the purpose of occupying any bases, the navy declared today. In case of emergency, however, officials said, the new British bases could be occupied in a hurry, using light surface craft and planes. Three months after actual construction begins, it is claimed that the bases will be in condition for greater utilization.

A Fine Base in Cuba.

The navy asserts that it can now use Newfoundland if necessary for anchoring flying boats and patrol boats, such as destroyers and torpedo boats. Of the existing American bases, the one at Guantanamo, Cuba, provides one of the best harbors in the West Indies. It is big enough to hold the entire American fleet. At San Juan, P. R., a new army air base has been established along with a base for naval vessels and planes used in patrol duty.

The naval base on St. Thomas is small and inoperative, but it offers submarine station facilities. Finally, at the Atlantic entrance to the canal are located defending bases of army posts, coast artillery stations, and air field, and a well equipped submarine and fleet air base at Coco Solo.

2 HELD TO U. S. GRAND JURY AS DRAFT DODGERS

Two men who failed to register for the draft were being held to the federal grand jury under $500 bonds each yesterday. They are John Van Hulzen, 24 years old, of Knoxville, Ia., and James Coleman, 22, of Rochester, N. Y.

Van Hulzen was arrested by Sheriff Lester Eddinger of McHenry county near a Crystal Lake saloon in which Van Hulzen was employed as a bartender. He told United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker that he just "didn't get around to registering."

Coleman was arrested when he applied for lodging at the Hyde Park police station. He explained to Assistant United States District Attorney Francis J. McGreal that he had been wandering about and never had heard of the draft, altho he admitted he can read and write.

Archie Martin, 28, colored, who was arrested last week, was held for hearing Nov. 8 on a draft dodging charge.

VENEZUELAN OIL INDUSTRY FIRES EUROPEAN HELP

Only Britishers Keep Jobs; Sabotage Feared.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MARACAIBO, Venezuela [By Mail]. —The European war has affected the vast oil industry here in a strange fashion. Virtually every European who is not English has been discharged by British and American oil companies who hold concessions here and elsewhere in Venezuela. These wholesale "house cleanings" were undertaken to prevent possible sabotage of the billion dollar oil investments.

Oil workers, from tool dressers and drillers to engineers and field geologists were among those dismissed. Their nationalities were Dutch, Norwegian, Swedish, Belgian, German, French, Italian, Greek, and Rumanian. Some had worked with the companies for more than 20 years and were trusted executives.

Attorney Tells Story.

These facts were confirmed by attorneys for the Dutch Shell [British] and the Standard, Pure, Gulf, and subsidiary [American] companies that operate these fields under coöperative agreements.

"The Venezuelan government tells us that we need have no fear of war repercussions in this country," said one British lawyer. "We aren't so sure as the government's representatives.

"Our investments here are too large to take any needless chances. One man with fanatical ideas or orders from the wrong group could do untold damage. We didn't like to fire all these men, but we had to do it. We gave them severance pay according to their wage scales."

Jobs Passed Around.

Most of the oil workers have been unable to leave the country for their homelands and are making their headquarters in Caracas. Some of them have been given temporary employment in German and Dutch import and export houses. It is understood that these jobs are passed around among different men to give the "war victims" opportunities to earn relatively small salaries.

There is a strange mingling of propaganda thruout Venezuela as a result of the war and of the oil industry's drastic actions in relation to Europeans employed by it.

British and French influence keeps government pressure on all the official news sources and upon the government controled newspapers. The papers—El Universal, El Heraldo, Billiken, La Esfera, Gaceta Oficial, Fantoches, and Nosotres—carry chiefly Reuter's [British news agency] dispatches. They print the English side of the war, emphasizing the blockade of Italy and Germany and minimizing Nazi military successes and air offensives.

Yet among the Venezuelans of the capital there is great sympathy for the Germans and Italians, particularly those who have been stranded here. Venezuelan women's clubs occasionally give dances and entertainments to raise money for these men. This sympathy has been extended to the French and Dutch since the collapse of France.

Show Nazi Propaganda Film.

Possibly because they are unwilling to tamper with popular feelings, the Germans have remained relatively quiet here. Occasionally a German news dispatch filters into a newspaper. The German propaganda film, "Terrors of Modern War," which was shown in Norway and Denmark prior to the German invasions there—supposedly to soften up the morale of the population, has been exhibited in most of the larger motion picture theaters.

But the Germans here have spent far less money than they have invested in propaganda in other Central and South American countries. This may be due to the Germans' knowledge that the majority of Venezuela's population would gain no concept of Nazi political or economic creeds even tho these were repeatedly explained to them. The Germans, having worked in the field with Venezuelan helpers, know the general low level of understanding here.

The English colonies have congregated around country club areas in this city, in Caracas, and in most of the oil camps and centers. The Germans, on the other hand, gather in hotels and have made coffee houses their headquarters. Many of these are described as "Nazi dens" by the British.

Take Over Coffee Houses.

Such a place is the Pension Domke, one of the best hotels in Caracas. Coffee houses on the main square of Caracas have been virtually taken over by the Germans and Dutch.

The few Italians here have suffered because their diplomatic agents have taken little interest in their fate. The day that Italy entered the war their number was increased by 44 seamen from two Italian oil tankers. The boats were sunk within the limits of Lake Maracaibo by a French battle cruiser that violated the North and South American neutrality zones.

This sinking, which was hushed up by the American state department, took place within the territorial boundaries of Venezuela. It was not a question of the vessels being within the three miles limit or the South American 300 miles neutral zones.

Ships Head Toward Lake.

Both tankers had attempted to call at Puerto Cabello about 100 miles east of the entrance to Lake Maracaibo one day before Italy went to war. They were turned back and headed westward toward the lake, which is 8,000 square miles in area and is joined to the sea by a strait 34 miles long and 5 to 9 miles wide. The strait is shallow, and the Venezuelans feared the Italians might sink their vessels to block navigation.

As a result the Italians, apparently forewarned about the war declaration and desperate to get out of the open sea where the French cruiser steamed, were ordered back when they attempted to enter the channel into the lake. These orders were disobeyed because the declaration of war came just as they appeared off the lake channel.

The cruiser closed in immediately. One boat was beached and burned by the crew. The other was sunk by a salvo from the cruiser. The hulk has just been hauled away from the entrance to the channel by oil tugs.

Incident Ignored.

The American state department and the Venezuelan government chose to ignore the incident as the best way out of an embarrassing situation.

All foreign merchants here have attempted to increase their staffs in order to provide for refugees. Norwegians, Italians, and German importers find themselves cut off from home markets by the British blockade and for the moment, at least, are stocking American goods. These houses also have been rotating their jobs among their own nationals.

German legation officials here have attempted to organize collection of funds from their countrymen to care for the Belgians, Greeks, and Rumanians, in addition to those of their own country.

HANDKERCHIEF BANDIT RAIDS OFFICE.

A robber who carried a pistol wrapped in a handkerchief yesterday compelled Miss Bernadine Meyer, a cashier, to surrender $800 in the office of the Personal Finance company, 4005 North avenue. He escaped before other employés were aware of the holdup.

SEEK TO IDENTIFY 4 HIJACKERS OF CLOTHING TRUCK

Two employés of a service that makes deliveries for Morris B. Sachs, a clothing company at 6638 South Halsted street, looked at photographs of thieves last night at the bureau of identification in an attempt to identify the four men who kidnaped them and hijacked a truck loaded with $5,000 worth of clothing Monday night.

Robert Frankenbach, 23 years old, of 830 West 36th street, and Leo Straffer, 19, of 3719 South Halsted street, were about to drive the truck away from the Sachs store to make evening deliveries when the gunmen drove up in another car. They took command of the truck and drove to an alley at 52d street and Racine avenue, where Frankenbach and Straffer were forced out. The empty truck was found later at 48th and Aberdeen streets.

Mrs. Sophie Joseph, 25 years old, and her escort, Herbert Aronoff, 29, a Rockford attorney, were robbed Monday night of $88 and a diamond ring as they sat in a car in front of Mrs. Joseph's home at 432 Surf street, they reported yesterday. The robber forced Aronoff from the car and drove Mrs. Joseph to a place near Skokie and attempted to attack her, she said.

NEGLECT CAUSES DIRE SHORTAGE OF GUNPOWDER

Production Down 97 Pct. from 1918 Level.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Because of neglected plant facilities the government faces a precarious shortage of gunpowder to fire the guns it is building in the rearmament program, a survey showed today.

The recent disastrous explosion of the Hercules powder plant at Kenvil, N. J., one of the country's biggest, has accentuated an already acute condition, defense officials admitted today.

While the army and navy will not disclose present capacity of the powder manufacturing facilities, recent testimony before congressional committees has shown that such capacity has dropped about 97½ per cent from the world war level.

Three Plants on Order.

Two new smokeless powder plants and one TNT and DNT plant have been planned but it will take at least 10 to 14 months before they can get into production.

Col. James H. Burns, executive assistant to the secretary of war, told a house committee last June 4 that:

"Our present capacity for the manufacture of smokeless powder is some 20 to 25 million pounds per year, altho increases are in sight from foreign purchases and additional appropriations. In the world war we reached a capacity of 1 billion pounds per year.

"Our present capacity for high explosives is likewise some 20 to 30 million pounds per year, whereas at the end of the world war we reached a capacity in the neighborhood of one billion pounds per year. We now have three small ammunition loading plants, whereas, at the end of the world war, we had 20 to 25 large loading plants. The same situation exists with reference to other vital items of ordnance altho not to such an extensive degree."

Three Years' Delay.

Col. Burns told the committee that the United States was then facing the problem that Great Britain had five or six years earlier when she began to face the need for preparedness. In British experience, Burns said, it took from 12 months to more than three years, in some instances, from the time plants were decided upon and placed in full operation. In light of this, the war department's estimate of a minimum of ten months for construction of the new plants appears very conservative.

The war department has allotted 51 million dollars for a smokeless powder plant at Charlestown, Ind., to be operated by the du Pont company, and with an estimated capacity of 400,000 pounds daily. The other smokeless powder plant at Radford, Va., will cost 35 million dollars, and will produce upwards of 200,000 pounds daily. This plant will be operated by the Hercules Powder company.

The explosives plant, manufacturing TNT and DNT, will be located at Wilmington, Ill., and will be operated by du Pont. No figures have been released on its potential capacity. The willful depreciation of world war facilities will make it difficult to supply needs of the expanded army, not to mention the two ocean navy now under construction, experts admit.

BIG RADIO NETWORKS USE LARGEST HOOKUP IN THEIR HISTORY

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Virtually all radio programs tonight were interrupted to broadcast elections returns in the greatest national hookup ever assembled for a single event.

Most of the returns were assembled and announced from New York studios of the major radio chains, with cut-ins to Washington, D. C., Chicago, the west coast, and other key cities.

The National Broadcasting company, Columbia, and the Mutual network each had separate studios devoted entirely to gathering and reporting election returns, which went on the air as fast as they came in. The Mutual network maintained special wires to key cities and to the Democratic and Republican campaign headquarters.

Returns were sent out over Columbia's two short wave stations, WCBX and WCAB, in seven foreign languages—Italian, German, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Polish, and Russian.

MOUNTIES GET THEIR MAN AFTER 5 YEAR SEARCH

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 5.—Royal Canadian Northwest Mounted police have written finis to a case that had been on open files for five years. Fred Samborski, 38 years old, was sentenced at Humboldt, Sask., to serve five years in the penitentiary, with 15 lashes, for robbing and beating two old-age pensioners in 1935. Without even a description of the criminal to work on and knowing only that he spoke "broken English," the Mounties kept on searching for the man who beat Mike Kulyk, 73 years old, and his wife in their Prudhomme farm home and robbed them of $600. Samborski was found serving a term at Prince Albert penitentiary for robbery at Mennon, Sask.

Racine Couple to Mark 65th Wedding Anniversary

Racine, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Criplean of Racine will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary Thursday. Mr. Criplean, who is 86 years old, is a retired Ives Grove farmer. Mrs. Criplean is 80. They have six daughters and three sons.

4 CENTENARIANS GO TO POLLS TO CAST BALLOTS

Four of the oldest citizens in the county left their homes and beds yesterday to cast their ballots. Three are Republicans and one a Democrat.

The Republicans are Mrs. Ruth E. Edelen, 3100 Sheridan road, who will be 101 years old Christmas eve; Milton H. Myers, 1007 Harrison street, Park Ridge, a civil war veteran who will be 99 years old tomorrow, and Mrs. Mary B. Sings, 94 years old and the oldest inmate of the Chicago Home for Incurables, 5535 Ellis avenue. Mrs. Sings was a friend of Lincoln and stood beside him during his first acceptance speech in Springfield.

Miss Margaret Migan, 2501 Monroe street, 100 years old, voted for the first time in her more than 70 years' residence in this country. She voted the Democratic ticket.

BONFIRE TONIGHT TO BURN RANCOR FROM CAMPAIGN

There will be a big bonfire on Northerly island at 8 o'clock tonight. Into it, the Junior Association of Commerce hopes, will go all the literature and all the dissension of preelection months.

Charles Beatty, chairman of the event, received the assurance yesterday of leaders of both political parties in Illinois that many candidates, Republicans and Democrats alike, victorious or defeated, would meet at the bonfire, toss in their campaign literature, and shake hands over the ashes.

"The purpose," he said, "is to have a unity meeting. This has been a bitter campaign. What we are trying to do is to achieve some unity out of it for the state and for the nation."

KILLED BY CORN PICKER.

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 5 [Special].—Nicholas Pauly, 29, a farm laborer, was killed today when his clothing became entangled in a mechanical corn picker which he was operating on a farm near here.

SEWER CAVE-IN BLAMED IN BREAK OF PAVING BLOCKS

Paving blocks between the rails of the south bound street car tracks in front of 106 South Dearborn street caved in last night, leaving a hole 8x16 inches, extending six or eight feet down. Altho the subway passes beneath this point, construction officials said the cave-in was not due to subway work, since the tube at that point has been completed for some time.

They recalled that a sewer leak occurred near there a month ago, and suggested that seepage of water had caused the cave-in.

A street department worker was stationed at the hole with a barrier and red lantern to re-route automobiles, moving the barrier only to allow street cars to pass.

EDITOR FORCED TO 'DEBUTTON' BEFORE VOTING

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—Court Asher, editor of a Republican weekly newspaper here, went to his voting place today with his coat covered with Republican buttons and was challenged by a Democratic member of the board for violation of the state law which says a voter must not wear any partisan insignia into the polling place. The challenger was upheld by the Republican inspector.

So, later in the day, Asher, clad only in a motheaten bathing suit of ancient vintage entered the booth unchallenged and shiveringly cast his ballot.

Rep. Joe Martin Leads in Massachusetts Vote

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6, Wednesday (AP).—Representative Joe Martin, house minority leader and chairman of the Republican national committee, piled up a heavy lead today in his bid for reëlection. With 35 of 111 precincts counted, Martin had 28,902 to 15,188 for Harold E. Cole [D.].

What Shall we do Tomorrow?

★

The election is over, and again we have elected a President of the United States.

We are with him.

We may not have been yesterday, but we are today.

We do not propose to relinquish our right to criticize. We do not propose to relinquish our voice in government. We are proud of the two-party system, of our ability to check and balance, but we have elected a President of the United States, and we will work with him.

This has been a spirited election. We are glad it has been. It showed we were thinking. It showed we were alert. It showed we had convictions and ideals, although our interpretations of those ideals obviously differed. It showed we are free.

It has been a bitter election. That was inevitable at this time and under present circumstances. Yet that, too, showed we were thinking. That, too, showed we are free.

But now the election is over. We still have America, a land at peace in a world at war. We must try to keep it at peace. We cannot do so without unity.

Thus, we must be on guard—against ourselves, against the political chasms and the bitterness that divided us in recent months. We must be on guard lest they wither America into disunion.

We must offer our best help according to our lights to render the next term of the Presidency of the United States co-operative, forceful, effective, and influential in bringing our country into harmony within and to its greatest influence in the world at large.

That is why, no matter for whom we cast our vote, or how rigorous our belief that our vote was the good vote, we shall work today and henceforth as in the past —for America.

This advertisement was written yesterday afternoon before the polls had closed, before we knew the outcome of the 1940 Presidential election. Some of us who paid for it are Republicans. Some of us are Democrats. Some of us are independents. We paid for it out of no political party funds, no partisan committee funds.

We publish it solely because we are Americans and because we want America to live.

NOW JUKE BOXES HAVE HOSTESSES WHO TALK BACK

Music Sent by Telephone from Central Studio.

Juke boxes that talk back to the customer as well as offering an almost unlimited selection of music—all for an appropriate sum, of course—are invading Chicago's $5,000,000 nickel in a slot music machine business.

From the cutomer's angle, here's how the new device, which is labeled "Automatic Hostess," works:

In a tavern stands a machine equipped with microphone, amplifier, coin slot and a list of 650 musical selections. The customer, having picked a song, drops a nickel in the slot.

"Nice weather we're having, isn't it?" a lovely voice comes thru the amplifier. "This is Jean [or Alice or any one of a dozen other names] and what can I do for you?"

Will Answer Questions.

Possibly the customer wants the baseball score, the weather forecast or just wants to chat about conditions in general before hearing his selection. If so, Jean obliges—at least until the nickel's worth of time has run out.

For an extra nickel the customer can have the song dedicated to some one in the tavern and for 25 cents he can have it dedicated and played in any other tavern he designates in which there is an automatic hostess.

On the latter possibility hangs the practical joker's delight, said E. E. Rullman, president of the Automatic Instrument company, Chicago, which produces the "talking juke." He cited the following example:

"Mr. I. M. Doe, we'll say, is out with a lady—not his wife—in a tavern that has an automatic hostess. One of Mr. Doe's pals will see him, go to another place that has one of the machines, and make his request.

Mr. Doe Gets Surprise.

"Suddenly, Mr. Doe will hear a voice saying: 'Attention! This next song—The Parting of the Ways—is dedicated to Mr. Doe and his friend by Mrs. Doe.' Some people get a kick out of that," said Rullman.

Behind the scenes, the automatic hostess loses its mystery. The microphone and the amplifier on the talking juke are connected with regular telephone wires that lead to a central studio.

Each studio has 30 phonograph record turntables, a master switchboard and an average of seven girls, selected for their voice charm and wit. The machine in the tavern is connected with one of the turntables and the switchboard.

When the customer drops his coin in the talking juke, a light flashes on the switchboard. One of the hostesses plugs in and answers. The customer's selection is played on the turntable and the hostess can talk thru the music with the patron.

No Rough Talk Allowed.

"The girls are given wide latitude in handling the customers," Rullman said, "but at the first sign of any rough talk their instructions are to close the switch. However, they do josh a lot, back and forth. We've got four studios in Chicago already, and we expect to have a hundred more in the near future."

Rullman said his corporation has invested more than $1,000,000 in the device. He said the new machine costs more to operate than the old music boxes, but the average income from each machine runs from $60 to $70 a week, contrasted with from $5 to $10 on the old jukes.

The machines are installed on lease at no cost to the establishment owner, Rullman said, and the proceeds over $15 a week are split with the tavern owner.

All the old style machines in the Chicago area are emptied of nickels and serviced by the members of Michael J. Boyle's Electrical Workers' union, local 134. Rullman said the union also services the machines.

New Frills Added to Juke Boxes

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Sixteen phonograph turntables in view and 14 more on a lower level behind the enclosure make it possible for this "Automatic Hostess" studio to provide music simultaneously to patrons in 30 taverns. If the tavern patron, on dropping a coin into a slot, would rather exchange banter with one of the girls in the studio than listen to phonograph music, he may do so, but she will close the switch if he starts any "rough stuff." The girls are Lillian Foley (left), Evelyn Sausman (center), and Virginia Burr.

This is the machine that receives the coins and gives telephonic connection with the studio. On the front is a list of 650 musical selections. The patron is Kathryn Buckley.

JAIL CHICAGOANS FINED $314 FOR PHEASANT HUNT

Two brothers from Chicago who shot five pheasants out of season in Lake county last Friday were fined $300 and $14 costs each last night by Magistrate H. G. Grinnell in Libertyville police court. Unable to pay the fines, they were sent to Lake county jail at Waukegan for 63 days.

The hunters are Louis Polka, 42 years old, of 2857 Burling street, and Sylvester Polka, 27, of 3057 Logan boulevard. Both are mechanics. They were arrested by William Fredericks, Lake county constable, who received a $15 reward given by the Lake County Pointer and Setter club.

Respects Husband's Dying Wish; Votes Before Rites

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Dressed in deep mourning, a mother and daughter reported at a Bronx polling place this morning and asked to be placed at the head of the line. The mother, in tears, said she and her daughter had come 100 miles to vote and had to return immediately to attend the funeral of the father of the family.

"Why did you bother to come out?" a sympathetic election official asked.

"It was his dying wish," the mother said.

Marshall Miller, Labor Chief, Dies at Des Moines

POLICE TO GET BULLETS FROM FREED PISTOL

At the request of Chicago police Peoria police yesterday forwarded to Chicago bullets from the revolver used by Mrs. Ruth Freed last Sunday night in wounding her husband, Edward, and a bystander in a Peoria night club. Lieut. Otto Erlanson of the Chicago homicide detail said the bullets will be compared with those used in the unsolved slaying four years ago of Audrey Vallette, the "Butterfly Girl." Mrs. Freed was sought for a year after that crime and finally surrendered. She was absolved by a coroner's jury when no evidence was found against her.

STATE'S, NATION'S OIL PRODUCTION SLIGHTLY LOWER

The state geological survey yesterday estimated that Illinois oil production fell off slightly in October from the September yield. At the same time the Oil and Gas Journal reported that daily crude oil production in the United States declined 174,050 barrels to 3,469,905 for the week ended Nov. 2, as compared with the previous week.

According to the state survey's estimate, Illinois production in October amounted to 10,795,000 barrels, against 10,964,000 for the previous month. For the ten months' period, production was placed at 126,384,000 barrels, compared with 94,302,000 barrels for all of 1939.

Of 281 wells completed in October, 213 were listed as successful producers, with 47 of these wells being in White county and 31 each in Wayne and Marion counties. The report showed a total of 7,665 producing oil and gas wells in the state.

NEW Higher Anti-knock
Phillips 66

Why does Phillips 66 Poly Gas start cold motors faster?

Because it is higher test ... more volatile! Not merely higher test than other gasolines which sell at the same price, but actually higher test than most premium gasolines which sell for 2¢ more per gallon.

IMPORTANT NOTE:—This remarkable fact was proved by scientific laboratory study of 303 separate samples of 19 different premium gasolines. The Volatility Number (high test rating) of Phillips 66 Poly Gas was 50 per cent higher than the average Volatility Number of the premium price motor fuels.

Is volatility important? Here is what the impartial Petroleum Marketer Magazine says, August 1940 issue, page 9:

> "... the successful operation of a gasoline in an automobile engine depends more upon volatility than upon any other factor."

So when you want faster cold-weather starting, remember that Phillips 66 Poly Gas is higher test, more volatile, than others. Loaded with extra instant-firing elements. Ready to vaporize more quickly. Thus giving faster warm-up, and more mileage because you save the gasoline usually wasted by excessive use of the choke with low test motor fuel.

Why don't you have to pay extra for this extra high test? Because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline. Get a load of lively power and faster starting, by stopping for a trial tankful at any Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Walpole Writes a Robust Story of Herries Clan

"The Bright Pavilions," by Hugh Walpole. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50.] Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

This, the fifth of the chronicles of the Herries clan of Northern England, is the first in point of time. Its hero, Nicholas Herries, great-great-grandfather to Rogue Herries, is another supersized, superpassioned man, and the Elizabethan age gives Mr. Walpole the perfect background for exploiting the Old Nick in his hero.

"The Bright Pavilions," despite its title, which describes spiritual yearnings, is really a saga of hatred—the hatred of Nicholas, naturally openhearted and simple, for Philip Irvine, a schemer and egotist. That hatred is deepened by Philip's marrying the girl whom Nicholas' younger brother loves, because better than any one in the world Nicholas, the giant, loves young Robin, whose fragile body has made him a dreamer.

As a secondary theme of hate there is the political and religious battle between the lieges of Mary Queen of Scots and Queen Elizabeth. Fate sees to it [with Mr. Walpole's help] that Nicholas sees the head of Scotch Mary severed from her body, held aloft by her executioner, and also Queen Elizabeth with death clutching at her bones.

It is as a robust, vivid recording of a brutal, violent age that readers will find "The Bright Pavilions" memorable.

Texas in the Early 1800s

"On the Long Tide," by Laura Krey. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.75.] Published yesterday.

As Hugh Walpole did with his latest Herries Chronicle, Laura Krey, author of "And Tell of Time," antedates that long, vivid chronicle of Texas in "On the Long Tide." This tale starts in 1812 as a boy leaves his native Louisville with his father, a cousin of Thomas Jefferson. It ends in 1836 when Santa Ana is ravaging Texas, with the boy, long a man, deep steeped in love for Texas, going into battle and proclaiming his belief in the republic's victory by advertising for "500,000 acres of black land with pleasant prospect and running water."

One of John Alan Maxwell's drawings from "On the Long Tide."

Here is a phase of American history, little known and seldom written about, made living in a fine, sturdy historical novel, peopled by the historically known—Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston, and others—and a synthesis of the unknown who gave their vigor and their dreams to the making of Texas.

Here the Mexican wile, the Indian stealth, the revolt of the Negroes against their white masters, cholera, and flood are a constant menace. To the hero, the end of his journey into Texas "undertaken so gayly 17 years ago" is "uncertainty, total uncertainty." But out of the conquering of obstacles, character and nations are made. "On the Long Tide" records the making of both.

The Revolutionary War

"Sergeant Lamb's America," by Robert Graves. [Random, $2.50.] Published last Friday.

Of the historical novels with the American revolutionary war as background, "Sergeant Lamb's America" is the most "partial." Written in the first person, the hero early proclaims his position, thus: "It may be objected that I cannot but be partial in judging the rights and wrongs of this case, seeing that seven of the middle years of my life were spent in America as a loyal soldier of King George after he had quarreled with his revolted subjects."

To Sergeant Lamb—who, the author declares, was a real person and member a century and a half before of the same regiment in which Robert Graves served in the world war—the revolters were a thankless and an ungrateful lot, tricky in their dealings not only with England but with one another.

To him Samuel Adams was the archvillian to whose door the worst of the continental faults could be laid, and Boston the hub of the rebellion. To him the Boston Tea Party was an unprovoked act, the "Boston massacre" a mere tilt inflamed by word of mouth into a "massacre," the battle of Lexington the work of sneaking snipers, and the battle of Bunker Hill was scarcely a battle and not fought on Bunker's hill at all.

To the soldier fighting on the other side the young Americans were wholly wrong, both in general and in particular. And that is the essence of the tale—that any good soldier believes and must believe that it is his cause alone that is right.

"Sergeant Lamb's America" does not illuminate its period the way Mr. Graves' "I Claudius" and "Claudius the Great" brought ancient Rome to life, nor is it as fascinating a chronicle. It is however, like them, filled with the details of its contemporary daily life and thought.

Timely Volumes Supply Data on Foreign Affairs

"The Caribbean Danger Zone," by J. Fred Rippy. [Putnams, $3.]
"The War: First Year," by Edgar McInnis. [Oxford, $1.50.]
"Documents on American Foreign Relations," edited by S. Shepard Jones and Denys P. Myers. [World Peace Foundation, $3.75.]

BY GEORGE SCHARSCHUG.

Out of the welter of books and pamphlets on the war and foreign affairs, here are three books that are valuable. They should be of real value to any person seeking to understand the world shaking events which appear to be ahead of us during the next year.

Prof. Rippy, who teaches Latin American history at the University of Chicago, presents a thoro and well documented story of the relations of the United States with the peoples of the Caribbean and other Latin American states. He goes into all phases of "dollar diplomacy" of earlier eras. His book appears at a time when the Caribbean is much in the news because of the recent naval base deal, but his only mention of this deal does not quite fill the last page of his book.

The first year of the war in Europe is well summarized by Prof. McInnis, who formerly taught history at Oberlin college and is now assistant professor of history at the University of Toronto. He has gathered together from newspaper dispatches and some magazines of comment a comprehensive story of the fighting and diplomatic maneuverings which marked the first year of the struggle in Europe. The introduction is an able essay by Raymond Gram Swing.

The World Peace Foundation of Boston has compiled a valuable book on the diplomatic activities of the United States from July, 1939, to June, 1940. Mr. Jones and Mr. Myers, who edited the book, present a solid, factual story—altho diplomatic documents are often difficult to read—of the part American diplomacy played thruout the world during those fateful 12 months. The book ends with the collapse of France and the conference of the 21 American nations which signed the Act of Havana.

Vincent Starrett, whose new volume of essays, "Books Alive," is reviewed below by Miss Butcher.

"Books Alive," by Vincent Starrett. [Random House, $3.]

Vincent Starrett says in his foreword: "This is not a history of literature; it is a book of gossip, a profane and literary misdemeanor." Half of that sentence is a libel. True, "Books Alive" is not a history of literature and it is a book of gossip, but if it is either a profane or a literary misdemeanor, then all of the alluring things that have ever been written about books and their writers are crimes.

In a mild form, Mr. Starrett is performing the service to mankind which Andy Gump so earnestly wished to perform with his exploding cigars—he is helping to cheer a sad world. These stories of famous and infamous writers and books are not literary horseplay in any way, but they are gay and amusing even when they are scholarly. They are studded, like a good Christmas pudding, with plums. They will, as a matter of fact, provide good Christmas regalement for many who would rather have a book, and a book about books, than the best hand painted tie in captivity. Christopher Morley, author of "Kitty Foyle," has made "not an index of names and topics, but rather an appetitive catalog of ideas and undertones" for "Books Alive."

Mr. Starrett is one of our nice fellow Chicagoans, formerly president of the Society of Midland Authors.

Lincoln as Boy Figures in Tale of Pioneer Era

"For Us the Living," by Bruce Lancaster. [Stokes, $2.75.] Published last Wednesday.
"Westward the Tide," by Harold Sinclair. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Bruce Lancaster has written a 556 page homespun tale of the boyhood of Hugh Brace, typical pioneer youth of the early 19th century in the Ohio country—"Kaintuck'" and the Sangamon valley. Hugh's father was a rolling stone, pushing on from clearing to clearing, eking out a bare existence by hunting and trapping and raising a few vegetables.

The story gets under way when Hugh meets another boy, about his own age, named Abe Lincoln. Abe tells him of the marvelous world of books and explains that he "borrys" them whenever he can. "Read all night if I got an idee to—jes' findin' things out."

Abe offers to teach Hugh how to read. The two become fast friends, and as the story closes Abe is about to leave New Salem for his first political job in Springfield.

Lacking in plot, the narrative is, however, a carefully created picture of the times, complete with hundreds of pages of dialect of the backwoods regions, of anecdotes revealing the life and customs of the people, of word portraits of keel boaters, adventurers, roughnecks, loafers, home seekers.

The tale ends where Robert Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" begins, contributing more material to our literature of the boyhood of the civil war President.

An earlier period is covered in "Westward the Tide," which recounts many of the reckless adventures in patriotism carried out by George Rogers Clark and his Long Rifles in the Illinois territory. Philip Guard, ensign in this expeditionary force, tells the story, and there is a slight thread of romance running thru it, for he falls in love with a pretty young French girl who is trying to reach relatives in Kaskaskia.

The campaigns which ended in the capture of Vincennes, Fort Sackville, and Kaskaskia are described in detail. The figure of Clark, fearless and determined even when fighting against tremendous odds and lacking the backing due him, is the memorable one in this book. Harold Sinclair writes with a great knowledge of this period of American history.

Readers Taken on 'An Irish Journey' by Sean O'Faolain

"An Irish Journey," by Sean O'Faolain. [Longmans-Green, $3.50.]

Here Sean O'Faolain [pronounced Shawn O'Faylawn] takes his readers on a tour of the country which has inspired all his writings. Along the way, while Paul Henry sets up his easel to paint one of the beautiful pictures with which the book is illustrated, O'Faolain stops for roadside chats with farmers and fisherfolk, tinkers and drovers, canons and curates, and with hobbling old men who have wandered to the ends of the world and nearly to the end of life.

With the author the reader knocks at the doors of the poor in towns where sunlight and contentment are the only wealth, and visits other houses where prosperity and class consciousness have brought a different kind of poverty. He is welcomed into cottages in sea battered corners of the island and listens to the people telling in rich language and amazingly casual tone of the day's struggle against nature for existence. Always there is laughter. Always there is a salty phrase.

THE BORROWED COTTAGE ------ By Alice Campbell

A WILLING EAR.
INSTALMENT XLV.

Rowan's legs felt cramped. She must have been standing in this same spot for more than an hour. Groping to the sofa she sank down, rested her head on her knees, and went on waiting.

A car? No, only a motorcycle. Its petulant snorts, not far away, ruptured the dead hush of the submerged evening. Slowly she turned an ear.

It could not be the vicar's motorcycle. Some little time ago the peal of church bells, muffled like those of the cathedral under the sea, had come thru to her solitude. Some evening service was going on. The vicar would be in church.

The peevish noises had ceased, but up near the house other impalpably vague sounds seemed in progress. A metallic scraping, as tho some one had stumbled against one of the iron chairs on the front terrace; a dull impact—a foot catching on an uneven stone?—and now very faintly a fumbling and scratching. Widely spaced sounds. Whole blocks of time separating them. The sergeant wasn't aware of them. They might be products of her hyperkeyed fancy.

Thru sheer automatism her gaze had remained fixed on the one window where the red curtains didn't quite meet. Suddenly, midway one of the diamond panes, she saw a livid disk about the size of a sixpence. It puzzled her; and then she knew it was the tip of a flattened nose.

Herself immobile, she made out a face, disembodied, suspended in the fog. An evil face, unrecognizable. Darkly pallid, it seemed to float out there in the palpitating haze, conjured up like some hovering demon out of a marsh. Some one was there, definitely trying to peer into this room. A darting flame caught a brief reflection in the eyes, not revealing whose they were.

She half rose. Instantly the intruder glided eel-like out of range. When she reached the window it framed only the white gauze that was mist.

Had it been Egbert's mother? No reason for her to continue her spying, unless pure vindictiveness urged her on. This was certain, tho: male or female, the person with that swart, furtive malignance had not wished to be seen.

It was now she recalled the two men who could so easily have overheard her communication to Lord Romrytch—a confession she bitterly regretted ever having made. Forbes would say nothing. Forbes' gun was spiked; but the vicar, supposing he himself was in an impregnable position, what was to stop him passing on what he had learned to the police? He might already have done this very thing, only the new inspector hadn't been informed.

Had Lord Romrytch thought of the possibility? It was her single chance of reprieve. She must pin her faith to his acumen and to the pressure he could undoubtedly exert towards ensuring the Rev. Cyprian's silence. It was about all Lord Romrytch could do now, for all he had so sportingly promised to help her. Strange how little her own fate concerned her! On the brink of actual arrest she could sit here, sunk in apathy.

Stephen—out there, alone, lifeless in his car . . .

A step on the pavement. The front door was being opened.

"You sir?" said the sergeant in respectful surprise.

She heard a low, harsh voice making explanatory murmurs, noticed Sergt. Dabney's hesitation. And then some one pressed awkwardly into the room.

The sergeant said, "The Rev. Mr. Bogge."

The vicar! So it had been his face after all.

She turned, all the old suspicions making her skin prickle defensively before she could again realize how footling they had been.

"With me, Mr. Bogge?"

The sergeant left them, the door still just a little ajar.

The vicar came into the circle of fireglow. His swarthy skin looked sodden, every inch of his staid clothing exuded moisture. There was soft mould on his shoes.

Suddenly she knew that he was badly prepared for this interview—exactly as tho it had been thrust on him unawares.

"I—the fact is," he ventured clumsily, "I am not taking the service this evening. It occurred to me—ahem!—that I was rather neglecting my duties as vicar of this parish. In regards to you, Miss Wilde."

"O, no!" She made it short, uncompromising. "You've no duties where I'm concerned."

"I feel that I have." He was recovering ground. "May I?" He switched on the tall lamp. "Yes, that is better, surely. You'll have made allowance, I imagine, for overabsorption in my own unhappy affairs. At the same time I feel I should not have permitted personal affliction to interfere with—with——"

"But I don't belong to your parish," Rowan said bluntly. "Why on earth should you bother about me?"

"My own conscience," he declared stubbornly, "is unabsolved. You are a young girl unchaperoned and and alone—introduced, moreover, into a singularly trying situation. I have no knowledge of your religious views. I cannot tell if the confessional carries weight with you, but——"

"It doesn't. Besides, what have I got to confess?"

She had not known so much spitfire was left in her. She had spoken rudely—and her barb had got home. The smile hardened into a grimace resentful, annoyed.

"I fancied," continued Mr. Bogge in a lowered tone—he was now seated stiffly on the sofa, with Rowan reluctantly perched at the other end—"I had indeed some reason to believe that you might feel the desirability of unburdening yourself of something you had not wished to make known to the authorities. If so, I need hardly remind you that the church is a safe repository. Forget that its presentative chances to be the blood-relation of the victim in this unfortunate case. Consider him, if you can, simply and solely as a priest. A symbol, a—a guardian of many secrets—bound by his position to keep what may be confided to him locked in the fastness of his breast."

The phrases were ticking off with glib assurances. Rowan's mouth hung slightly open, her eyes remained glued to the evading ones. Now she undersood what he was angling for—free access to to her secret. Unable on his own to locate the precious envelope, he had the supreme nerve to approach her under cover of his cloth!

"See here, Mr. Bogge, what exactly do you know?"

He spread his hands. "Nothing, Miss Wilde," he repudiated. "From first to last I have stood entirely apart from this matter." He shot a glance towards the door, bent forward so that his breath hissed in her face, and resumed in a whisper, "I have just learned, I admit, that Scotland Yard has shown great promptness in—in taking over. That but for some untoward occurrence the new official would now be present in this house.

He hadn't heard, then, about Stephen's suicide. . . .

"Also," he added, licking dry lips, "I could not avoid catching a—a significant admission you made to Lord Romrytch this afternoon, in the sun parlor at Struve."

"O? And just what did you hear?"

"Extremely little. A few words. Sufficient, however, to convince me you were keeping silent over some item, possibly of minor importance. That you were doing so thru fear of unpleasant consequences to yourself."

Fashion Goes South American for Its Color Combinations

BY REA SEEGER.

In the popular spirit of the "good neighbor policy" hat, dress, and accessory designers have gone into the South American way of mixing and contrasting colors. Whether this will strain the friendship or whether it will be considered with the same tolerance as the borrowing of an egg or cup of sugar, is debatable. So far, one serious protest has been registered, that when the South American men found out that some of their clothes and colors were destined for feminine apparel. A great excitement ensued, but the copies and adaptations are here.

What the South American makes with yarn is both startling and fascinating. Great chunky pieces of jewelry are laced with yarn. Hats have yarn embroidered flowers and then are hung with fringe. Belts, the like of which have never been seen north of the Amazon before, blaze in vivid pinks, acid greens, and purple around the waistline of otherwise simple dark dresses.

They say this brilliant pink is the pet color of the people of all countries in South America. It's certainly eye blinding and effective! Such a triad of colors as pink, equally brilliant green, and blood red, make deep blue dresses bright spots for any occasion. Fringe, braid trim and tassels, yarn and ever more yarn are the accents that cause the most excitement.

All this South American color excitement, this approval of giddy yarn fringe, tassels and sequins, together with bits of colored mirrors, started after a well known portrait painter returned from a tour. Completely sold on the intriguing color contrasts, the subtlety with which even the peasants combined two and three shades of unusual color, he came back to resell his enthusiasm to well known hat designers, costume jewelry, and bag makers. And the results are causing, justifiably, the same fashion approval that usually went to exciting French collections.

One store has a superb collection, showing suits, hats, dinner and ball gowns that are unsurpassed for brilliant color and unusual contrast. If you've a yen for yarn, see these South Americanized clothes adapted for a North American fashion conquest.

Election Over, Back to Debuts, Parties Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

WEDDINGS, debuts, charitable work, serious meetings, frivolous parties, they all go on today just as before. By the time this is read it probably will be known who will lead the nation for the next four years; some will be rejoicing, others will be sorrowing, but however she feels, every woman worth her salt will go on doing her job in the best way possible.

The Lake Forest committee of the Community fund is meeting this morning at the home of Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr. to report on its progress. Mrs. Forgan and Mrs. Dexter Cummings are co-chairmen of this group, which is working with the women's division of the drive. Mrs. King Mitchell and her vice chairman, Miss Harriett McLaughlin, head the division.

Mrs. Irwin T. Rew is opening her home in Evanston today for a meeting and tea at which plans will be furthered for the concert to be sponsored by the Chicago Wellesley club on Dec. 1 in the Auditorium. Oscar Levant will give the concert, an all-Gershwin program. Miss Emily Goehst and Mrs. Edwin McGinnis will be hostesses at a luncheon today at the College club for Wellesley alumnae and their guests.

Mrs. F. H. Scott Opens Home for Hull House Shop Sale.

Mrs. Frederick H. Scott will open her home at 175 Sheridan road, Hubbard Woods, tomorrow from 10 until 6 o'clock for a sale of articles from Hull House shop. Attractive and practical jewel cases, designed especially for traveling, baby things, monogrammed bridge table covers and tennis racket covers, and inexpensive toys are among the things that will be offered to the early Christmas shopper.

Assisting Mrs. Scott in selling will be Mrs. Donald McPherson, Mrs. Morris Wilson, Mrs. Stanley G. Harris, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay, Mrs. Hill Blackett, Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard, Mrs. Walther Buchen, and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, among others.

Grandmother Is Introducing Marie-Merrill Hubbard.

A tea at which a debutante is introduced by her grandmother is a real old-fashioned debut. Not as gay and as much fun for the young people as a tea-dance, a dinner, or supper-dance, perhaps, but infinitely more charming and of more interest to the older persons who are invited to meet the bud. Such a party is the tea being given this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock by Mrs. William H. Hubbard for her granddaughter, Mis Marie-Merrill Hubbard.

The party is to be at the Fortnightly club where Mrs. Hubbard spends the winters. The debutante's mother, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, will not be there, for she is in the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest, recovering from a hunting accident, but Mrs. Henry E. Cooke Jr. of Geneva will receive with her mother and the bud. Mrs. Cooke is the former Martha Hubbard, sister of William Coit Hubbard of Boston, Marie-Merrill's father.

Childhood Friends Will Assist the Debutante.

Assisting will be debutantes Betty Broome, Margaret Stuart, Patricia Cathcart, Harriet Sturgis, Ruth Burrows, and Adrienne Ely, all of whom live in Lake Forest and have been friends since childhood of Miss Hubbard. Miss Hubbard is a fifth generation Chicagoan, for on her father's side she is descended from Col. C. G. Hammond, pioneer Chicagoan.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 5.—Frank Capra is the kind of guy who can never remember the name of a character, but only what the character does. At a recent luncheon he was asked the name of the part played by Barbara Stanwyck in "Ladies of Leisure." He said O, yes, what was it now, it was right on the tip of his tongue—and then he recited a couple of pages of dialogue hoping that somewhere in the passage the name would turn up. But no dice. He finally confessed defeat.

"That's nothing," said Bob Riskin. "I can't even remember the name of the character Barbara plays in 'Meet John Doe'"—which is the yet to be released Capra-Riskin picture. Frank again said, "O, I can," went thru the same routine of reciting a scene—and again failed. The name is Ann Mitchell.

Ann Sothern is usually black and blue when she's working, and the other day she exhibited a few lucky bruises from her current collection. One was on a very handsome ankle, another on a pretty forearm, the third on a seductive shoulder. They are all a result of her current Maisie assignment, "Maisie Was A Lady," in which she plays a headless woman in a carnival. They are lucky for the chance to spend a little time with Miss S.

For the headless woman act the Society of American Magicians let down the bars a bit, permitting filming of part of the stunt—but not enough to give away the secret. Miss Sothern is sitting in the machine, being headless, and along comes a drunk named Lew Ayres, who tickles her legs. Finally she can't stand it and falls backward off her chair. That fall, she told me, is one of the worst she's had to do, because it was from a high platform and she couldn't break it.

Asked how she learned tumbling, she replies she can't remember. "I guess I've always known it," she says. "The main trick is to relax, and then break the fall at the right moment with your hands."

Among her most painful tumbles she listed falling over eight suitcases in "Fast and Furious" and fainting with a sidewise fall in "Brother Orchid." In "Gold Rush Maisie" she was supposed to push the door of a ghost town cabin inward, but something went wrong and the door fell out upon her, knocking her cold.

Ann Sothern is really a Valley City, N. D., girl named Harriet Lake. She claims that, by the time she was 10, she had been run over by tricycles, bicycles, and automobiles, but somehow had escaped being hit by a car. She had also been seriously burned when a gas heater set fire to her nightgown.

Dances by Ballet Theater; choreography by Dimitri Romanoff; Leon Danelian, Charles Dickson, and Richard Reed, soloists. Conductor, Maurice Abravanel [debut]. Stage director, Martin Magner.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The first "La Traviata" of the Chicago Opera company season displayed further signs of the improved ensemble and mise-en-scene which had distinguished last Saturday's opening performance of "Aïda." Martin Magner, in his first assignment as stage director, wrought many agreeable changes, particularly in the first act. The opening scene looked like a real party. There were enough tables for every one to sit down, and the familiar "Traviata" banquet table with a long unoccupied side toward the audience was banished—forever, let us hope—to the warehouse.

The members of the new chorus not only looked and behaved like desirable guests at a smart social occasion, but sang with vitality, accuracy, and substantial tone. Later on, in the third act gambling scene, the Ballet Theater offered what were probably the most brilliantly planned and executed divertissements in the local history of "La Traviata."

Helen Jepson's Violetta has been a remarkable vocal display ever since she first sang the rôle here, but until now her performance has lacked warmth. A new quality of emotionalism came into her singing last night, so that it was possible for the first time to be touched as well as delighted by her singing.

Her brief pianissimo phrases toward the end of the third act were glowing and luminous, and her "Addio del passato" in the last act was both moving and tonally lovely.

In the two years since his only previous appearance as Alfredo, James Melton has polished his style greatly. His singing now has romantic elegance to a considerable degree, and he is vocally effective in all but a few moments which overtax the volume of his voice.

The audience welcomed John Charles Thomas with special enthusiasm, for the smooth velvet of his voice and the flowing legato of his style make his performance of the baritone music of "La Traviata" incomparably the best of this generation.

Perhaps the inevitable nervousness of a debut was at the root of things, but Maurice Abravanel seemed to be making his Chicago bow as an operatic conductor in a score for which he does not have great sympathy. Rapid tempi often did volume to the intentions of the singers. For all his obvious technical command, his accomplishment with the orchestra was, unhappily, quite prosaic.

Story of Tonight's Opera

Here is a synopsis of the opera "Il Trovatore" to be presented tonight by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the story, who are planning to attend the performance, clip it out and take it with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

Rose Bampton, American soprano, will sing the role of Leonora in tonight's performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" at the Civic Opera house. Artists of the rank of Karin Branzell and Giovanni Martinelli are also to appear.

"IL TROVATORE."

Opera in four acts and eight scenes. Music by Giuseppe Verdi. Libretto by Salvatore Cammanaro. The story is laid in Biscay and Aragon in the 15th century.

Act 1, Scene 1—The soldiers of Count di Luna are on guard outside the count's palace. To keep their minds occupied, Ferrando, their captain, tells a story: Many years earlier, it seems, an ugly gypsy kidnaped the baby brother of the count. There is some evidence that she may have burned the child to death.

Act 1, Scene 2—The stately Leonora walks in her garden in the evening with her confidante, Inez. Leonora confesses that both the Count di Luna and Manrico, a troubadour, are in love with her, and that Manrico has won her heart. After Inez has returned to the house the count enters. In the darkness Leonora takes him to be Manrico. But the troubadour's voice is heard offstage, and she realizes her mistake. When Manrico enters a duel begins, but Leonora steps between the men.

Act 2, Scene 1—In their outdoor camp the gypsies are working at their anvils. Azucena, an old gypsy, explains to Manrico that she is not his mother, as he had always supposed. Instead of burning the count's brother she had impulsively thrown her own child into the flames. Suddenly a messenger arrives to tell Manrico that Leonora is about to enter a convent. Manrico hurries away.

Act 2, Scene 2—In front of the convent the count and his men have assembled to abduct Leonora. Just in time, Manrico and his guards arrive and rescue Leonora.

Act 3, Scene 1—At Count di Luna's camp Ferrando brings in the gypsy, Azucena, whom the soldiers have captured. Recognizing her as the kidnaper of his brother, the count sentences her to death.

Act 3, Scene 2—In Manrico's castle a love scene between Manrico and Leonora is interrupted by a messenger bearing the news of Azucena's capture. Manrico rushes out in an attempt to save her.

Act 4, Scene 1—Both Manrico and Azucena are now confined in the count's prison dungeon. At night, in front of the prison, Leonora meets the count privately, to ask him to spare Manrico. She offers to give herself to the count in payment and he agrees to the bargain.

Act 4, Scene 2—Manrico and Azucena are now seen in the prison cell. Leonora enters, to tell Manrico that he will be released. He accuses her of infidelity. To prove her loyalty Leonora kills herself by taking poison. As she dies the treacherous count enters and orders Manrico out to the executioner. When the count points triumphantly toward the dying Manrico Azucena cries out in tones of vengeance, "There is your brother!"

Herman's Trip.

Herman Martyn, 9, and his 6 year old sister, Marlene, of London have been staying with the Benedict Goodmans of Highland Park for the last two months. The children of Elm Place school are interested in the experiences of their English schoolmates and Herman was asked to write an article for the school publication. His piece, titled My Trip:

In London, England, on Aug. 16, 1940, excitement was going on in the night. There was an air raid, so we were going away to the Goodman's. The cases were brought to the car. We went away to the station and got on a train for Liverpool. At Liverpool we got on a boat and came to Highland Park.

Composer's Commission.

An interesting little note in connection with the new work, Symphony, C Major, Stravinsky has composed for Dr. Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra's jubilee year and which he will conduct Thursday evening and Friday and Tuesday afternoons: Two years ago Mrs. John Alden Carpenter got together some music lovers in her home and suggested that something special be done for the orchestra's jubilee year. Igor Stravinsky's commission to write a symphony is a direct result of that meeting. The nine persons in Mrs. Carpenter's home that afternoon—ten with Mrs. Carpenter—pledged the necessary sum and got in touch with Stravinsky in Paris.

In the Morning Mail.

Dear Miss Provines:

Have just purchased a copy of your "1940 Notebook" and am enjoying it as much, if not more than, your daily column.

I believe, however, that the Better Business bureau should be informed of the false representation made in your advertising of the Notebook. For the last week or so you have been leading your readers to expect a full 64 pages of selected contributions and the Notebook contains only 60 pages of contributions, beginning with page 5. Certainly "Copyright: 1940: By THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE" and "June Provines Notebook" aren't original contributions, or are they? Anyway, that's what appears on pages 1, 2, 3, and 4, which could have been devoted to contributions.

Now I ask you, is this fair?

Yours for 64 page Notebooks.

Chicago-Colored Dog.

The constant companion of Lillian Gish during the long run of Life with Father at the Blackstone is Malcolm, her West Highland terrier. A letter came to the Blackstone the other day addressed to a "Chicago-Colored" Highland Terrier, Property of Miss Lillian Gish, Blackstone Hotel," from a woman at The Homestead, Virginia Hot Springs, who had petted Malcolm in the elevator. She asked for his mistress' autograph. The description of Malcolm as "Chicago-colored" brings to mind our own comment upon seeing him.

"What a lovely, delicate gray color he is," we said upon encountering Miss Gish and Malcolm, stroking his silky fur.

"You know he's really a white dog, don't you?" asked Miss Gish. "But he rolls in Grant park every day when I take him for a walk."

Cranberry pot roast is a kind of festive meat, one suitable for Sunday or even for Thanksgiving, if you're watching the food budget closely. For tomorrow's dinner, let's buy an arm or blade pot roast, altho any kind of beef suitable for pot roasting will do.

CRANBERRY POT ROAST.

[Serves Four.]

Buy a three pound pot roast, dredge with flour, and brown it on all sides in hot fat. Season with salt and pepper and add a cupful of strained cranberry sauce to the pan. Cover and cook closely, either on top of the stove or in the oven, until the meat is tender. The heat should be low, about 325 degrees, if the oven is used, and cooking will take about three and a half hours. More cranberry sauce may be added from time to time if the meat cooks dry.

◆

To prepare the potatoes to accompany the meat, boil and mash them as usual, using plenty of butter, salt, and pepper. Pile the mashed potatoes in a greased casserole, dot with butter, and brown quickly in the oven.

Leeks should be cooked and marinated in French dressing for the salad. Wash them well, trim the "whiskers" and tops, and cook in boiling salted water until just tender. Split each leek lengthwise and pour French dressing over them. Chill for an hour or longer and arrange on beds of chicory for individual salads.

Perhaps the best part of this menu is the dessert, one you'll like to nibble between meals.

MAPLE BARS.

[About 3 dozen.]

2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
5 cups flour [approximately]

Soften the yeast in the lukewarm water. Scald milk, add butter, sugar, and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast, beaten eggs and flour to make a thick batter. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place dough in a greased bowl, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Roll out to ½ inch in thickness. Cut into bars, 3 inches by 1½ inches. Let rise until double. Fry in deep fat heated to 365 degrees and drain on soft paper.

Nov. 6, 1940.

Universal day—When the universal day is four, as it is today, then you are slightly more limited in scope even tho you might have a personal day which advised freedom of action. If it was a five day for you personally, you should curb some of your tendency to be careless about details, and perhaps make more complete plans than you ordinarily would on a five personal day.

On a four Universal day there is more demand for actual facts and more desire for security and certainty than on a five day. You perhaps could find some pleasure since five brings adventure and romance, but in general you would have to consider the demand for stability which the universal four of the day brings out.

Today's date—The combination of 11 and six with a personal four year probably hasn't been very easy this year for those having birthdays today. Duties were paramount.

Opera Strictly Feminine on Election Night

A subdued atmosphere overhung the opera house last night, what with election returns coming in between each act. "It's just ruining my evening," one woman confided to her companion, but she smiled as she said it.

There was a mixture of philosophy and disappointment, too, in the reaction of the 50 young couples who came in a party organized by the Phi Delts at Northwestern university. Several of these students confided that their hopes were with the Republicans, but despite that, they made a gay appearance, with most of the young men in full dress, and an orchid blooming on the shoulder of almost every girl.

◆

Their presence and that of a number of Milwaukee music lovers should have brightened the evening for the Walter R. Kirks and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who have worked so hard to make the opera a success by enlarging its audience. A dove party from the Wisconsin city, which has taken a box every Tuesday night for the season, included Mrs. William Uihlein, a member of the woman's board of the opera; Mrs. Albert Elser, Mrs. Albert Trostel, Mrs. Alfred Kieckhefer, Mrs. C. W. Wright, and Mrs. L. R. Smith. Mrs. Uihlein remarked that a number of other Milwaukeeans were in the audience.

◆

Mrs. Kirk, charming in a black velvet gown with a bouffant skirt, and Mr. Kirk were hosts to Count and Countess Giovanni Cardelli, Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis, and the Thomas Fishers [Ruth Page]. In a nearby box Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter were with her cousin, Mrs. George Langhorne, and Col. Langhorne.

Another of the numerous dove parties — for the men apparently preferred to get the election returns without interruption elsewhere—was that of Mrs. Harold Pulsifer, who had Mrs. Bruce Scott, Miss Louise and Miss Marion Fairman, Miss Marie Remien, and Mrs. Fred Heuchling as her guests. The John Reillys had with them their daughter and sons Miss Hester Reilly, Henry and Robert Reilly, and Miss Mary Trumbull. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne had the Rev. and Mrs. Dudley Stark as their guests.

The Housewife

There are beverage glasses available now that give you a drink tall enough to last all evening. They are the largest ones we have ever seen and just about the most attractive, too, as they are hand made and have that hand-crafted look about them. They were designed by Blenko, the man brought over from Europe to make colored glass used in the Williamsburg restoration. A set of eight of these tall glasses costs surprisingly little and each one is a different color: ruby, emerald, amber, crackled crystal, pale blue, deep blue, peacock, white, and purple. Two Bibs for Infants

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here are two of the most becoming crocheted bibs that any infant possibly could wear. They both are made of mercerized crochet cotton in pink and white, which proves that they are serviceable and pretty, and easily laundered. It requires little time to create these biblets and they are ideal gifts for a layette or at Christmas time.

For instructions in crocheting the two bibs, No. 811, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Rudolf Serkin Proves His Right in List of Great

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Rudolf Serkin marched out upon the stage of Orchestra hall last night, peered shyly thru his spectcles at the packed house, bowed jerkily in response to the applause, took his place at the piano, and proceeded to justify the ballot of last season by which subscribers to the Musical Arts series chose him as the pianist they would most like to hear again.

In fact, he did much more than justify the ballot. His performance of a taxing program of Mozart, Beethoven, Reger, Smetana, Chopin, and Liszt established almost beyond question his right to rank among the four or five finest pianists in the world.

◆

His playing suggested the speech of a highly intelligent person in that it was sane, straightforward, and aptly inflected. Abandoning this metaphor, which cannot be carried too far without disaster, stress must be placed on the radiance of Mr. Serkin's tone, the expressiveness of his long breathed phrases with their wealth of beautiful detail, and the perfection of his technical equipment. Here is a pianist who can turn any corner at any speed without coming to grief.

◆

His performance of Beethoven's "Appasionata" sonata was stormy enough to satsify anybody, yet it never became cheaply declamatory. Reger's Variations and Fugue on a Theme of Telemann pushed the piano almost to the limit of its sonority, but tone remained round and unforced.

In this auspicious manner the Adult Education council began its 1940-'41 Musical Arts series.

Lectures for Engaged Couples Open Tonight

"Becoming Human in Sex" is the title of a talk to be given by Dr. Arthur H. Steinhaus, professor of physiology at George Williams college, at 6 o'clock this evening at the Y. W. C. A., 59 East Monroe street. The talk is the first of a series on premarriage subjects for young men and women, particularly engaged couples, to be sponsored jointly by the Young Men's Christian association of Chicago and the Chicago Young Women's Christian association. Dr. Mary E. Williams, gynecologist and surgeon, will alternate with Dr. Steinhaus in presenting the six lectures.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

When the winter winds begin sweeping around the corner and the radiator gives forth its familiar hiss, the troubles of the woman with a supersensitive skin are doubled. Both contribute to the dryness, and at times her skin feels like a kernel of corn, all set to pop. Even her daily bath tends to add to this uncomfortable condition, irritating to the point of giving her the jitters.

To help alleviate this additional tautness, and at the same time add to the luxury of the bath, there's a prepared bath oil, a perfumed one, that has been found quite effective. It serves as a water softener and its lubricating qualities leave the skin with a satin-like smoothness.

◆

To accomplish this, you draw your bath first. Pour about ten drops of the oil into the cap of the bottle and add this to the water. If the water is unusually hard or your skin exceedingly dry, you can vary this amount, but under normal conditions, this is sufficient. If you are a shower addict, rub a little of the oil on your body, and let the shower trickle over your body thus forming a good foundation before soaping.

◆

The luxurious part of this conditioning is the delicate perfume that clings to the skin, for this oil comes in six fragrances. There's a northern pine, always considered a soother, and a delicate wood violet. There's the ever popular gardenia and a pungent rose geranium. If you prefer the sweetness of the mimosa, it's to be had, and the lovers of lemon verbena have not been forgotten.

If you want to match a fragrance to your mood, there's a slim little gift box in blue that holds six small bottles, one in each scent.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 38: Rubber bridge. You are West, declarer at a three no trump contract. [The opponents made no bid.] Your hand and dummy are as follows:

West [declarer]	East [dummy]
♠AK	♠73
♥A9742	♥3
♦42	♦AKJ7653
♣A862	♣753

North leads the spade queen. Presumable, at the second trick you lead a diamond. North follows suit with the eight spot. What card do you play from dummy, and why?

Answer: A low diamond. You are missing the Q-10-9-8 of diamonds. If they break 2-2, you can win seven diamond tricks and make, in all, two overtricks. To win the first diamond trick in dummy, however, with the king or ace and thereby to depend on a 2-2 break, is atrocious bridge. It is quite a bit safer to take the diamond finesse to the jack so that if you lose to South you still will have a diamond for communication to dummy. Absolute safety, however, demands the first diamond lead be passed entirely. North may have all the missing diamonds. If so, it will be fatal for you to win the first diamond trick with the jack. North still will have the Q-10-9 and you will be confined to three diamond tricks instead of the six which must be yours by conceding to the eight spot [40 points demerit for winning the first diamond trick with the ace or king; no demerits for playing the diamond jack; 25 points CREDIT for failing to cover North's eight spot.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 37: North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	3 hearts	3 spades	4 hearts
5 hearts	Double.	?

You are South, and hold:
♠J8752 ♥A6 ♦J743 ♣Q9
What call do you make?

Today's Hand

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥5
♦A K Q 8 5

WEST
♠7 3
♥K Q J 9 4
♦9 2

EAST
♠J 10 9 5
♥8 7 6 2
♦J 10 6 4
♣3

SOUTH
♠K 8 6 2
♥A 10 3
♦7 3
♣A Q 6 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the king of hearts and held the trick, East playing the seven. He continued with the jack of hearts, East dropped the six, and South held off once more. Another lead knocked out the ace of hearts and the declarer then went to work, but not very expertly.

Three rounds of diamonds were taken and South was a little disappointed when they failed to break. Three high spades came next, ending in the dummy. When this suit failed to break, it all depended on the club finesse. That lost, too, and West took the rest of his hearts, setting the contract.

Of course, it was unfortunate that all of declarer's "tries" had gone wrong, but he should have made the hand! When East echoed on the first two rounds of hearts, declarer should have taken the ace at once. There could be no point in holding up any more, since East almost certainly had four hearts. Besides, that ten of hearts might be needed later on.

After taking the second trick with the ace of hearts, declarer should have taken his three high diamonds and his three high spades, since if either suit broke, his contract would be safe. But the third spade should be taken in his own hand, and when West failed to follow, that all important ten of hearts should be led.

West would take his hearts, to be sure, but then he would have to lead away from his king of clubs. And South would take the last two tricks, making his contract.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO

RECOVER BODIES OF TEN KILLED IN AIR LINER CRASH

Pack Train Transports Tragic Burden.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 5 (AP).—For the third time in six years, workers today brought from the canyon bound fastness of Utah's Wasatch mountains the bodies of air line travelers.

In the dark of yesterday's early morning, 10 men and women—seven passengers and a crew of three—died as a big, bi-motored United Air Lines transport struck against the mountainside 13 miles northeast of here.

Eastbound from San Francisco, the huge plane circled thru a furious snowstorm in an attempt to land at the Salt Lake City airport. Instead, it smashed into the 25 degree slope of the Wasatch mountains which rise, at that point, 7,000 feet from the valley floor.

Breaks Plane Almost in Two.

Force of the collision piled seven passengers and the stewardess in a fantastic, twisted heap at the front of the cabin, and broke the plane almost in half.

The pilots, Capt. Howard Fey of Oakland, Cal., and First Officer Thomas E. Sandegren of Tacoma, Wash., were catapulted from the cabin and tossed into the snow, 20 feet ahead of the severed nose of the plane.

A pack train, moving cautiously along a twisting trail, brought the bodies to Salt Lake City.

Since 1934 three transport planes have crashed into the Wasatch mountains, all within close range of Salt Lake City and with a total death list, including yesterday's, of 37.

Believe Radio Beam Failed.

For United Air Lines, said Stanley O. Halberg, district traffic manager, the accident was the first involving fatality or injury in 500,000,000 passenger miles.

"It looks very much as if the accident was caused by a failure of the range or radio beam," said S. V. Hall of Oakland, United Air Lines vice president in charge of western operations.

Diphtheria in State Hits Highest Mark of the Year

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP).—Diphtheria climbed to its highest peak of the season last week when 18 new cases were reported, State Health Director Roland R. Cross said today. Dr. Cross said that altho no widespread epidemic is likely "local outbreaks in areas where immunization has been neglececed may appear from time to time during the next few months." Five of the new cases were in Marion county.

COMPARE ROMAN BUSINESS MEN TO CHICAGO LEADERS

The business men who sat down yesterday in the Hotel Sherman to discuss the election and problems of trade and industry at Rotary Club luncheon tables were told that they might have been, but for costume and menu, the lords of commerce in Rome in the time of the Caesars. The Chicago merchant would have found in the ancient Roman his match, or his better, in acumen and cleverness; his counterpart in aims and ambitions, and also in virtues and vices.

The parallel was amusingly amplified by Dr. Will Durant, in a lecture interpreting this "most crucial period in the world's history" in the light of the ages.

History shows, Dr. Durant said, that all forms of government have been good and all could be bad. The democracies have given the strongest stimulus to creative thought, scientific development and philosophy, but he warned incompetence, corruption, extravagance, debasement of arts, standards and manners more readily subject them to decline.

"No great nation," Dr. Durant said, "has ever fallen before conquerors from without that has not already effected its destruction by its own internal decay. Dictatorships arise when a people, weary of internal chaos, become willing to exchange even their freedom for a restoration of order; they decline as order and security grow."

California Sun Festival Opens with Fall Fiestas

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5 [Special].—Hailed as a cure for war jitters, southern California's all winter sun festival opened last Friday with Mexican fiestas along the border, autumn flower shows, and a benefit opening of the late Will Rogers' ranch home in the movie colony.

Visits Polls in Ambulance and Votes from His Cot

LAKE SAILORS ON 14 VESSELS VOTE DOWN ANY UNION

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Sailors of 14 Great Lakes freighters rejected all union representation and another crew chose the C. I. O. National Maritime union in an 18 day election conducted in four Great Lakes ports. Of 337 sailors on 12 ships of the American Steamship company, Buffalo, 168 voted for no union to 150 for the National Maritime union. Seamen of the two ships of the Bison Steamship company of Buffalo voted 29 to 8 against the union.

Reynaldo Luza

OPENS OUR EYES TO SOUTH AMERICA... EXCITING SOURCE OF FASHION INSPIRATION

"In one native South American costume," says fashion artist Reynaldo Luza, "lies the inspiration for a whole collection of modern clothes." Encouraged by Marshall Field's, Luza covered the Southern continent, collecting costumes, colors, designs... the fashions we've derived from them are altogether so new and wonderful there's been nothing like them since Paris collections.

Shocking, vital beauty of unexpected colors—pure Inca. Panoply of forms and decoration—bequeathed by the Conquest. After you see these South American fashions, you won't be able to go back to neutral tones with the same sense of sufficiency you had. You'll want the flourish of line these exuberant clothes bring you.

Harper's Bazaar sees so much for the future in Luza's trip, they devote four color pages in November to his sketches and the fashions Field's derives from them.

This is Chapter I in the Luza story. More later—accessories and resort fashions from this almost unlimited source—South America.

Ecuadorian women are very slim and straight. Over their narrow dresses they tie the anaco, a sort of half slip. Gold rayon sackcloth, with dark navy anaco. $125

ODD WAR FEARS CUT CANADA'S TOURIST TRADE

One Family's Submarine Suspicions Recalled.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 5 [Special].—Odd fears which prevented some Americans from visiting Canada this year were disclosed today by the dominion government travel bureau.

This case was cited as more or less typical: A tourist wishing to make the trip up the Saguenay river in Quebec province was convinced that submarines—nationality not stated—were lurking there. His wife was willing to take a chance on any of Canada's inland waterways, but the man was obsessed with the idea of danger. So the trip was called off.

Number of Visitors Drops.

American newspapers coöperated in dispelling these fears, but the myth persisted nevertheless. As a result, the bureau said, the number of visitors from "south of the border" in 1940 probably will show a drop of about 2,000,000 from the figures for 1939.

Early in the year it was estimated that the tourist industry would be worth $300,000,000 to the dominion this year. Now the intake promises to be not much more than $250,000,000. This will be a decrease of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 from last year's total.

The bureau has spent $353,000 on advertising in newspapers and magazines this year. American shareholders in Canadian companies were circularized when they received their dividend checks, with the circulars telling the facts about the lack of danger to travelers. Many of the recipients, it has been announced, returned the checks with instructions to turn the money over to the Red Cross or some other war relief organization.

Doors Won't Be Closed.

A. McD. McBain of the foreign exchange control board told a conference of federal and provincial tourist authorities that Canada has no intention of closing its doors to visitors from the United States.

"Since the government places such importance upon tourist traffic," he said, "it is not likely to make any restrictions which would prevent or limit the entrance of Americans."

McBain added that the tourist traffic was the only source of foreign exchange which, under the present circumstances, might be expected to expand.

Another ship bearing the same name, and launched several months ago, has been taken over by the navy department to help strengthen the naval auxiliary fleet.

Kindly give me a brief description of San Francisco's Chinatown.
W. C. McA.

The district, the largest Chinese settlement this side of the orient, occupies more than a dozen blocks in the downtown area. It presents a picture of jade and teak, temple and pagoda against a background of occidental skyscrapers. For the tourist, the hub of activity and sightseeing is Grant avenue, the central business street. The Tin How temple, oldest of its kind in America, is to be found in Waverly place. Other points of interest are the theaters, where week-long plays are presented by casts from China; the shops, and the telephone exchange. In the last named the switchboards are run by Chinese girls who speak five dialects and memorize the names of the 2,500 subscribers.

AWAIT EXPERT'S VERDICT ON CAVE MAN'S ETCHING

Indiana Explorers Think It Is Stone Age Link.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—Three amateur explorer-photographers of southern Indiana's limestone caves have a special reason for wanting the European war to come to an end in a hurry. They are awaiting a visit from Dr. Norbert Casteret, French archeologist.

The three—George F. Jackson, photographer; Bernhardt Brabender, engraver, and Richard Hughes, his assistant, all of Evansville—believe they have found, in heretofore unexplored caverns of Crawford and Harrison counties, evidences of a civilization older by thousands of years than that of the Mound Builders.

Last year the three started corresponding with the archeologist, who, by his discovery and study of the etchings on cavern walls in the French Pyrenees, won the name of a world authority on subterranean phenomena.

Visit Planned Last Year.

Dr. Casteret planned to come to Indiana in August, 1939. That was before the invasion of Poland by Nazi Germany. He was called up in the mobilization of the French army. For almost a year the Hoosiers heard nothing from him.

Recently Jackson received a letter asking him to assemble his material and photographic evidence and ship it to him for study until the day when war conditions will permit him to come to America.

The most spectacular discovery made by the Indiana explorers is what they call "Frog Face."

They squeezed thru forbidding looking sinks and deep pits in Crawford county's Wyandotte cave, six miles northeast of Leavenworth, to spot this carved image of a face, frog-like in its appearance.

The face is above the only true rock ledge in Wyandotte, on the low hanging ceiling where some unknown primitive sculptor might have sat on a pallet of skins and whacked out, with a flint knife and stone hammer, the fancied "sour-puss" of his enemy.

Thousands of years of weathering has deepened the sculptor's lines instead of obliterating them.

The blunt nosed visage is about 4⅓ feet wide and almost 8 feet tall. It is not unlike the prehistoric mask faces seen in the Grottoes de Marsoulas at Combarelles, France, which archeologists have labeled "sorcerer's masks."

The drawing, the explorers believe, might have served as a magical symbol. But even before discovering "Frog Face" they uncovered lime encrusted footprints, flint flakes, bone needles, and petrified animal bones.

Back to the Stone Age.

These, they believe, date back beyond the Indian period of a few hundred years ago. The face, they have an idea, dates back to the "Folsom man" of the stone age—15 to 25 thousand years ago.

This culture got the name of "Folsom man" because his arrow points were first dug up near Folsom, N. M. One was sticking in a bison skeleton which was identified with the last glacial period.

In Madison county, near Anderson, a Folsom man dropped one of his spear points—perhaps while chasing the woolly mammoth across Hoosier soil. This discovery has helped the Evansville explorers to form their theory that the cave artists who told their tribe's story in pictures belonged to the stone age.

GREENBERG VOTED LEAGUE'S MOST VALUABLE

NOTE TO IRISH: NAVY IS TOUGH, AND IT'S READY

Notre Dame to Face Power Aplenty.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—It's a rumor around the hotel in which these lines are being written that Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame has ordered the chef to fill his ice box with raw meat. Chef is to keep it raw till he feeds it to the Notre Dame football boys when they come here Friday morning to steam up for next Saturday's game with Navy in Baltimore.

We suggested to the chef that he garnish said raw meat with clippings from eastern newspapers, clippings in which eastern observers tell what they thought and think of the Irish performance against Army in New York last Saturday.

It's been just long enough since Saturday to convince our eastern pals that Army defeated Notre Dame in Yankee Stadium last Saturday. The score which indicated the Irish won, 7 to 0, on an eighty-one yard run by Steve Juzwik, virtually has been repudiated as a typographical error. Which is entirely pardonable, sectional loyalties being what they are, even tho Army and Notre Dame generally are considered national rather than sectional representatives.

East Pooh Poohs Irish.

Notre Dame, heading right back east after less than a week's absence from the Atlantic seaboard, currently is being described as "complacent, listless, and disorganized." The Irish team is referred to, scornfully, thru the use of quotation marks, as "Notre Dame's greatest team," and the "super, super Notre Dame team—the greatest since Rockne." The team has been called overrated by many who observed it.

With all this blasting going on it is a possibly happy circumstance for Notre Dame prestige that the Irish are coming back east right away to engage Uncle Sam's other big team, the Navy, conqueror of William and Mary, Cincinnati, Princeton, Drake, and Yale—a nonloser until last Saturday when, 100 miles from the Notre Dame-Army game, the Middies "outplayed" but lost to Penn, 20 to 0.

Navy Has Power.

We have talked to several gents who saw Penn beat Navy and all are of the opinion that Navy has an excellent chance to trim the Irish for the first time since the Midshipmen's last victory over the South Bend boys, 3 to 0, in 1936.

Says one of these observers, a Penn, not a Navy, partisan: "Navy has power by the shipload and, permitted proper time for coaching an instillation of more deception, would probably rank with Minnesota, Cornell, and Texas Aggies. However, there are more important sciences than football for Midshipmen nowadays.

"The Navy does love it rough and tough. And given one more hour a day at practice would cruise thru its schedule like a destroyer in high speed."

Busick Rated Highly.

The Penn players otherwise are quoted as saying that Navy's Bill Busick is "almost as good as Tom Harmon," which is high praise, in view of Penn's experience with Michigan's Tom on Oct. 26.

Paradoxical as it may seem to those familiar with Army and Navy rivalries, Army's strength against Notre Dame has cheered and stimulated the interest of Navy fans in the Baltimore Irish-Middie match. Navy's defeat by Penn has been forgotten in the excitement over the fact that Notre Dame didn't beat Army by a topheavy score. The Baltimore stadium will be packed Saturday, many attending with confidence that Navy will win a bonafide decision rather than a "moral victory."

And in closing, a confidential note to Coach Layden: "Dear Elmer: Your raw meat diet is a great idea. You won't let these easterners say again that the Notre Dame boys are complacent, listless, and disorganized, will you, Elmer?"

NAVY SPEEDS UP.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 5 [Special].—Anticipating the toughest kind of battle with Notre Dame in Baltimore on Saturday, Navy coaches today stepped up the practice sessions.

The program included a scrimmage with two teams alternating against shock troops of squad "B" which employed Irish plays as worked out by scouts.

The Middies appear to have sufficient defensive power to stop Notre Dame's speedy backs so that the chief concern now is correcting errors of judgment, polishing off rough spots in the passing attack, and improving down field blocking which brought about Navy's downfall at the hands of Pennsylvania last Saturday.

Johnny Harrell, powerful blocking quarter back who has been hurt, participated in the day's work, but Ken Steen, and William Maxson regular left tackle and end, while in uniform, confined activities to limbering up work to aid ailing ankles.

Every one of the 62,315 seats in the Baltimore Municipal stadium will be filled for the Navy-Notre Dame football game Saturday, academy officials predicted.

Action Ahead When Big Nine Giants Meet!

When Michigan travels to Minnesota Saturday for the battle which may decide the Western conference football title, the Wolverines will be fortified by the return of Dave Nelson, right half. Nelson suffered a leg injury in the Pennsylvania game, but returned to work this week for the Gophers.

Michigan fans also are pleased that Capt. Forest Evashevski (upper photo) is available. Physicians have postponed a proposed operation for Evashevski and he will be operating at his quarter back post against Minnesota. Two reasons why the Gopher line is tough are presented in its senior guards (lower photo), George Pashchka (left) and Bill Kuusisto.

GOPHERS EXPECT 64,000 TO SEE MICHIGAN GAME

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5 [Special].—Minnesota's largest football crowd, fully 64,000, is assured for Saturday's game with Michigan.

Only 3,000 seats were available for sale today and they may be gone tomorrow. Monday and Tuesday brought the biggest ticket rush Minnesota has ever known the week of a game.

Iowa drew slightly less than 63,000 for homecoming two weeks ago, and the Notre Dame game in 1937 holds the all-time record here with 63,300.

Because election made it a holiday for the students, Coach Bernie Bierman got in some extra work with his athletes. He held a chalk talk on Michigan's offensive maneuvers before going on a field wet from a hard rain last night.

SUKUP IN HOSPITAL.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special].—Coach Fritz Crisler is thankful he has husky Bob Kolesar, the sophomore 198 pound guard of proved ability. Milo Sukup still is in the hospital following symptoms of concussion.

Kolesar appears to have inherited the regular right guard position for the Minnesota game at least. The only other sophomores who will start against the Gophers is Tackle Al Wistert.

Crisler emphasized passing in today's practice, as he worked his team on both the offensive and defensive aspects of the aerial game. The team has two more days of drill here. It will leave for Minnesota Thursday night.

PASKVAN RETURNS TO ACTION.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Acting Captain George Paskvan was back at his regular full back position today as the Wisconsin first and second teams took a brisk defensive scrimmage with the freshmen, who used Columbia plays, in preparation for the Badgers' invasion of New York Saturday.

Paskvan played a short time in the Illinois game because of a recurrence of an ankle injury, but he is expected to be in top shape for Columbia. A light offensive scrimmage is scheduled for tomorrow. The squad will leave for the east Thursday and work out Friday afternoon in Asbury Park, N. J.

Rookies Take Spotlight in Hawk Opener

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Blackhawks are not the only members of the National Hockey league who have adopted the youth theme for their 1940-'41 fight for the Stanley cup. Hawk constituents will discover this tomorrow evening when the New York Americans skate onto the Chicago Stadium ice to help the Chicagoans open the season in these parts.

Gone from the visitors' playing roster will be such famed names as Nels Stewart, Johnny Gagnon, Doc Romnes, Eddie Shore, and Art Chapman. In their places will be five kids, who until this year's training drills had played only amateur or junior hockey, and one gent up from the minor leagues. Thus it is that Manager Red Dutton joins other league pilots in adding younger talent to his staff. The Montreal Canadiens, the Toronto Maple Leafs, and the Detroit Red Wings are other clubs whose pay rolls include boys who never before had played for cash.

Les Patrick Started It.

Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers is generally credited with this system of developing fresh material thru his three R's—the New York Rovers, the Philadelphia Ramblers, and the New York Rangers, altho Manager Paul Thompson and President Bill Tobin of the Blackhawks could step in for a bow, particularly on their work of last year, when they brought up such young stars as Doug Bentley, the Carse brothers, George Allen, and Johnny Chad.

The Americans lost their first game to the Red Wings Sunday night by a 4 to 2 margin, but those two goals were scored by John [Peanuts] O'Flaherty, one of Dutton's importations from the Toronto amateur ranks. Johnny plays a wing on a line with the veterans, Harvey Jackson and Buzz Boll. Another fellow who is destined for steady employment with the Americans is Defense Man Pete Slobodzian, late of the Brandon, Man., juniors.

And Still More Youngsters.

The other newcomers, all ex-amateurs, are Billy Benson of the Winnipeg Monarchs, Roy [Bus] Wycherley of the Brandon Elks, and Norm Larson, 20 year old right wing from Moosejaw, Sask. Benson and Wycherley were scheduled to play on a line with Squee Allen, brother of George, but an injury to Allen in practice may have terminated his career.

Just to balance this array of juvenile strength, Dutton is still retaining such ancients as 35 year old Hooley Smith, who is sometimes suspected of having invented the game, and Johnny Sorrell, another old hand. With them are such proven performers as Murray Armstrong, Tommy Anderson, Lorne Carr, and Goalie Earl Robertson. Stewart, Gagnon, and Romnes have quit hockey; Chapman has left the playing side of the game to become one of the Americans' coaches, and Shore has abandoned big league hockey to concentrate on the Springfield, Mass., club, of which he is a part owner.

Lions Release 6 in Shakeup After 24 to 0 Beating

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special].—A drastic shakeup of the Detroit Lions football team on the eve of its important game with the Chicago Bears was presaged today by the release of six players, following the Lions' defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Rams Sunday.

Five linemen and a back were cut loose this morning and when news of the action leaked out thru acquaintances of the players, Coach Potsy Clark said other dismissals may follow.

Those released were Bill Rogers, veteran guard; Jack Morlock, rookie half back from Marshall college; Bob Winslow, rookie end from Southern California; Harry Speelman, tackle; Steve Maronic, North Carolina tackle, and Glenn Morris, Colorado State college end, the Hollywood movie star, who also is a former decathlon champion.

ILLINI'S BIGGEST JOB; STOPPING MR. HAHNENSTEIN

Northwestern Back Ranks Third in Big 9.

Bob Zuppke's skill in devising a defense for any and all occasions again will be tested when Illinois invades Dyche stadium Saturday for its annual encounter with Northwestern's Wildcats.

While the Wildcats possess several backs who figure to give the Illini some anxious moments the most dangerous of the lot is Ollie [Red] Hahnenstein, who emerged as Northwestern's leading ground gainer off his showing against Minnesota last Saturday.

The sorrel topped veteran, who has been a strong cog in the Wildcat attack since his sophomore year in 1938, had one of his biggest afternoons against the Gophers when he carried the ball 17 times for a gain of 85 yards.

Hahnenstein's running and passing has moved him to the front as one of the three offensive stars in the Western conference. He has completed 4 out of 11 passes for 126 yards to rank third in passing. In three conference games he has gained 160 yards from rushing in 33 attempts for an average of 4.8.

Recovers from Leg Injury.

The Aurora flash appears to be well on the way to duplicating his sophomore performance when he ranked as one of the conference's leading backs. That season he carried the ball 65 times and gained 405 yards to compile a 6.2 yards average per carry. A leg injury slowed him up last season, but not enough to prevent him from gaining 236 yards in 62 attempts for a 3.8 yards average.

Ollie completed passes to Tuffy Chambers and Al Butherus to set the stage for two of the Wildcats' three touchdowns against Indiana two weeks ago. Last Saturday his 43 yard pass to Chambers scored Northwestern's first touchdown against Minnesota.

ILLINI TEST N. U. PLAYS.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 5 [Special].—How to strengthen the Illinois defense against the onslaughts of Red Hahnenstein, Bill De Correvont, Don Clawson, George Benson, and other members of the Northwestern back field was the main problem for Coach Bob Zuppke as he mustered his battered forces today.

The Illini well remember the brilliant performances of Hahnenstein three years ago when he led the Wildcats' ball carriers with an average of six and two-tenths yards per attempt. They also recall the seventy-four yard sprint of Paul Soper in Evanston last year.

Don Griffin, Dick Tumility, Walt Correll, Roy Hoppe, and Tony Butkovich impersonated the Wildcat backs as the freshmen attacked the varsity with Northwestern plays. Announcement by George Rettinger that he was unable to regain condition and had turned in his suit deprived the Illini of a veteran half back. Zuppke transferred Cliff Peterson to right half back to understudy Liz Astroth.

HARRIDGE ADDS TWO UMPIRES TO STAFF FOR 1941

There'll be two new voices in the American league's umpire chorus next spring. President Will Harridge announced yesterday that the circuit had taken on Ernest D. Stewart from the American Association and Art Passarella from the Texas league. Stewart was purchased on an option basis, but the promotion of Passarella was an outright sale.

Both Stewart and Passarella will be assigned to serve with American league clubs during the spring training junkets, their retention depending on the class of work they turn out during the exhibitions. If one or both fail to impress they'll be farmed out for more seasoning.

With the additions Harridge now has 15 members, two over the staff of last season. Nothing has been said about releases, but there have been reports that Lou Kolls will not be reëngaged.

A Parade Passed By.

A parade passed by in a little town
And folks came flocking from miles around,
And patiently stood in the burning sun
Waiting until the march was begun;
And they strained their eyes up the sun baked street,
And they strained their ears for the tramp of feet—
They'd seen it many a time before,
But they waited and watched, as they had of yore.

The parade passed by in this little town,
Then the people scattered—some up, some down;
There was nothing much different—a band, a float,
And a drum major sleek in a shiny coat;
But they waited and watched, then drifted away;
"Better than last year," you heard some say,
And in half an hour the sun steeped street
Was bare and empty of marching feet.

And thus does the parade of life pass by—
An endless pageant which you and I
Wait and watch for from day to day
With the hope something will come our way;
But the parade comes by—it's much as of yore—
A band, a float, and not much more—
And the Street of Life all suddenly then
Is empty of marching feet again!

The Call of the Range.

I have played my part in the bustling mart,
Where the restless thousands dwell.

But I cease my quest in the great unrest
For the call of the range again.

I have taken heed of the lust and greed,
Where the masters wrest the spoil.
I have spent my time 'mid the din and grime,
In the ranks where the minions toil.
And I loathe the glare and the strife and care,
And the surge of the human sea.
So I've slung my pack and I'm going back
Where the range is a-calling me.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Hank Greenberg.

Hank Greenberg, the lanky gentleman who closed out his business at first base last spring and opened a new place in the Detroit Tigers' outfield, has been adjudged the American league's most valuable player during the 1940 campaign. It makes the second time he has been recognized with the award in six years by a committee of big league base ball writers.

Hank handled transactions at first base for seven years, then volunteered to go to the outfield last spring so that the valuable bat of Rudy York, as well as his own, could be kept in the lineup. As a fly chaser and catcher, York hadn't proved satisfactory.

Even tho operating in strange territory and in the face of predictions that he would be a failure, Greenberg not only kept up his share of the defense, but assisted materially in the Tigers' pennant success by topping the league in homers and runs driven in.

16 of 24 Vote for Greenberg.

Greenberg, 29 years old, received a total of 292 points from the committee made up of three writers in each American league city. Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' pitching wizard, was awarded 222 points for second place, a total indicating that some of the writers considered "valuable" as including team spirit. Altho Feller accomplished 27 victories he was thought to be one of the leaders in the revolutionary movement which broke out last June and was climaxed recently by the discharge of Manager Oscar Vitt.

Greenberg, whose homers totaled 41 and who belted 150 runs across the plate, received first place votes of 14 points each from 16 of the 24 committeemen, seven second place votes of 9 points each, and one sixth place vote of six points. Feller drew six first place tabulations. The two other 14 point awards went to Buck Newsom of the Tiger pitching staff and Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland shortstop.

Joe DiMaggio Is Third.

Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee star who won the most valuable award in 1939 and who was the 1940 league batting champion, tumbled to third place with 151 points. Newsom was fourth with 120, and Boudreau fifth with 119. Jimmy Foxx, three time winner of the honor, drew 110 points.

Schoolboy Rowe of Detroit rated seventh with 62 points, followed by his teammate, Rudy York, 61; Ray Radcliff, St. Louis, 55; Luke Appling, Chicago, 54; Roy Weatherly, Cleveland, 34; Dick Bartell, Detroit, 26; Joe Kuhel, Chicago, 18; Sid Hudson, Washington, and Ted Williams, Boston, 16 each; Barney McCosky, Detroit, 11; Ernie Bonham, New York, 8; and Walt Judnich, St. Louis, 6.

Johnny Babich, Philadelphia, got five votes; Mike Tresh, Chicago; Frank Hayes, Philadelphia, and Ray Mack, Cleveland, four each; Joe Gordon, New York; Cecil Travis, Washington; Bob Kennedy, Chicago, and Charles Gehringer, Detroit, three each; Rollie Hemsley, Cleveland, and Ted Lyons, Chicago, two each; and Lou Finney, Boston, and Elden Auker, St. Louis, one each.

These Were the Selectors.

The committee which made the selection was headed by Sid Mercer of New York, president of the association, and consisted of Burt Whitman, Joseph Cashman, and Harold Kaese, Boston; Irving Vaughan, John Hoffman, and John Casmichael, Chicago; Gordon Cobbledick, Edward McAuley, and Frank Gibbons, Cleveland; H. G. Salsinger, Leo MacDonnell, and Charles Ward, Detroit; James Dawson, Charles Segar, and Jack Smith, Philadelphia; Sid Keener, Martin J. Haley, and J. G. Taylor Spink, St. Louis; and Frank O'Neill, Francis Stan, and Robert Ruark, Washington.

AUSTIN MEETS SCHURZ AND THEN FENGER (MAYBE)

Must Win Saturday to Get Chance at Champions.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Bill Heiland.

It's just like a second rate heavyweight fighter qualifying to meet Joe Louis, but Austin High school's football team opposes Schurz in Mills stadium Saturday afternoon for the west division title of the Public School league. If Austin wins, its reward will be a meeting with Fenger, ruler of the south section for five years, which has marched thru 34 games without defeat.

"Those Fenger boys have shoulders like barn doors and legs like tree trunks," says Bill Heiland, Austin coach. "Bob Koehler has another good team at Schurz. We may get by that one. But Fenger the following Saturday in the semi-finals! Do you have an aspirin tablet handy?"

Noted Alumnus Looks In.

All has not been too well on the west side this fall. Alumnus Bill DeCorrevont encouraged the squad with a few visits at the Austin practice field early in the season and there were hopes that Austin would win its fifth consecutive western championship. There was a bit of gloom following the defeat at the hands of Oak Park, but optimistic views again were heard when Austin won its first two league contests.

A tie with Crane Tech followed. Marty O'Keefe, regular quarter back, suffered a broken arm for another setback. Last week Pete Maggos, brilliant full back and the team's touchdown specialist, incurred a torn ligament in his left leg in a scrimmage against St. Mel. Even Line Coach Bill Novak was affected, holding No. 158 in the draft lottery.

Simmons and Pihos Star.

Despite these reverses, Austin is on top in the west division with five victories and one tie. Obern [Podge] Simmons revealed last Saturday against McKinley that he possessed talent to ably replace the ailing Maggos. Pete Pihos, regular left end, was moved to quarter back, and his blocking has played an important part in Austin's drive.

There are several members of the squad eager to face Schurz again. They remember the semi-final game a year ago when Schurz, then north section representative, blasted Austin's championship hopes. Schurz has another good record in league competition, winning four, losing one, and playing one tie. Crane Tech, which meets Foreman Saturday, also can figure in the title consideration, winning four and engaging in two ties. However, these statistics mean little to Coach Heiland. He was more interested in reading the figures concerning Fenger.

"Whew, look at Fenger's record," he muttered. "The highest scoring prep team in the state, 334 points in eight games. Whew, where are those aspirin tablets?"

WHO ARE THOSE PACKERS? CARDS ASK CONZELMAN

Promise Victory Sunday in Comiskey Park.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Chicago Cardinals gathered around Coach Jimmy Conzelman yesterday and gave him a lecture. There was nothing about the Green Bay Packers, they said, that made it impossible for them to finish their season with a perfect home record. In fact, after scouting the Packers against the Bears, the Cardinals can see no reason why they should not win their third straight in Comiskey park when the Packers come back to town Sunday.

Victory will make their season an unqualified success. It will give the young and undermanned Cardinals an even break with Green Bay, Cleveland, and the Bears [provided they don't whip the Bears again and sweep the series]. This is a better record than a Cardinal team has compiled in many autumns.

The Cardinals' hopes of adding the Packers to their list of Comiskey park victims, along with the Bears and Cleveland, the only other teams they have played in their new home, were buoyed yesterday with the announcement that Motts Tonelli, the former Notre Dame star, would be ready to take his place in the back field again. Tony Blazine, veteran tackle, will be available for the game.

The Bears, escaping the bruising Green Bay game without an injury worth while mentioning, got down to work yesterday for their invasion of Detroit this week. The first order of business was a victory parade in which Bobby Swisher was hoisted to the shoulders of his teammates and roundly cheered for saving the game with his superb pass defense. Afterwards, just to keep his ego within bounds, little Bobby was pitched under an ice cold shower, overcoat, hat, new suit, and all.

Milt Trost, former Marquette and Chicago Bear tackle, has been released by the Philadelphia Eagles, along with Half Back Johnny Cole and Guard Bill Hughes. "We felt the boys just weren't playing as well as they could," said Owner Bert Bell in announcing the dismissals.

After John McLaughry, full back and son of the Brown university coach, fractured his nose in the Brooklyn game Sunday for the fifth time, he turned to Coach Steve Owen of the New York Giants and said: "Well, from now on I'll look just like my old man."

Purdue Shuns Contact Work, Checks Timing

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—A careful review of offensive and defensive assignments in dummy scrimmage comprised the main part of Purdue's preparation today for the rubber game in the intersectional series with Fordham in New York Saturday.

Wary of contact work, due to the bumps and bruises accumulated in the Iowa game, Coach Mal Elward concentrated on timing in both running and aerial plays, using the same interchangeable half back combinations that featured the play against Wisconsin and Iowa—John Galvin and Paul Anderson, and Marion Carter and Tony Berto. John Petty remained at full back, with the quarter back assignment still a tossup between Vincent Snyder, Bob Kersey, and Fred Smerke.

Torchy Peden, Yates Paired in Six Day Bike Race

Torchy Peden, big Canadian, and Cecil Yates of the south side, will ride as a team in Chicago's 43d international six day bicycle race which starts in the Stadium Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Peden and Yates expect to beat the Nazi stars, Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel.

Peden is the world's greatest six day rider. He has won 36 six day races while Yates has won 11. Yates is one of the greatest sprinters in the game while Peden is without a peer in jamming. Kilian has won 31 six day grinds while Vopel has won 30.

Doug Peden, Torchy's brother, will be paired with Jerry Rodman of the west side, while Angello De Bacco, winner of the recent six day race in Montreal, will ride with Charley Bergna of Paterson, N. J. Gerard Debaets, champion of Belgium, and Fred Ottevaere of Detroit will be paired, to make up one of the strongest combinations in the race.

Rene Cyr and Andy McConnell of Montreal will make up the Canadian team in the race; Al Schelstrate, a newcomer of Delhi, Ont., will be paired with Jack Crowder of Buffalo and Charley Yaccino of Chicago will be paired with Ewald Wissel. Johnny Eiler will ride with Eddie Kuehn of Chicago while Bill Anderson of Cleveland will be paired with George Shipman of Brooklyn.

Last Physical Tests on at C. Y. O. Today

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Final physical examinations for Chicago district entrants in the 10th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament will be held this afternoon and evening in C. Y. O. center. The first tests will be conducted from 2 to 5 o'clock and the second from 7 to 9.

Johnny Karas, in charge during the hospitalization of Director Thomas O'Connell, has sent out 300 notices, warning recipients this is their last chance to register for the 1940 meet, which opens with south section competition in St. Sabina gymnasium tomorrow. These candidates bring the total registration up to 980. An additional 200 entered in the Joliet area will pass in review next week in Catholic High school there.

Appear Today, Or Else.

Failure to appear at either one of today's examinations in the C. Y. O. will result in disqualification, Karas said. Assistant clerks will include Jack Ballengee, 1939 C. Y. O. featherweight champion, who is unable to compete in the forthcoming meet because of a jaw injury; Harry Sparrow, strong challenger for the welterweight title vacated by William Goldsmith, and Jimmy Diamico, who has retired from the ring since winning a novice 126 pound championship.

Among the applicants appearing today will be Alvin Bevil and Andy Parks, featherweights; John Hickey and Emmet Jones, welterweights; Fred Reporto, novice bantamweight title holder last year, who is returning as an open division contender; Eddie O'Connell, this year's city Golden Gloves lightweight winner, and Martin Bazso, also a lightweight, who made a good showing in the 1939 novice class in 1939; Howard Barksdale, who lost a close decision to Savior Canadeo in the city Golden Gloves tournament in the Coliseum a few months ago, and Bud Ryan, last year's novice winner, who is back as an open fighter, middleweights; Hubert Hood, experienced light heavyweight, and Julius Urbick and Johnny Relles, heavyweights.

O'Connell Strong Contender.

O'Connell is a powerful contender for the 135 pound championship, as testified by his fine work in the Golden Gloves tournaments last spring. Eddie, who won a city title in the Coliseum, continued on in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium until stricken with intestinal influenza and forced out in the quarter-finals. Despite this hard luck O'Connell recovered in time to go into training with the intercity candidates. His showing in daily drills in the Illinois Athletic club so pleased Head Coach Johnny Behr that Eddie was picked for the team. He lost an unpopular decision to his New York foe.

Amateur Boxers to Meet Tonight on White City Card

An amateur boxing show will be held tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, and a professional wrestling card will be presented in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Windup principals on the White City program will be Torsten Ahlbeck, Senn High school football player, and Charley Johnson, Union park lightweight. They will meet for five rounds. There will be six other matches.

Jim McMillen and Karol Krauser will be opponents in the Fronton headliner. Ralph Garibaldi is paired with Rufus Jones, Rudy Kay with Kid Chapman, Jack [Bad Boy] Brown with Jack Moore, and Frankie Clemons with Dale Haddock. . . . Savior Canadeo, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves welterweight champion, will appear in an amateur contest this evening in Fond du Lac, Wis.

FORDHAM FROSH WIN.

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Fordham and New York university freshman football teams met in their annual election day game today with the first year Rams winning their seventh straight, 33 to 6, before a crowd of 6,500.

Two Year Old Champion? There Is None

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Nearly every important race track from Arlington Park to Pimlico has had its fling at attempting to establish a juvenile champion—and the net effect has been to plunge the situation into deeper and deeper confusion. From the time that Swain galloped home on top in the rich Arlington Futurity last July until Bold Irishman scored in last Saturday's Pimlico Futurity, there have been so many upsets that the 2 year olds will have to go into winter quarters without a real champion.

The Arlington Futurity was the beginning of a series of races for top flight juveniles that was continued at Washington Park, Saratoga, Narragansett, Belmont, Keeneland, and Pimlico. If ever a horse looked like a champion, Swain did as he swept up thru the Arlington stretch.

Champion for a Week.

In his next big stake engagement, the Washington Park Futurity, he was soundly beaten and Porter's Cap became the champion of the week.

Attention, Whirlaway, New World, Bushwhacker, Our Boots, and Bold Irishman took their brief turns at being the big horse. As each one would win an important stake, the fans would come to the conclusion that horse had been developing. But the next time out the champion of the week would be beaten and a new one would come up.

He Wins, but Loses, Too.

Whirlaway probably gave more good performances than his rivals, but he took plenty of beatings, too. If he had won his last start, the Pimlico Futurity, it is quite likely that he would have gained wide recognition as the best of his class.

The way in which the juvenile situation has been left up in the air will supply a vast fund of material for argument leading up to the Kentucky Derby.

"THE BEER"

"Old Time Beer Lovers Won't Drink a Beer That Has to Be Freezing Cold to Be Palatable Please Enjoy the Delicate All-Grain Fragrance in Our Brew."

COMPARE FLAVOR AT 50 DEGREES . . .
undisguised by Cold!

● Maybe I'm too fussy about serving beer at the right temperature. But ice-cold beer is wrong. There's no use our putting the finest grains in a brew just to have the flavor over-chilled so you can't recognize it. We might as well add sugars or syrups. We might as well add artificial gas when we bottle instead of using only natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

Beer flavor, good or bad, shows up at about 50 degrees. If you want to know what kind of beer you're drinking, drink it at 50 degrees. That means, take an ice-cold bottle out of the refrigerator and let it stand until it's the proper temperature.

Do that and you'll never again say, "Give me a bottle of Beer." You'll know it pays to ask for Meister Bräu. For 49 years we've made a beer for the 50-degree drinkers—the beer cranks. Order Meister Bräu today and I'll stake my reputation on your verdict if you make the "50-degrees" test.

Thousands have switched to MEISTER BRÄU after making this "50-degrees" Test

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other beer at average refrigerator temperature. Let stand until it's the proper temperature. Then open bottles and compare flavor.

Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

GATES M'GARRAH, FAMED BANKER, DIES IN NEW YORK

Started as a Clerk, Ended Up a World Figure.

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Gates W. McGarrah, 77 years old, of international banking fame, died in Doctors' hospital today after a short illness. He was stricken in his offices Thursday.

At the age of 28, McGarrah was the youngest bank president in the United States. For 30 years he was one of the country's leading bankers, climaxing his career as head of the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, Switzerland.

As president and chairman of the board of the world bank at Basel, McGarrah was a dominant figure in the tangled financial affairs of Europe.

Fought for Gold Standard.

His service with the international bank coincided with the severe economic depression of the 1930's and he strove valiantly to enable European and South American countries to maintain gold standard currencies.

Before he went abroad in 1930 he had been chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve bank of New York for three years and previously chairman of the executive committee of the Chase National bank.

Born at Monroe, N. Y., on July 29, 1863, McGarrah received a public school education and started his banking career as a clerk in the Goshen, N. Y., National bank. When he was 20 he went to New York City where he spent most of his business life.

Arriving in New York in 1883, he went to work in a teller's cage of the Produce Exchange National bank. Four years later he was named cashier of the Leather Manufacturers' National bank. In another four years he was elected president of this big New York institution.

Visited Offices Daily.

He remained with this bank and others with which it subsequently was merged, including the Case National bank, until he went to the Federal Reserve bank in 1927.

McGarrah retired in 1933, but maintained offices downtown at 57 William street, which he visited daily. His home was on Park avenue.

Surviving are his widow, the former Elizabeth Wallace of Goshen, whom he married Oct. 6, 1886, and two daughters, Mrs. Marion Helms of South Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Helen Watson of New York.

2 FILM PLAYERS TO JOIN IN W-G-N SHOW TOMORROW

The flavor of Hollywood will dominate tomorrow night's broadcast of the program In Chicago Tonight, which will be presented over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. "Meet the People," now playing in the Grand Opera House, got its start in Hollywood almost a year ago before beginning a trek eastward. The show will go on to New York from Chicago.

In tomorrow night's program Bernice Parks will sing the rhumba, "Say Si Si," Elizabeth Talbot-Martin will do impersonations, and Bob Davis and Sue Robin will present "A Fellow and a Girl." Others from the revue will be Jack Gilford, Jack Boyle, Faye McKenzie, and Marion Colby. Brown and Miss Whelan, who are appearing in the State-Lake theater, will introduce the musical numbers and present a dramatic sketch. William A. Bacher will direct the program.

BORG WARNER'S EARNINGS RISE AS TAXES SOAR

Levies Are Nearly Double Year Ago.

Despite increased federal taxes, the Borg-Warner corporation, with offices in Chicago, realized a substantial gain in net profits during the nine months ended Sept. 30 over the comparable period of 1939, G. W. Borg, chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

G. W. Borg.

Net income for the period totaled $4,125,231, equivalent to $1.765 a share of common stock, before any provision for excess profits taxes. This compared with earnings of $3,483,036, or $1.49 a share, for the first nine months of last year.

Taxes Nearly Double.

The report showed a deduction of $1,784,939 for federal and Canadian income taxes for the nine months' period, while last year these taxes totaled only $994,605. The company manufactures mechanism and parts for automobiles, refrigerators and other household equipment, and various other products.

The National City Lines, Inc., holding company of operators of bus lines mostly in the midwest, had a net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30 of $497,783, or $1.53 a share, compared with $361,102, or $1.15 a share, for the corresponding period in 1939.

Taxes More Than Double.

Federal income and excess profits taxes for the company jumped to $169,757 from $71,400 paid during the same period in 1939. These taxes in 1938 period were $45,900, officials said. The company has main offices in Chicago.

The Associates Investment company, a leading automobile finance concern, made a net profit of $2,237,145 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, E. M. Morris, president, announced. This compared with net earnings of $2,002,637 for the comparable period in 1939. Morris said that provisions for additional federal income taxes cut the increase in earnings.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S OCTOBER, 9 MONTHS SALES SET RECORDS

October and nine months' sales this year of Montgomery Ward & Co., second largest mail order and chain store organization in the country, were the highest in its history, it reported yesterday. The company's trade this year has consistently exceeded the previous peak levels set last year.

October sales were $56,937,141, an increase of 3.63 per cent over $54,944,556 in October, 1939. For nine months this year sales climbed 8.10 per cent to $387,050,748 from $358,050,867 in the corresponding period of 1939.

Improved purchasing power in cities, as a result of the pickup in many industries and rearmament business, was suggested by company officials to be one of the major causes of the larger sales.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hog prices spurted at the Chicago stockyards yesterday as farmers stayed home to vote. A large part of the small receipts sold early 15 to 25 cents higher. Later, when action slowed, 10 to 15 cents of the advance was lost. The top of $6.50, 25 cents above Monday, was paid early. Later similar kinds sold at $6.35. The average was up 15 cents to $6.25.

The scant supply of lambs sold briskly at the highest prices since Aug. 27. The $9.85 top was an advance of 25 cents.

Cattle offerings were the smallest since July 30. Best longfed steers met good demand at firm rates but most poorer classes were slow and about steady.

Short Supplies Force Sugar Plant to Close

Because of inadequate supplies of raw sugar and the need for making general repairs to plant machinery, the Industrial Sugars corporation will suspend operations next week at its refinery at 1010 Weed street until further notice, company officials said yesterday.

Richard Wagner explains plant shutdown.

Since August of 1939 the company has been supplying mostly liquid sugar for manufacturers of confections, candy, biscuits, ice cream, and sirups.

With a capitalization of $750,000, the company's plant is said to be the first cane sugar refinery to operate in Chicago. The Chicago corporation, an investment firm, has the effective control of the company thru an investment of $500,000 in preferred stock.

Richard Wagner, president of the Chicago corporation, said the company has been unable to make commitments for new supplies of raw Louisiana sugar. The company has been realizing a saving by buying sugar from plants along the Mississippi, rather than purchasing thru New Orleans, where much of the foreign supply is unloaded, he said.

Because of the shortage of supplies the company will be able to fill only three-eighths of present orders, Wagner said.

The internal revenue department recently filed a lien of approximately $50,000 against the sugar company for sugar processing taxes.

BARTLETT GOLF CLUB LEASED TO OIL WILDCATTERS

E. H. Glos, owner of the Bartlett Hills Golf club, which adjoins the town of Bartlett, on the west, announced yesterday that he had leased the 200 acres of the club grounds to out-of-state oil men on a one-eighth royalty basis.

"These wildcatters have leased 3,000 acres in and around Bartlett," Glos said. "We know there's oil here because a geologist said so. Part of it is in Cook county and some is over in Du Page county." He did not disclose names of persons who had leased the land.

A leading Chicago oil man discounted the reports by saying that it was a "thousand to one chance" on finding oil there.
